Experience, Belonging, Self Expression

When we stop to wonder
why we're here,
we find so many questions
within our minds.
Somedays we smile—
for we know we are here
to find friends,
to learn, to experience life,
to become people.
Here we are part of something;
not just beings, or faces.
We are unified—
we belong.
We can express
what we want—
we laugh, we sing,
and sometimes,
we just sit
and listen . . .

Reality Must Be Confronted

Somedays we are confused with all the commotion
of books, games, and parties.
Our minds become entangled with people and things.
We tend to forget others;
then we must stop
and reorganize ourselves.
Somedays we are depressed—
for the rain is dreary,
the classes are dull,
the spirit is low.
We wonder, who are we,
what are we looking for—
will we find it??

Clubs Diversify Student Activities

Clubs helps us to gain
the independence of making our own decisions;
to eventually acquire the talent of joining the best aspects of a variety of people
into one person.
A time for relaxation.
A time for involvement.
To discover talent.
To become a part of a group of people—
each reaching out to the other.
People, laughing, working,
playing, giving . . .
together.

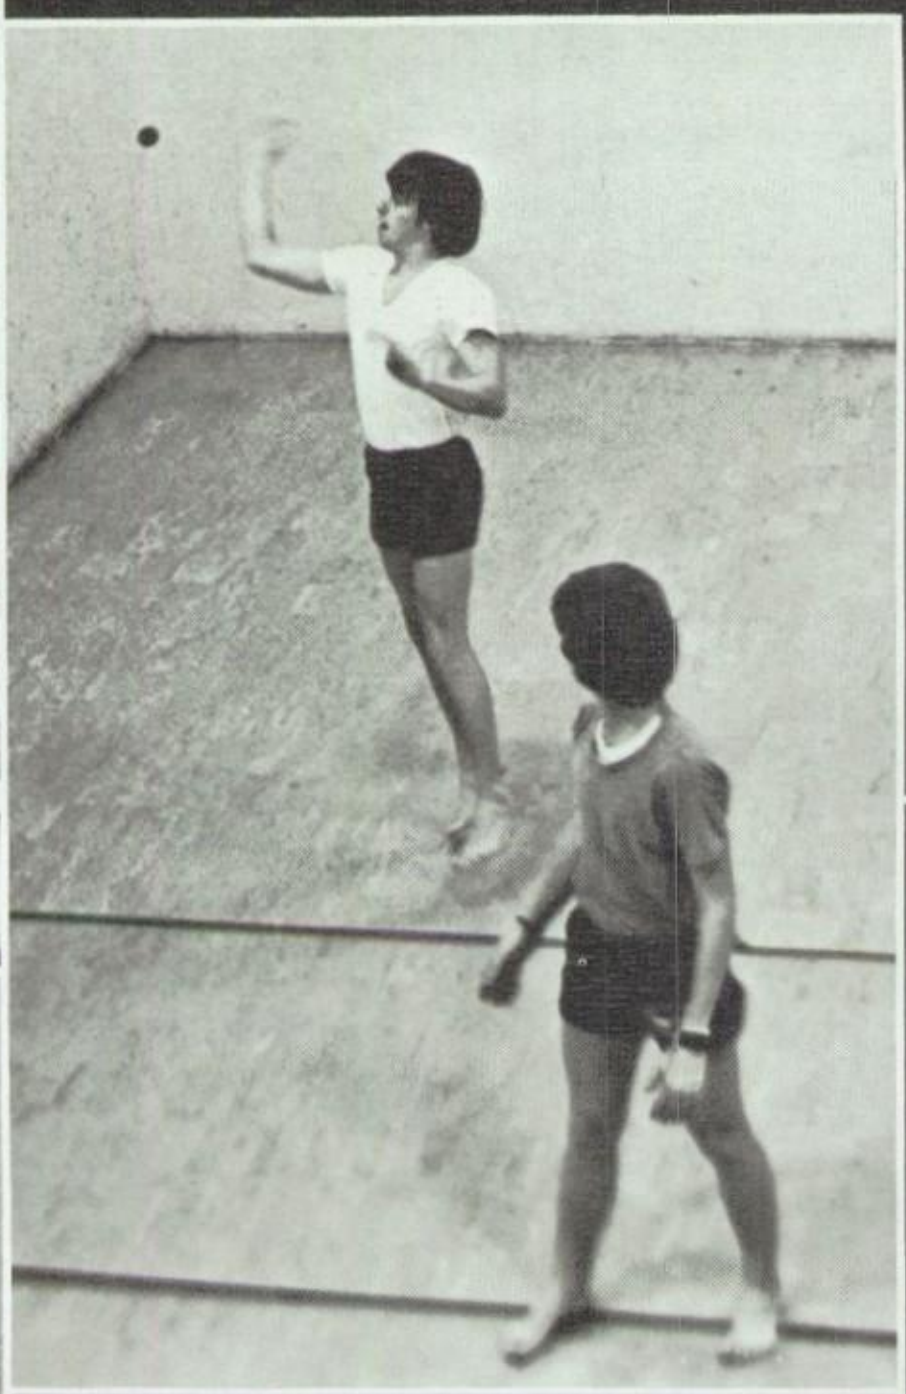
C.Y.O.Serves As Friendship Haven



Meeting new friends,
loving the old ones;
discussing, communicating,
laughing—a relaxation
from the pressures of school.
The C.Y.O.—
a place unique to the times and the people.
Friendships, fun, frivolity.
To relax, to drink, to sing,

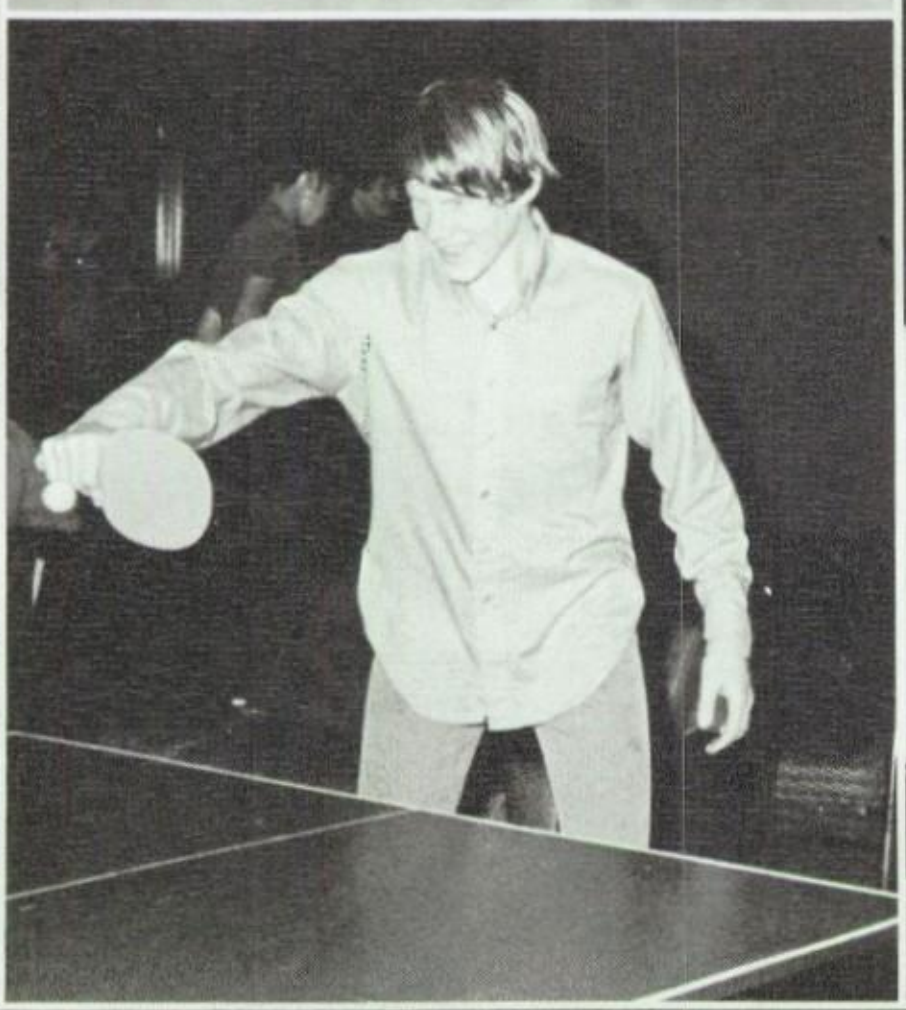
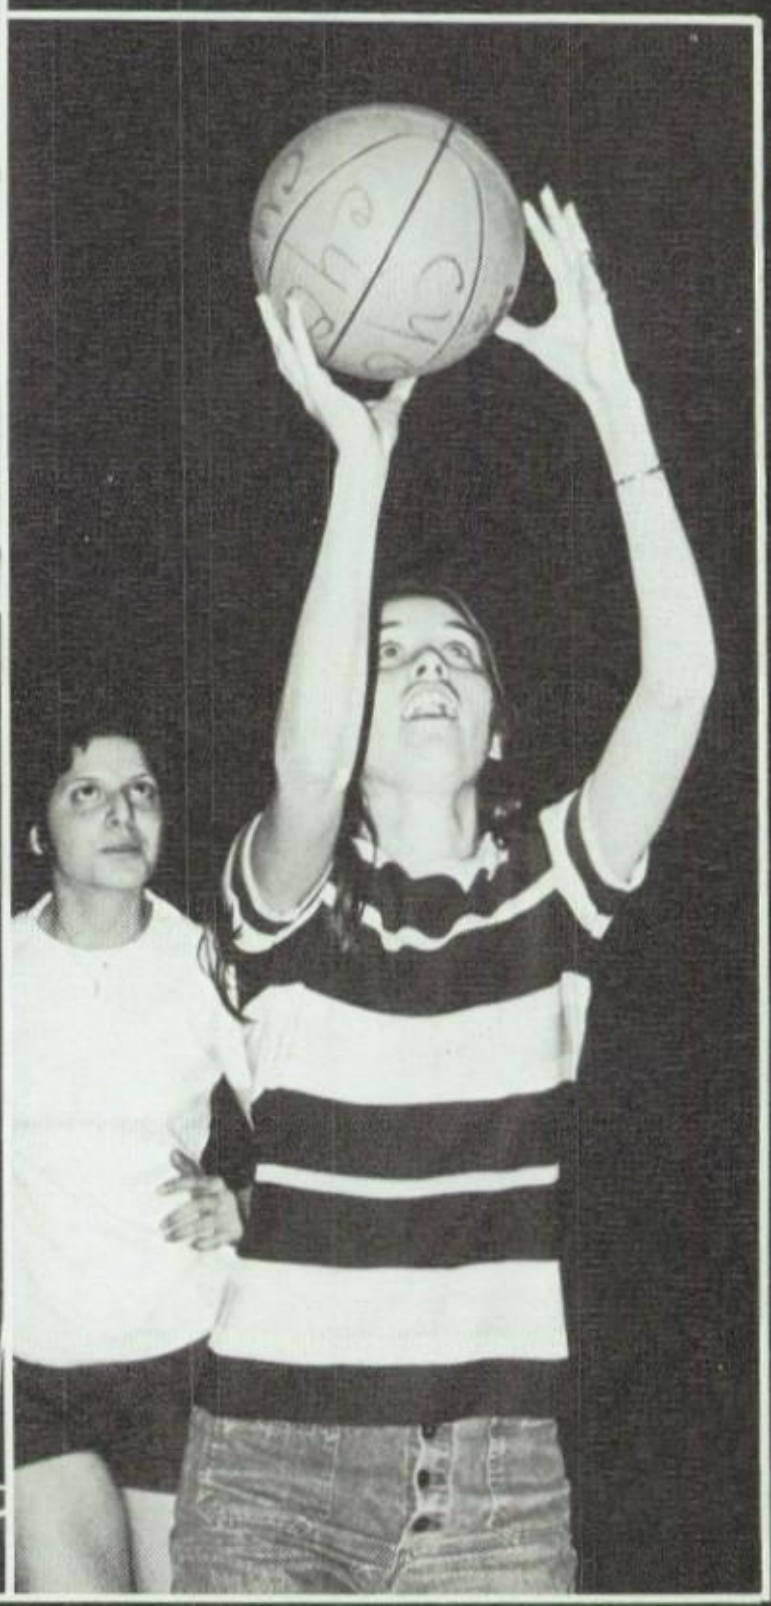
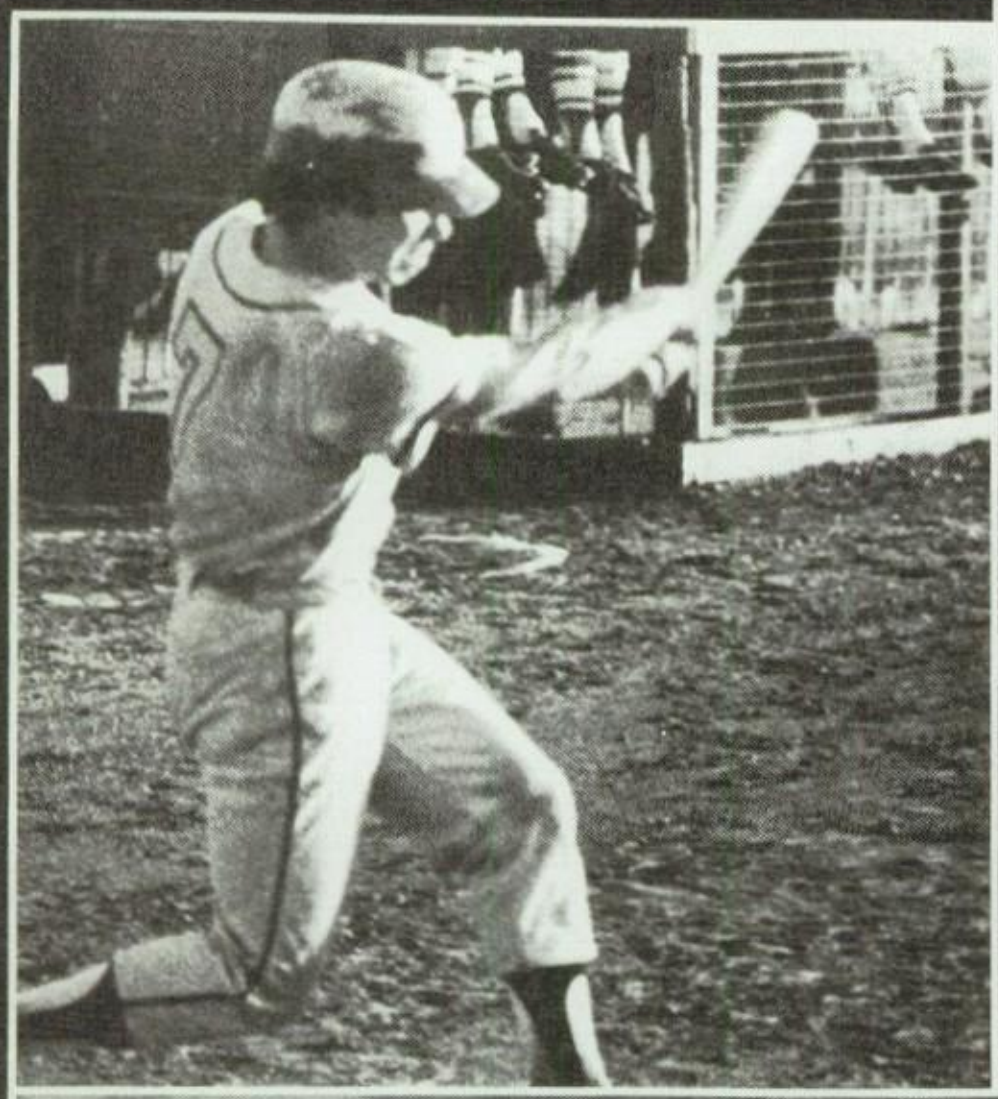
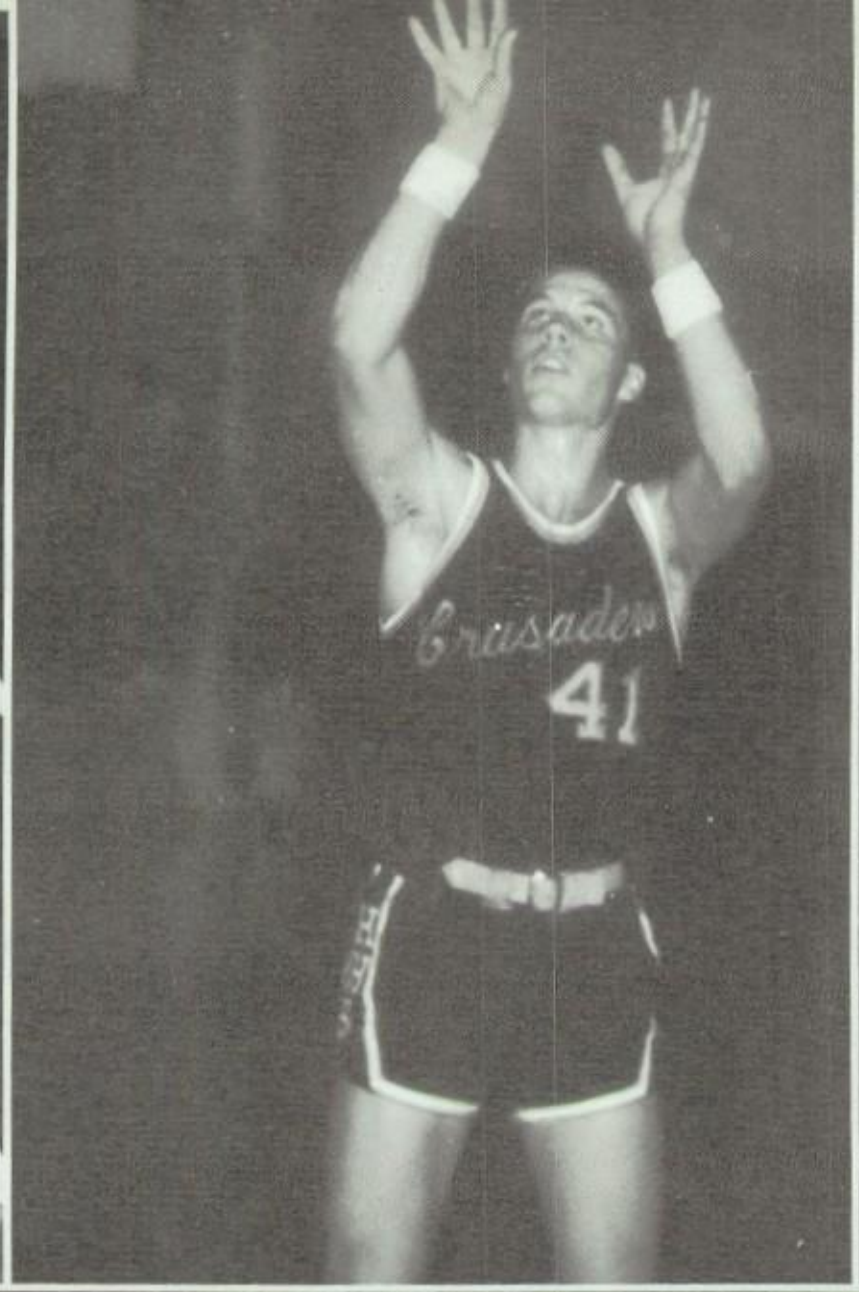
of pleasure.

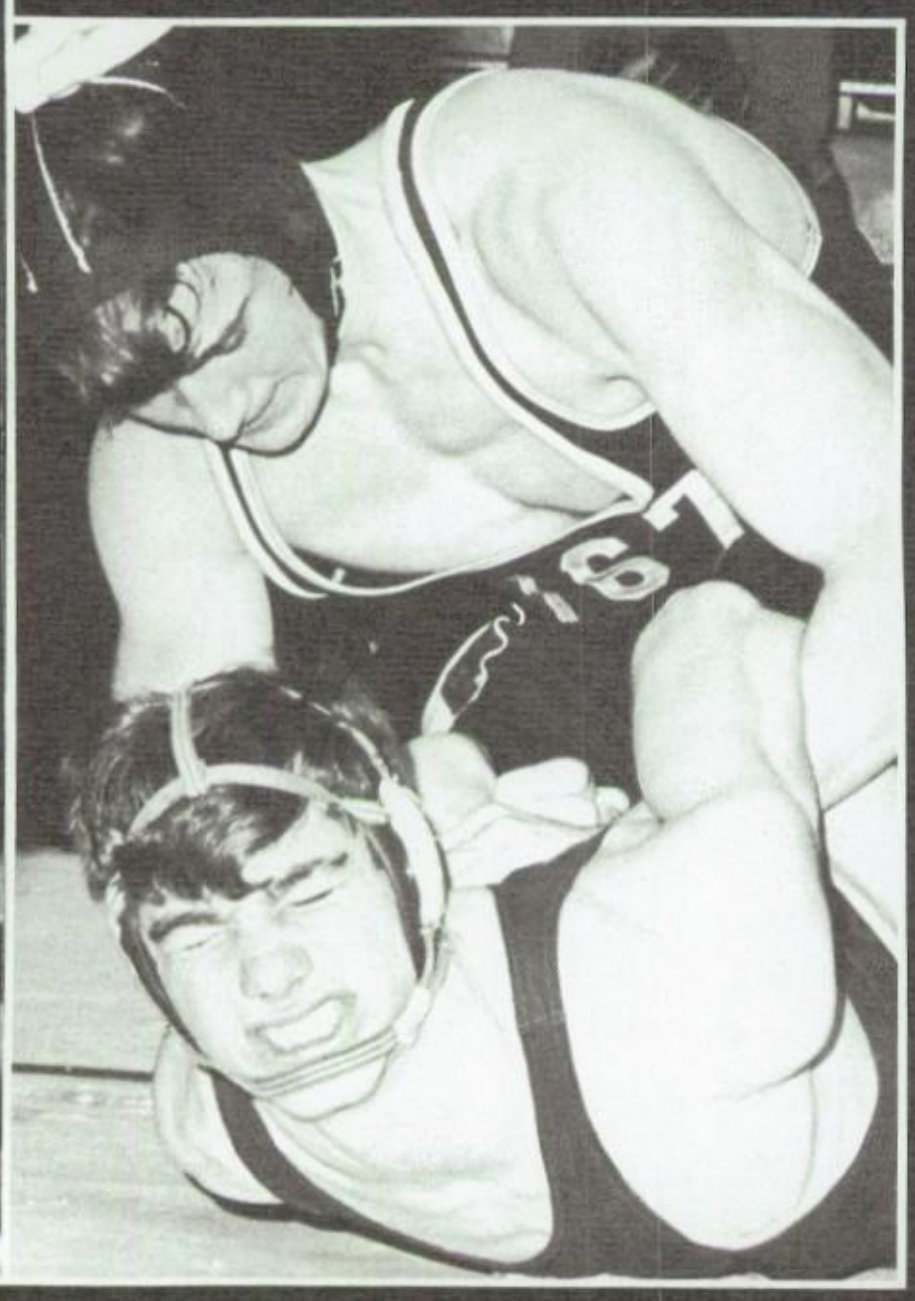








Athletics Accentuate Unity

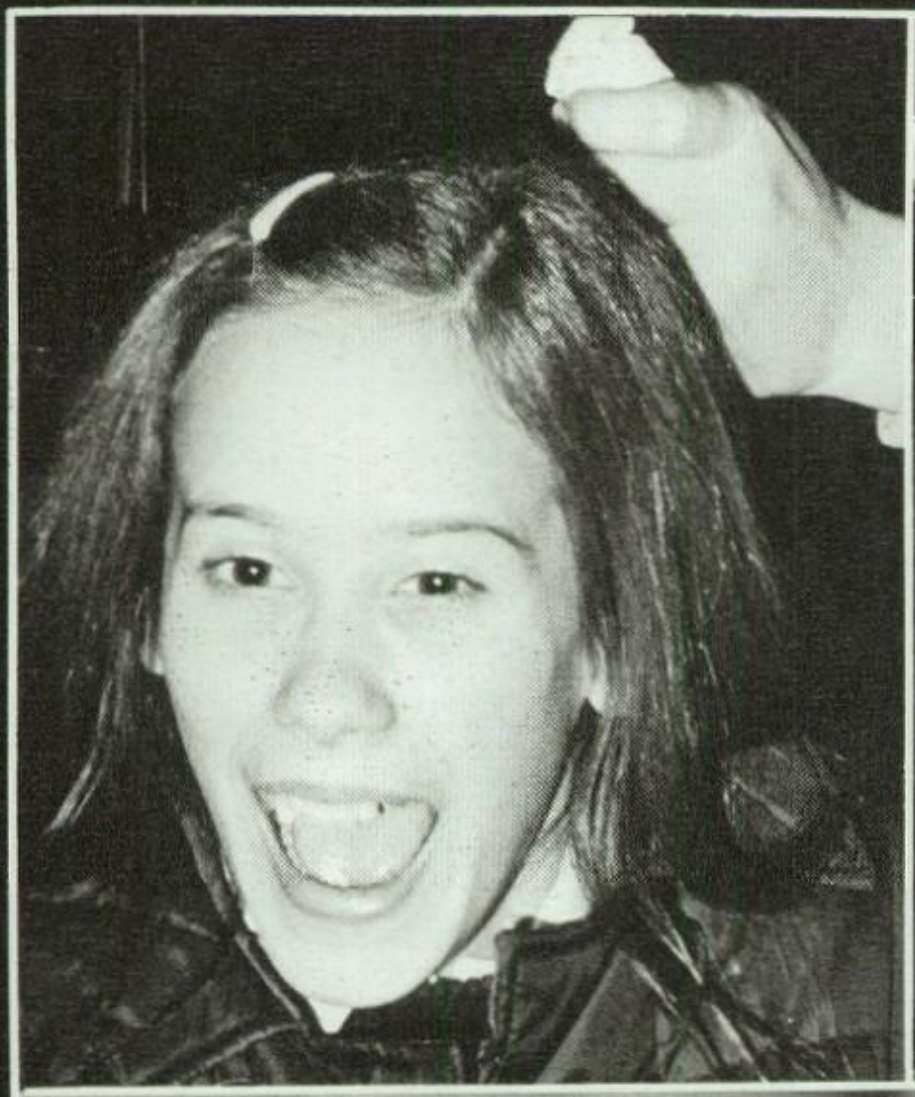


Mental achievement must have physical achievement to interrelate in a person—cross-country, football, basketball, wrestling, track, golf, tennis, baseball—adventures into physical fitness—exercise, practice, fun, participation—unity through a social activity.

Bus trips, Friday afternoon pep rallies; spirit rising to meet the occassion. Adding to the sense of unity.

Each victory adds more to the image of the fighting Crusaders; the close ones make the adventure into a feeling of pride.

Above all, the everpresent existence of pride for the number one school in our minds.



Other Schools Close; We Stand United

The not so happy days mixed with the happy ones;
educational development
added to fun;
clubs along with athletics—
all of these combined made Heelan High School THE place to "get it all together."
People, friendships, homecoming,
prom, athletic happenings, acedemic achievments, personal satisfactions, being number one,
the good times far overshadowing
the bad all add up to make the year 1971-1972
a truly memorable experience.
With the passing of Central,
Leeds and Riverside and the addition of three new high schools, we still remain
a truly united school.
We have fought hard in all
we have done.
We have fought with pride to overcome financial barriers in order to remain open.

Talents of Heelanites Infiltrate World of Branching out into civil and volunteer involvement, utilizing learned material and Christian principles instilled within an atmosphere of love and unity, our students have infiltrated into the outside world, striving to unite it also. Optimism of the future has replaced doubt as awareness and enlightenment of our generation's goals is exhibited through the young, their ambitions and their entanglement in the complexities of life.

Presented in the following pages of this section is basically the activities which dealt with and involved Heelan students. These "aware" people have extended their knowledge, not only intellectually through their studies, but socially through their participation in the paraphernalia of life's offerings; total; the active Crusaders.

Homecoming Spirit Ignited by Senior Powder Puff Victory Over Juniors in Fun-Filled Football Frolics

Sparking off the '71 Homecoming events was the 18-6 senior victory over the juniors in the annual Powder Puff game, held on September 19th.

Preparation for the game involved rigorous calisthenics and sprints and memorization of positions and plays. "Down ...hit!", "split-end reverse left ...center out ... split-end reverse left ... l e t' s GO!", and "kill, kill, blood makes the grass grow!" are just examples of the football jargon used by the spirited girls during practice. The seniors, situated in Leif Ericson Park and the juniors in Grandview Park were coached by willing football players who, at times, were more confused than the girls while running through plays.

The Sunday before Homecoming finally dawned as girls, decked out in helmets and old grubbies, swarmed onto Memorial Field - every girl out to smash the opponents. And that's exactly what they did. Referees Brendan Berchard and Michael McTaggart were kept busy calling numerous penalties for pulling hair, holding, piling, and taking too long in the huddle. But most came out of the game with only a bruise or a ripped shirt as they congratulated the winners, thanked the coaches, and walked proudly off the field - the seniors winning their last game and the juniors in hope of losing their last.

Yellow Mums, Booster Buttons, and Flamboyant Floats Create Enthusiasm

ABOVE: A mass of spirit buttons were sold this year - homeroom 108 won the spirit stick for selling the most buttons.

An annual activity sponsored by the Library club, the selling of mums, was a fantastic success this year.

Everyone and her mother was walking around proudly displaying the blue 'H' planted in the center of a huge yellow mum, pinned to their blouses or carried in their hands.

For those girls who were lucky enough to have their mums survive the long afternoon, they were donned that night for the game against Carroll Kuemper.

No Heelan Homecoming would be complete without those great morale boosters-not to mention conversation pieces-spirit buttons.

Any stranger ambling through the halls might think we were sponsoring a "Button, Button, Who's Got the Button" contest, (and in this case everyone did); but no, the buttons were simply part of the great spirit exhibited during Homecoming week. Everyone was wearing at least one, and even the freshmen caught on and became part of the action.

Unique sayings such as "Crusaders 'Can Can' the Knights!" " 'Boggie Woggie' Em," and "Crusaders Are 'Nowsville'" brought out our theme, Nostalgia, and effectively carried it through to the weekend.

Friday at the assembly, the spirit stick was awarded to senior homeroom 108 for the largest number of spirit button sales.

Constructed, stuffed, and spray-painted to create a Nostalgic air, the Homecoming floats portrayed various versions of the theme; from a black Model-T with the saying "The Crusaders are Untouchable", to an old-fashioned shoe entitled "Lace Up a Victory".

Work on the floats began two weeks before Homecoming and many were found participating; huge numbers showing up faithfully for the tedious job of stuffing hundreds of napkins into the chicken wire.

But alas, no strains were in vain. Friday found eight beautiful floats parading through downtown as spirited Sioux Cityans watched. Results of the judging during the parade found the senior float in first place with the sophomore float taking second.

BELOW: Jeff Berens and Dan Keefe buzz through the parade on a mini-bike.

Parade Passes By

Sunshine and spirit greeted Sioux Cityans as our Homecoming parade penetrated the downtown streets Friday afternoon.

A gay, carnival spirit moved along with the parade as floats, royalty, band, twirlers, Crusadettes, cheerleaders, pep club, FCA members, "ladies of the twenties", bicycle riders, and paper mache animals enhanced the Nostalgic atmosphere in a grand total of 44 entries.

Homecoming '71—Thanks for the Memories

The Homecoming royalty are: Sue West, Jane Sudbeck, Molly Manning, Terry Donohue, queen Connie Ehli and king Dan Sanem, Mark Wetz, Tom Shoberg, Jerry Tipler, and Krage Feste.

For seniors, it's the beginning of the end. For juniors and sophomores it's memories and more fun; for freshmen, a new experience.

Our spirit had just begun to grow, and, with the kick-off of the girl's Powder Puff game, so had our homecoming week. Nostalgia had been chosen by the student body to set the theme for the weekend.

As the week grew shorter and the days longer, spirit buttons, flirtations, candidates, and pep talks invaded the halls. As Friday dawned, yellow mum petals and near hysteria could be found within the walls of Heelan High.

King Dan and queen Connie left the brightly decorated gym amid tears, applause, and the sounds of "Walk Hand in Hand With Me", sung by the Mixed Chorus. Later that afternoon, infectious Heelan spirit spread through the streets of Sioux City as a cavalcade of decorated floats, convertibles, marching band, and students moved along our downtown's main thoroughfare.

That night on Memorial Field, the mighty Crusaders, with homecoming spirit still ringing in their ears, brought down their opponent, Carroll Kuemper with a smashing 23-6 victory. Saturday night, our not yet weary couples danced to the sounds of the "Beautiful People" as memories of another great Homecoming were again being formed.

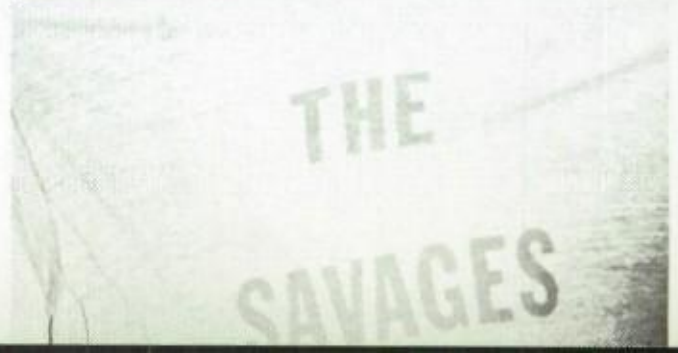
RIGHT: Coach Beanie Cooper gives his touchdown twins, Gene Mollet (13) and Dan Sanem (43), a few words of advice as they come off the field.

Homecoming Victory - A Nostalgic 23-6 Win

This special occasion brought with it a touch of victory, given to us through the services of our Coopermen by a score of 23-6 against Carroll Kuemper. The Crusaders fought with undiminishing pride and strength in this homecoming game as Eugene Mollet ran for two touchdowns and Pat Beck for one.

Halftime entertainment included routines by flag and baton twirlers, and members of the Crusadettes, accompanied by the band. During these performances, the floats were also featured as they were driven around the field for all spectators to see.

ABOVE: The Crusadettes warmly greet Bill Fox and the rest of the players as they run onto the field to wrap up a 23-6 victory after halftime. RIGHT: Dan Sanem grins in delight as he receives a "Savage" T-shirt; one of which was given to each Varsity football player after school Thursday to promote that good old savage spirit.



Dance Features "Beautiful People": Combo and Heelanites

ABOVE: Don Charleson rests during an intermission of the homecoming dance. The centerpiece next to him portrays the theme, Nostalgia, in the form of a Model-T.

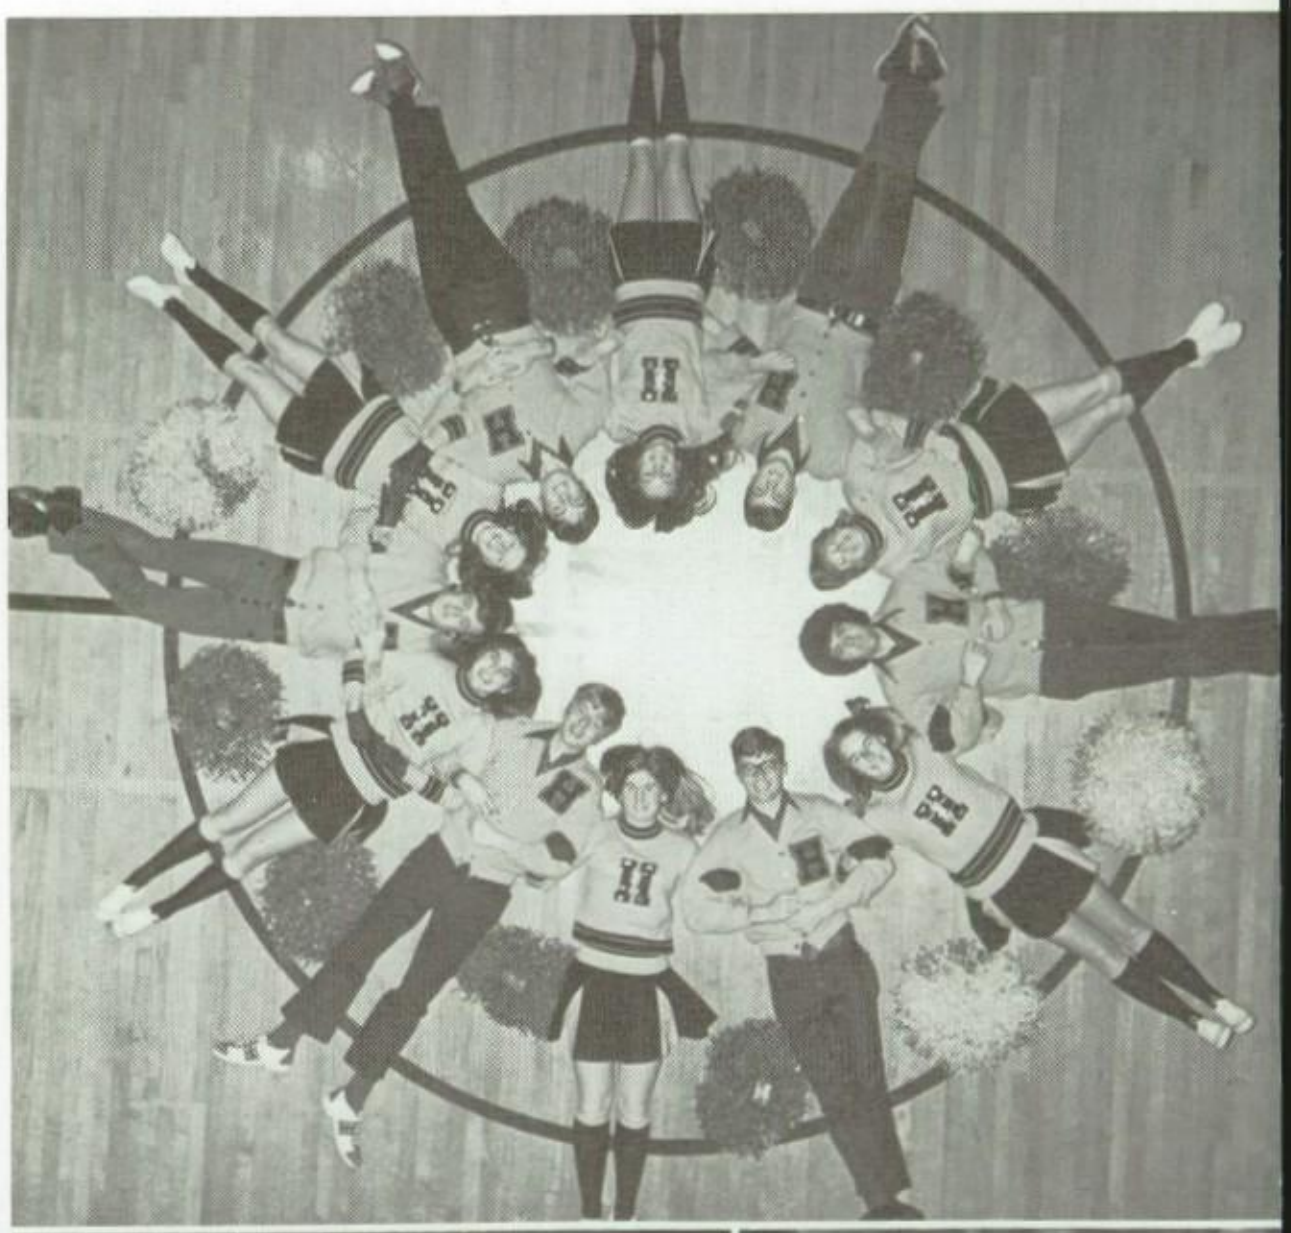
TOP: Crusaders dance rhythmically to the beat of the band, the "Beautiful People" while they entertained at the Morningside Commons. ABOVE: To end a fun evening and an unforgettable occasion, Dan Sanem and Connie Ehli lead couples around the dance floor in a royalty march.

Ending Homecoming 1971 on a note of inexpressable happiness, couples danced jubilantly to the music of the "Beautiful People" Saturday night. From 9-12, guys and their dates, dressed in colorful attire - females wearing everything from hot pants to crushed velvet maxis, and males garbed in everything from "cool, mod" suits to royal tuxedos - were entertained at the Morningside Commons. Among glittering lights, and tables decorated with gold tableclothes and Model-T centerpieces, Heelanites mingled, sipping grape drink during dance intravals. Highlighting the dance was a royalty march, with the king and queen leading couples around the dance floor, arm in arm.

Goodbye Homecoming '71 . . .
Thanks for the memories . . .

Gridiron Cheerleaders 'Pile-on' Pep

"Kicking off" to a lively start at the Heelan-St. Albert's game (41-8), the '71 football cheerleaders drove the Crusader crowd on to defeat every other crowd met during the season in cheering, whistling, and confetti and toilet-paper throwing. Led by captain, Terry Donohue, they spent the season in various other activities which complimented their cheerleading duties. These activities ranged from holding dinners for other cheerleading squads to decorating lockers for the players, helping the coaches, and organizing different events in conjunction with the pep club.



ABOVE RIGHT: The '71 football cheerleaders take time out to rest after cheering for a very successful season. Clockwise, they are: Tina Sitzman, Chuck Berger, Julie Blair, Mike Duffy, Sue West, Jerry Tipler, Shelly McCann, Brian Bauerly, Jenny Greer, Pat Tope, Terry Donohue, and Mark Wetz. RIGHT: Jenny Greer prepares to 'take off' as she cheers the Crusaders on. FAR RIGHT: A touchdown ... amidst toilet paper, confetti, and pom-poms, there is exhileration. BELOW: The football cheerleaders jump for joy, exhibiting their mighty, mighty spirit.

Rah, Rah, and All That Jazz B-Ball Cheerleaders Have Pahzaz!

Satisfied . . . really satisfied . . . Yeh!

Satisfied with ample victories, let's give the cheerleaders a hand for they have led us in many an animated cheer throughout the basketball season.

Bringing a monstrous and individualistic crowd, radically screaming for a victory, together into a unified voice demanding of our team the best possible was a feat well done by our lead pepsters. These basketball cheerleaders, instilled with pep, backed with experience and polished up by attending a camp held at the University of Northern Iowa, helped lead our student body to real victories—victories won through skill and good sportsmanship; not only by the athletes on the court, but by the cheering Crusaders in the stands . . . a unified body.

Varsity Wrestling Cheerleaders Lead on a Bigger Crowd

Go-Fight-Win!

Instilling an abundance of enthusiasm at wrestling meets and duels (one of Heelan's relatively newest sports events), were its cheerleaders, led by captain Teresa Mushro. Unlike football and basketball cheerleaders, who lead the crowds on their feet, these girls were often seen kneeling on blue and gold pillows campaigning the Crusader grapplers on to individual and team victories. Because of increased attendance at these meets, the cheerleaders took on a bigger task of leading the spirited crowds this year.

Underclass In 'Upper Class' of Spirit

Freshmen, and Sophomore cheerleaders — football, basketball, and wrestling — promoted fantastic underclass spirit for these sports, creating enthusiasm in the players which helped spur them on to many a victory.

Seemingly minute and rather unimportant compared to varsity cheerleaders, these squads, to the contrary, carried a very important responsibility. Through their leadership, they have extended to the fans, an appreciation of athletics and a desire to cheer it on; thus preparing the underclass for the years ahead containing the more competitive sports which either rank or title Heelan.

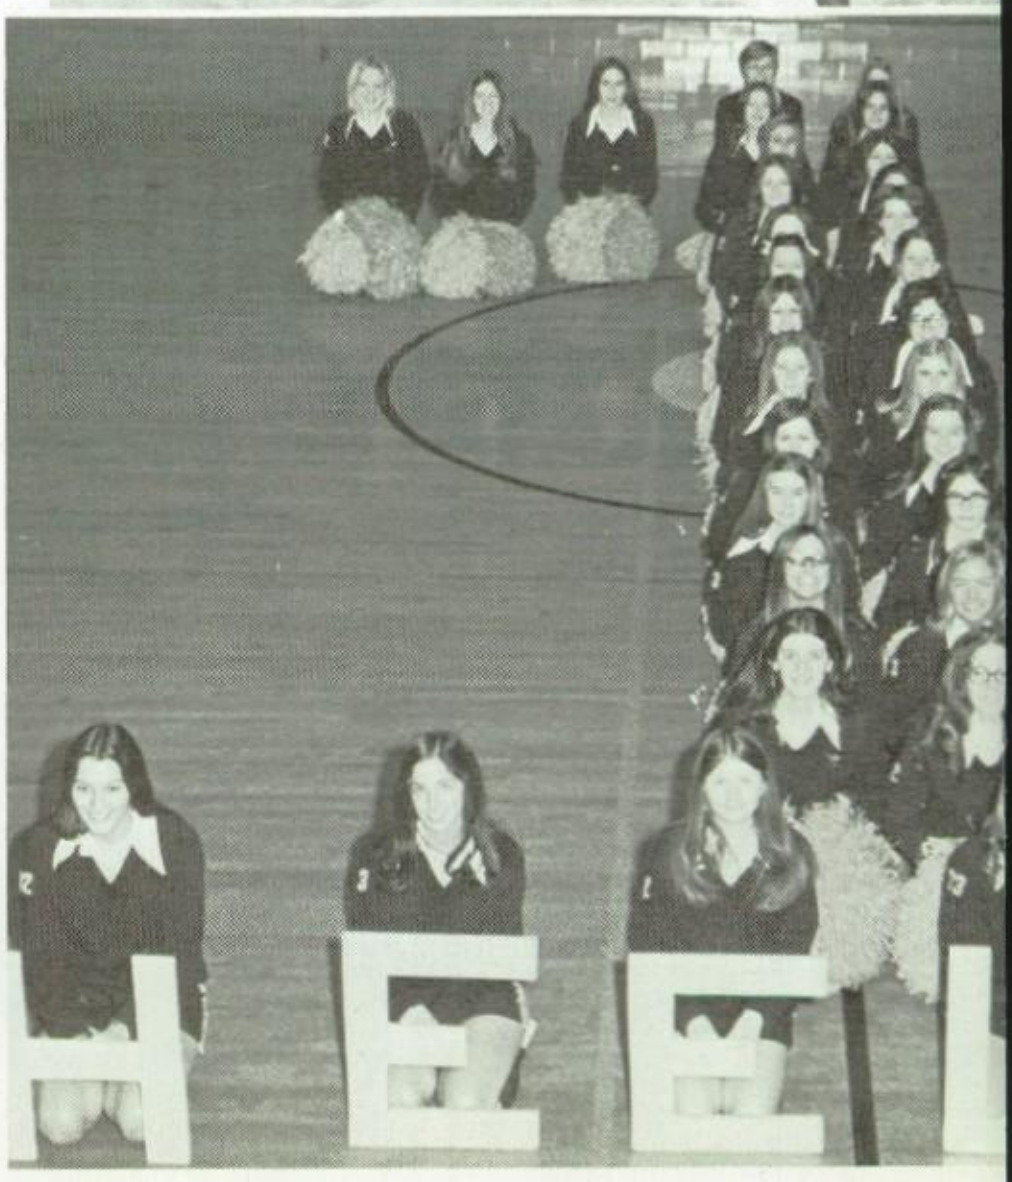
Crusadettes March 'in Time' to the Heartbeat of Heelan

Brightening up halftimes, pep assemblies, parades, and people's lives in general are the Heelan Crusadettes, consisting of 28 juniors and seniors.

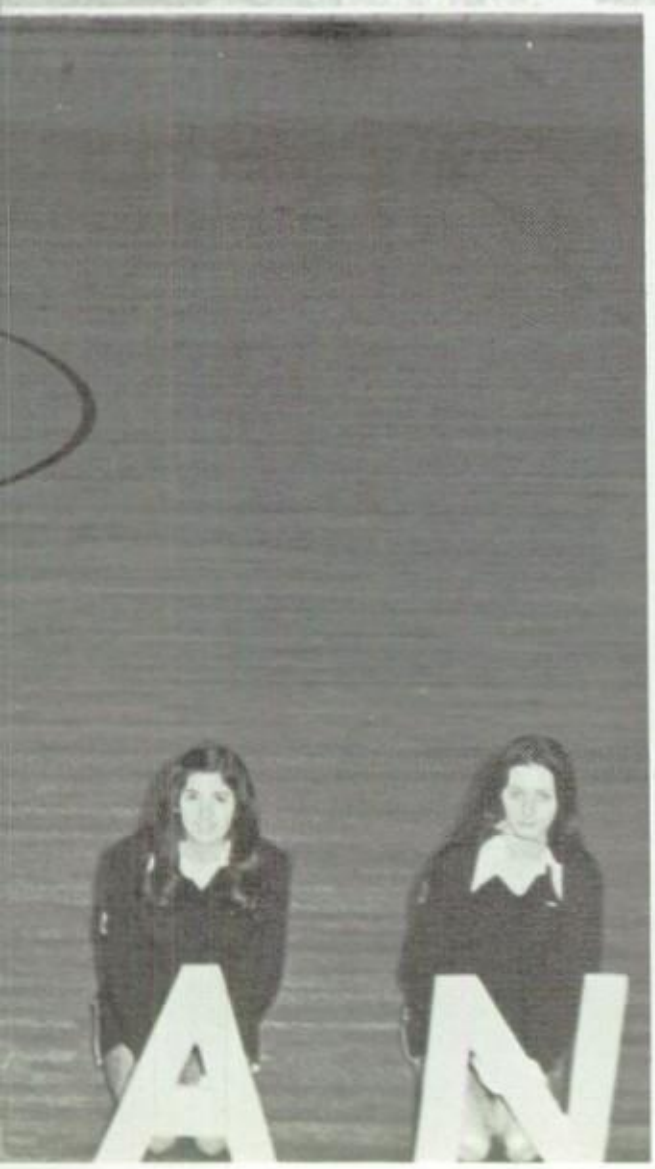
The girls are found practicing in the wee hours of the morning with Mary Cae Harrison (captain) and Anne Williams (co-captain) directing them in their flashy and complex routines in order to perform to perfection.

Tryouts were held in the spring with the senior members selecting the future Crusadettes. Judgement was based primarily on appearance, poise, and marching ability.

RIGHT: On the field at halftime, Captain Mary Cae Harrison leads the Crusadettes in another routine.



RIGHT: Letterettes and Crusadettes include: Kathy Lemay, Jean Alvano, Julie Reiter, Mary Lowder, Teresa Neri, Teresa Wedmore, Anne Williams, Mary Cae Harrison, Jan Alvano, Molly Martin, Karen Thoman, Mary Messenger, Lynn Warden, JoEllen Uber, Joannie Tiedman, Karen Meyer, DeDe Gunia, Therese Sudbeck, Pam Tietz, Lori Mogren, Paula Spain, Maureen Beacom, Ann Berger, Debbie Engle, Carol Schumacher, Patti Tritz, Judy Beacom, Maureen Popham, Karen Callaghan, Julie Trembly, Paula Shinkunas, Joan Beebe, and Connie Olsen. Missing is Mo Haley.



Signaled by the shrill of a whistle, the performance begins. Each girl concentrates on her expression (smile!), her footage (left, left, left-right-left), and the routine as she marches rythmatically to the beat of the music. The swishing of the pom-poms and the "can-can" style incorporated into their routines are accompanied by enthusiastic whistles and applause.

This year's group instigated many new ideas which were welcomed warmly by the Heelanites. In addition to performing at many school functions, these girls serve at the Athletic Banquet, sponsor an annual fund-raising dance. (Twirp this year) and take a trip. The Crusadette's advisor is Miss Judy Conway.

TOP: Crusadettes stand at attention as the band plays our national anthem.

Pep Club - An Asset to Athetics, Pride; Unifying Students, Team, Crowds.

Did you know that girls can be the backbone of a great sports team? The junior-senior girls Pep Club, come rain, snow, or dark of night, always managed to be there with support when they were needed most.

To the visitors at a home game, Heelan's sidelines could always be seen mottled with blue and gold flash cards or dozens of hysterically cheering pep club girls in their traditional light blue shirts and dark blue culottes and sweaters.

Signs hung upon the walls at school bolstered the team's and student body's morale for the upcoming games. Headed by seniors Paula Shinkunas and Jane Sudbeck, and juniors Karen Meyer and Jean Alvano, members of the pep club performed skits at pep assemblies, held button sales to boost spirit, sponsored Dad's Night during football and Mom's Night during basketball, and decorated players' lockers before some of the games.

Oompa-pa, Oompa-pa . . . the Band Entertains With Hit Selections

The ability to make their audience thirsty with the contemporary hit, "I'd Like to Buy the World a Coke", is attributed to the Heelan Band uniting to create beautiful and skillfully executed music for assemblies, parades, or half-time football games. Under the direction of Mr. Charles Hopkins, the band employed a variety of instruments utilized by talented band members who were divided into clarinet, percussion, flute, bell, trumpet, baritone, trombone, french horn, tuba, and cello sections. Some of this organization's projects included a trip to Veisha and a Band Bazaar, held in February to raise money. The officers this year were: Manager Mike Burns, President John Fossum, Vice-president Dave Schulte, Secretary Mary McElroy and Librarian Pam Lesner.

The Stage Band, an extention of Heelan's basic band, was involved primarily in entertaining crowds at pep assemblies and games. Under the directing wand of Mark Meyer and Jerry Bertrand, this group also accompanied the drill team, twirlers, and student body (singing their victory song) with current selections.

Spinning steel pierced the air in six blurs as Heelan's baton twirlers took over center stage for another one of their syncronized routines.

The combination of freshman, sophomore, junior and senior girls worked long, hard hours over the summer months to perfect themselves for the upcoming sports season. Captain Cindy Jamgotch led the girls through many successful performances in front of football and basketball fans during halftime.

FAR RIGHT: Jill Budden and Diane Heger add a new attraction to this year's baton and flag squads. RIGHT: Jill Budden and Diane Heger entertain an audience at the halftime of a basketball game.

This year two feature twirlers have been added to the baton and flag squads. Feature baton twirler Diane Heger spins fire batons, hoop batons, and any other number of objects. Jill Budden, feature flag twirler thrills her audiences with individual and unique routines. Not only do these girls perform on their own, they often team up to perform duets.

Wipping in the wind at half time under the stars at Memorial Field or under the bright lights of the basketball court, Heelan's flag twirlers bring admiring stares wherever they perform.

Newly acquired gold sequined uniforms and navy blue boots add to the colorful display these girls put on. The 1971-72 flag twirlers were announced early in the season at a pep assembly where they were individually introduced and then performed in front of an audience for the first time.

Practice Makes Perfect: Mixed Chorus Strives for Precision

RIGHT: Sister Brendan directs Mixed Chorus for the Pops Concert. BELOW: Caught in a practice mood, the Chorus prepares for their next performance.

Fists clenched togehter with thumbs up (Father Eisele's sign language for "get on pitch!") and the waving arms of Sister Brendan (drilling the beat of the song into the Mixed Chorus) are familiar gestures the directors of this vocal group use during practice and performance.

Working together as one, the Mixed Chorus brought fresh, young entertainment to their audiences, ranging from selections from the rock opera, Jesus Christ Superstar to the Alleluia Chorus, sung to the accompaniment of a moog synthesizor tape. These juniors and seniors performed at various assemblies, appeared on television at Christmastime, and put on the popular musical, Hello Dolly! in the spring. Also, in addition to their usual agenda, the Mixed Chorus traveled "on tour" to sing for different schools, preparing themselves for the annual spring concert.

Melodious Quartets Enterain Audiences; Compete in Contests

RIGHT: Father Eisele directs quartets in early morning practice. BOTTOM: A quartet performs in front of the student body at the Saint Cecila Day assembly.

Mixed Chorus not only functions as a group on the whole, it also has smaller sections of students in groups of fours known as quartets.

The students in these quartets usually have exceptional voices, whether it be soprano, alto, or barritone, and sometimes combine their talents for unusual and very pleasant effects.

Our quartets have competed in various music contests, many times having to memorize sheet after sheet of difficult music. Sister Brendan and Father Eisele coach the quartets who appeared along with the Mixed Chorus at the Saint Cecila Day Assembly.

Appreciation of Music Instilled in Glee Club Members.

Budding young sophomores who love to sing usually can be found exercising their vocal chords in Glee Club. With higher hopes of being chosen for Mixed Chorus in their junior year, Glee Club members meet twice a week under the watchful gaze of Sister Brendan, to learn the finer points of reading music and controlling the vocal chords.

During the course of a year, Glee Club can be found performing for Saint Cecila Day and the Christmas Cantata.

Dramatis Personae Present "Arsenic and Old Lace"

Frantic 7:00 rehersals, stage fright, script mutterings amongst other choice words—all of these added up to sheer chaos as the curtain went up on the 1971 fall play, "Arsenic and Old Lace." Needless to say, the chaotic atmosphere was quickly transformed into a humorous dramatic production.

The entire play is situated in the living room of the Brewster sisters' home in Brooklyn, New York. Teddy, their nephew, occupies the house with them.

Martha and Abby, the two sisters, in order to relieve old men of their miseries, rent out rooms of their house and serve them homemade elderberry wine spiced with arsenic. Mortimer, another nephew, and his girlfriend, Elaine, discover the victims of his aunts' charades, and not wanting to see two seemingly innocent old ladies go jail, put the blame on Teddy.

Concluding the play, the ladies efforts, made upon victim thirteen, a Mr. Gibbs, are foiled when Mr. Witherspoon, superintendent of Happy Dale Sanitarium, appears on the scene.

Under the direction of Mrs. Pezdirtz, and student director Elaine Dykshoorn, the 1971 fall play was again a success.

Property, Stage, and Make-up Crews Work Behind the Scenes to Better the Drama Department

A large part of Heelan's Drama Dept. consists of the very important people behind the scenes.

The make-up crew, under the direction of Sister Irene, and consisting of approximately 30 junior and senior girls, transforms our students into feeble old men and women, escastic teenyboppers, or whatever their role calls for. Working in 104, the girls help with last minute costume preparations, calm jittery nerves, and give encouraging remarks as the curtain prepares to rise.

The job of setting the mood and building the sets goes to Heelan's stage crew directed by Father Weimer. All scenery is painted, built and arranged by them and it is their duty to see that the sets are quickly changed between acts. An offspring of the stage crew, the special lights crew is responsible for spotlighting the actors and working the lights backstage.

The properties crew or "props girls" are responsible for obtaining all the little extras. They locate accessories such as wine bottles, furniture, pictures, curtains, dishes, and all the odds and ends so necessary to put a good play together. Sound affects is another job of the girls. They are relied upon to keep the actors on cue and work the various bells and buzzers.

Students Display Their Talents in Speech Class

Pantomining, mimicking, or role acting, you'll find it all in speech class.

Meeting once a week under the direction of Mrs. Lownds, Miss Noonan, and Mr. Pope, students try out their new ideas on each other, give and accept criticism and just do what they like to do, which in this case is act.

Editors, creative writers, photographers -those involved with periodical or annual publications and endowed with the ability to put thoughts, actions ... life it self ... down on paper make up the Quill & Scroll, directed by Miss Mary Castle. This group went to Des Moines earlier this year to attend the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Iowa High School Press Association.

The Thespian Society is an organization which recognizes outstanding actors; those talented in the field of drama. Under the direction of Miss Noonan, these performers compete in speech contests, exhibiting their aptitude through comedies, one-act plays, poetry and various other categorial selections.

Highline—a Big Success With Modernized Issues

The job of our able-bodied Highline staff is to bring the news of the day to students of Heelan, and they do just that.

The staff, comprised of approximately 20 juniors and seniors, compiles, interviews, lays out, and supervises the formation of our school paper. Throughout the year, excellent coverage has been given to Heelan's big events: acedemic, social, and sports-wise. The staff is proud of the many new changes it has made in order to present their student body with a more up to date school newspaper.

Members of the Highline staff are trained a year before in Journalism, and at the end of each year, a new staff is named at the Publications Banquet. All are members of the National Scholastic Press Association, the Iowa State High School Press Association, and the Quill and Scroll.

Preparation for this year's annual began last summer as ten members of the Shield staff met to decide the cover, design, and changes to appear in the next yearbook. Filled with high hopes and an abundance of new and creative ideas, this crew ventured forth into the exciting, yet time consuming world of copy, headlines, layouts, and deadlines. The latter, if met, held with it not only the joy of accomplishment, but also a riotous pizza party.

With Sue Galloway as Editor-in-chief, operations ran smoothly with the exception of last minute nervous breakdowns and ulcers the day before a deadline. Sue was responsible for the opening theme pages, the advertising section and the overall organization of the Shield.

Kevin Kirwan, sports editor, sometimes found himself drowning in a pool of statistics and umpteen action shots of athletic hams. Nevertheless, he generously devoted most of his spare time to sorting all the confusion into and organized piece of work.

Faces, faces, everywhere kept class co-editors Connie Olson and Francine Kukula on their toes as they put the frosh, sophs, juniors, and seniors altogether to form their section. Climbing into the window of the Publications room exhibited the undaunted eagerness of these two girls.

Observing classrooms, the goings on in them, and the teacher and recording this in the "Academics" section was the job of co-editors, Michele Crane and Mary Julius. These girls up-dated this part of the annual tremendously, covering the inside activities of the classroom thoroughly.

Mary Pat Everist and Patti Duggan made it their business to be "where the action is". As co-editors of the activities pages of the '72 Shield, their work included a wide variety of events, ranging from homecoming to clubs and extra-curricular activities.

Dave Berger and Willie Bertrand are accredited with the photography end of the annual. Taking pictures, developing and printing them was a demanding and time consuming job; important to making the Shield a reality.

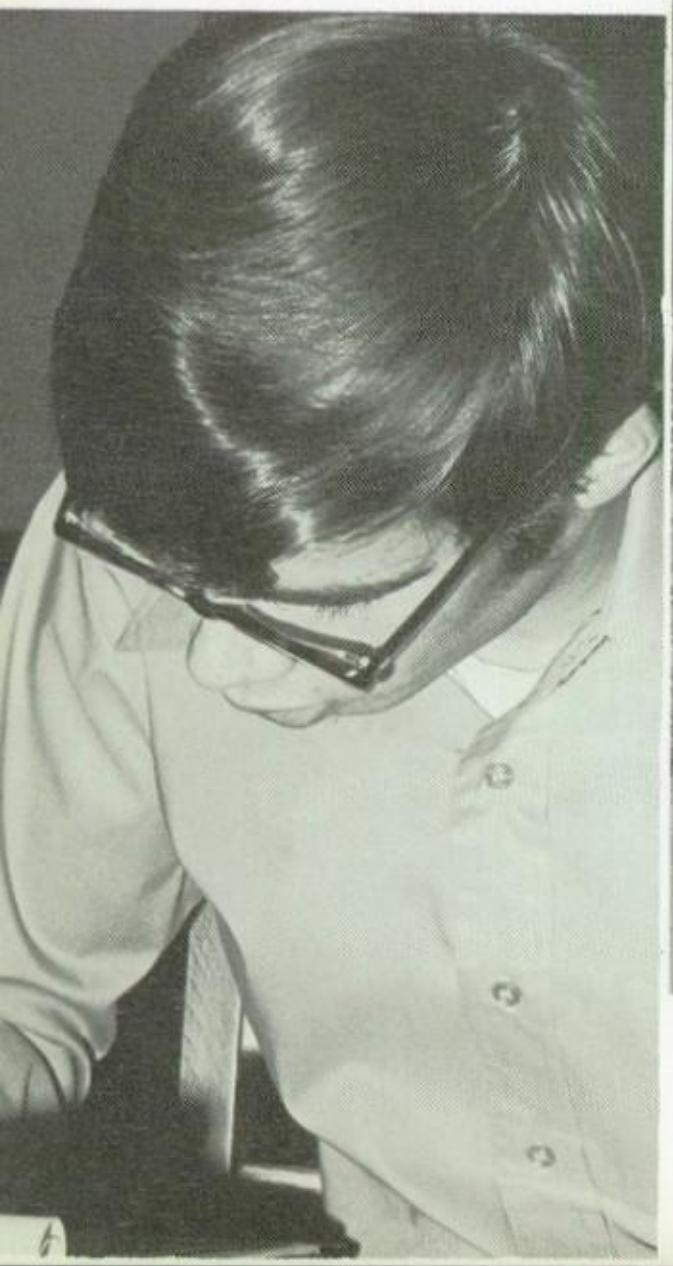
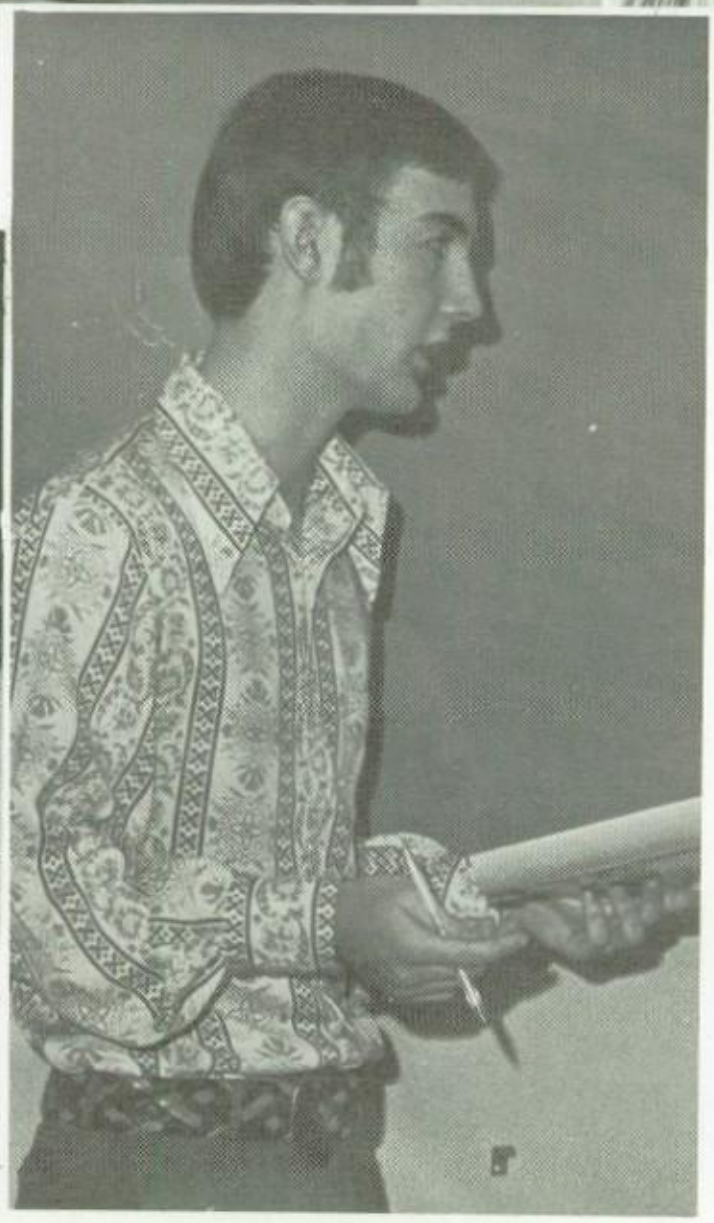
RIGHT: Mike O'Brien presents his facts with an open mind; BELOW: Jim Topf frequently visits the library to get new ideas for his subject.





Traveling around for various tournaments has become the favorite pastime of the debate team which was caught up in a very rigid schedule. The two squads have participated in the C.Y.O. debates, the District Finals held at Sioux City East, State Finals at Dowling, and throughout the year at Invitational Debates in Omaha, Sioux Falls, and Waterloo.

Members of the A squad are, affirmative: Mike O'Brien and Jim Topf, and negative: Andy Erickson and Mark Meyer. B squad are, affirmative: Krista Kennedy and Dan Guenther, and negative:J.Sherm Smith and Kay Somsky.

Debate is a one semester course taught by Mr. Pope, and the rest of the year the squads study on their own at home and occasionally take trips to the law library at Vermillion.

A mass and breakfast were held at the beginning of the year to mark the official installation of new members. Faculty advisor for the students is Sister Dismas. Membership is based on academics, character, and leadership.

Student Council Introduces New Dimensions . . .

The Student Council incorporated many new ideas and fund-raising projects into it's agenda this year. The Senior Study Center, arranged to provide the Seniors with more freedom, and the selling of pennants, car washes, and Grub Day (GD)- to raise money - were all successful endevours sponsored by this organization.

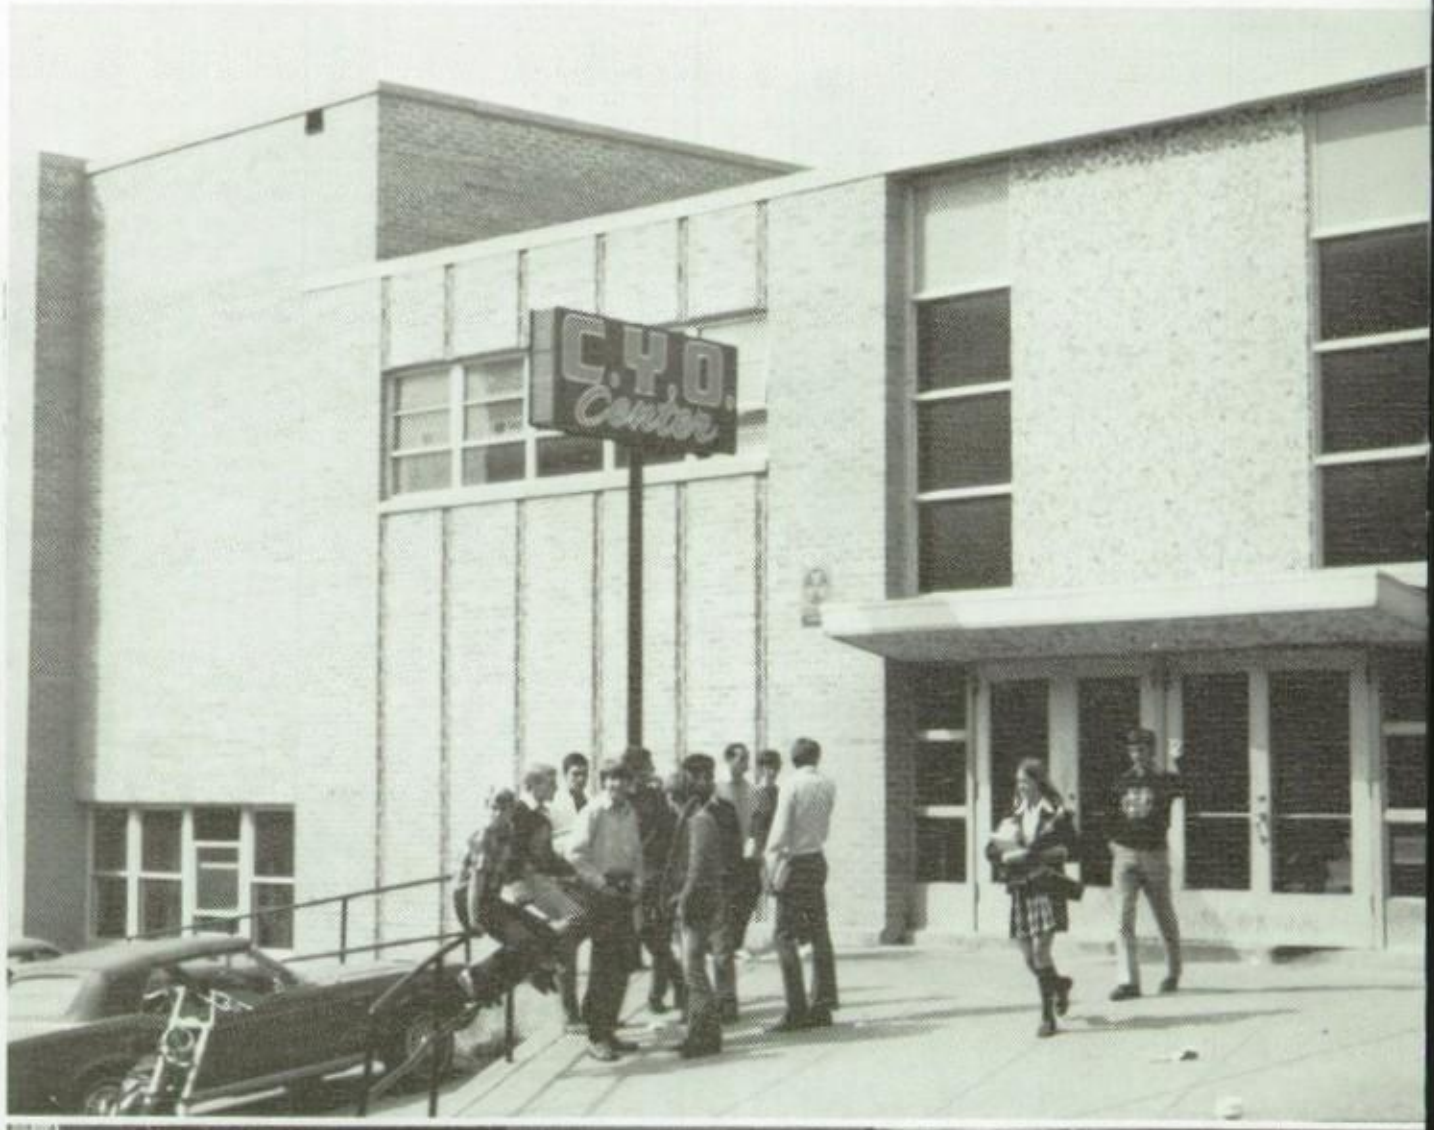
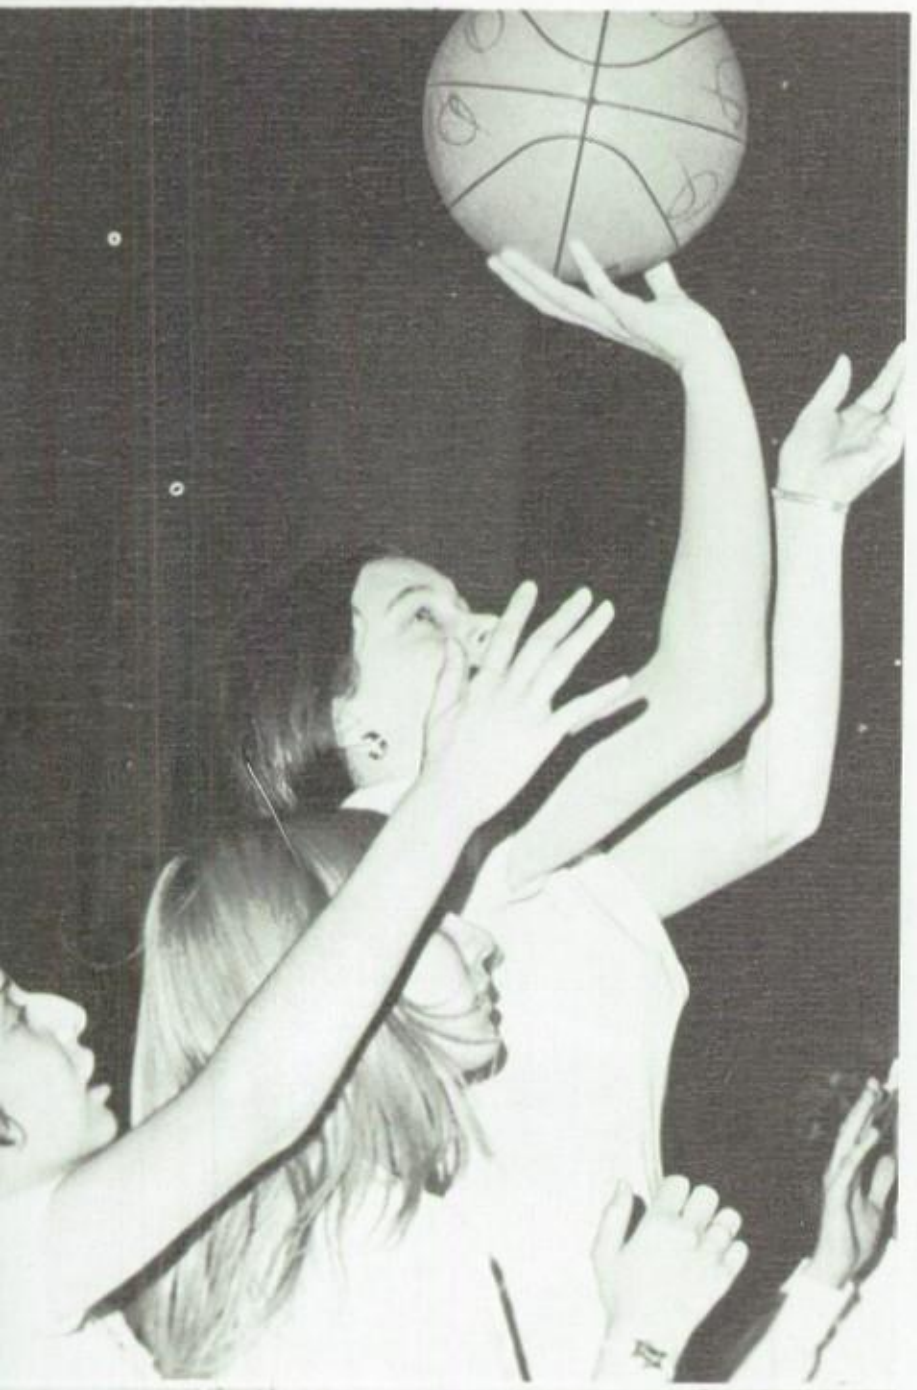
C.Y.O. - A Place to Rap; to Relax; to Socialize





Just a hop and a skip from Heelan is a place to rap with your friends, to play ping-pong, pool, basketball, volleyball, handball or wrestle, to drink pop, to buy ice-cream, to eat lunch, to listen to the "now sounds" of the juke-box, to dance at socials . . . . familiarly known as the CYO.

As a Christian Youth Organization, it sent its delegates to represent Sioux City at the CYO Convention in Washington, D.C., held a "record-hop", showed movies during Lent, and initiated a project called CYO Progress.

With the guidance of Fr. Steib, and Miss Mary Bern and the leadership of officers Mark Wetz President, Terry Donohue (Vice-President), Jim Kelly (Treasurer), and Cindy Jamgotch (Secretary), the CYO remained a social encourager, and a mental and physical relaxer to students.

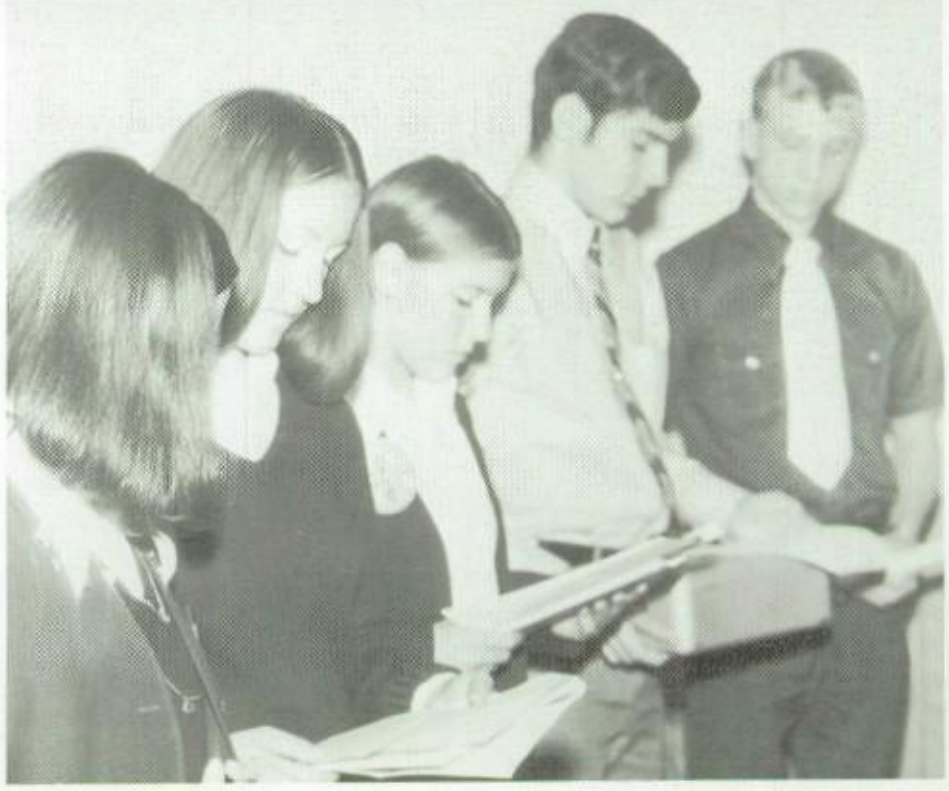
Bringing Heelan's student body together in a solemn occasion is the Mass.

Every year begins with the celebration of the Eucharist and at various other times of the year assemblies are called for that purpose.

Teachers and students have a chanve to attend Mass every day in their chapel which begins at 7:45 every morning. There are also special occasions when the Mass is celebrated for an important game or big upcoming event.



New Experience for Seniors- Corinth Day

One of the new attractions seniors have enjoyed participating in this year is Corinth Day or retreats. Approximately 30 senior girls and boys at a time spend the day at Saint Anthony's Home which now has become a school for apostulates.

The day usually consisted of short talks given by two college students, a married couple, and sometimes a teacher from Heelan. Kids draw posters and just generally talk about what the day has meant to them. The retreat concludes with a Mass said by Father Reicks with the students gathered around the altar.

All who have participated in this program feel that Father Reicks has brought to Heelan a very rewarding experience.

Assemblies Entertain, Educate, Unite

One of the most powerfully unifying activities which Heelanites have undergone is the general assembly. Whether formal or pep, students and teachers are brought together for one sole purpose and in one sole body. They are woven together, stunned by a forceful poet, elated by the crowning of royalty, baffled by a mind-reader, spirited with cheers and skits, proud of fellow Heelanites receiving recognition and awards, relaxed by beautiful music on St. Cecilia's Day, and spiritually made one through prayer.

Formal assemblies began and ended with a prayer led by Father Elbert or Student Council President, Jim Topf, and usually featured a speaker or some seniors or important business. Pep assemblies were highlighted with a spirited talk by a coach or player and a skit prepared to boost the pep of the student body. This type of gathering ended with the Heelan victory song, sung by the Crusaders, uniting all.

'Huddles' Bring Together Athletes Concerned With Sports, God, Life

Getting together periodically to discuss sports, talk over problems, and plan projects, is characteristic of the Heelan "huddle" of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Baking incredibly delectable goodies to sell and checking coats for the crowds coming to Heelan events (in conjunction with the Drill Team) were a couple of fund raising activities sponsored in order to be able to send FCA members to a camp in Estes Park, Colorado.

With Brendan Berchard as advisor, the FCA officers include: Mike Cooper, Captain; Pat Beck, Captain-Elect; Gary Niles and Jim Gubbels, Treasurers; and Krage Feste and Tom Scoville, Secretaries.

Presided over by President Nancy Beyer, Vice President Elaine Dykshoorn, Secretary Debbie Ely, Treasurer Tim Jarmen, and Publicity manager Dan Guenther, HMC held meetings on the first Wednesday of every month.

Yearly projects of HMC were the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Lenten drive. A talent show was held in March with the procedes donated to the Lenten drives and the payment of propagation dues.

The Red Cross is an organization oriented primarily to helping the underpriviledged children and the often forgotten aged of the city. Advised by Sr. Marianne, it has sponsored bake sales along with other money-raising projects in order to help others; using the money to put on a Christmas party for children and for making trinkets for the older people. Much time is dedicated by these members to make other's lives happier by baking cookies for, and by playing Bingo with them, or by simply talking to the lonely.

Members have carried out various fund raising projects throughout the year including a Mexican pastry bake sale, raffles, and whatever else the members come up with.

Miss Vint, teacher of Spanish, moderated the club throughout the year for the first time and brought many new, fresh ideas to the club.

French Club Learns Customs the Fun Way

Parlez-vous francais? They speak much French and in doing so, they incorporate a knowledge of French customs and an appreciation of the language itself. Getting together every Friday, with Sr. Irene presiding, the French Club members played Scrabble and Bingo (using French words and numbers) and discussed various topics, trying out new phrases and words in their foreign lingo. Some of their projects this year included bake sales and exhibits and French pastries at the annual Exhibit Night. The officers this year were Chris Wiltgen (President) and Sue Galloway (Vice-president.)

Science Labs Utilized, Kept up by Members

The Science Club under the direction of Sister Marianne is run almost completely by it's eager members. Students interested in any phase of science can take time out to satisfy their curiosities and carry out lab experiments on their own.

A smaller segment of the Science Club is the Biology Service Club which is made up of boys who prepare the lab in the morning, see to it that the animals are taken care of, and clean up the room at night in preparation for the next day's classes.

Many students prepare experiments and observations for the Science Fair Night that is usually held in the spring at the C.Y.O.

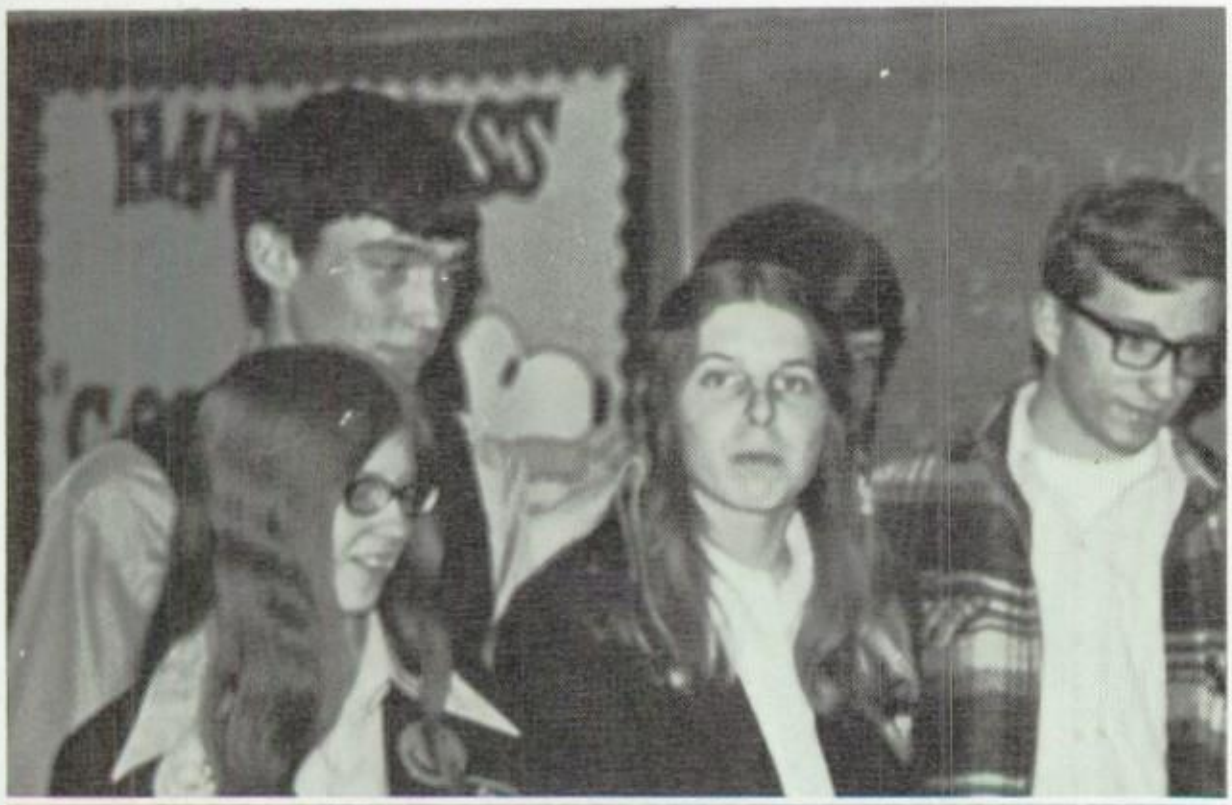
Math Club Members Investigate Complex Aspects of Algebra; Intro-Analysis



Presenting a challenge to Algebra and Analysis students, the Junior-Senior Math Club gives those interested in mathematics an opportunity to investigate topics not covered in normal classroom activities.

Steve Haupt (President), Steve Nyhus (Vice-president) and Steve Erlemeier (Secretary-treasurer) with the help of Mr. Hirschman directed this club which met every second Monday of the month. Special attractions included reports on the slide rule, four-people chess games, graphs and the problem of the week.

Many junior and senior girls have generously given up a part of their study hall time to participate in the Library Club, supervised by Sister Edith.

Duties include keeping shelves intact, checking out books, writing up and delivering library fines, arranging returned books in their proper order, and answering questions of inquiring students.

At Thanksgiving, the girls sponser a dance familiarly known as the Turkey Trot. They also are responsible for the selling and assemblying of mums at homecoming.

Volunteer switchboard operators, working under the direction of Miss Keane, learn to speak sweetly and keep their cool when answering calls to Heelan. They spend their study hall time dedicated to this switchboard, but are rewarded by many interesting and sometimes amusing calls.

Keeping the records of tardies and absences are the workers of 318. Under the wings of Deans Mrs. Bertrand and Mr. McTaggart, they carry out their responsibilities with flying colors.

"Sorry, No One in Here Wears One"

Receiving such cracks as, "Sorry, no one in here wears one", when asking for attendance slips is an example of what the Registrar workers must put up with on their daily routes around school.

It was two nights after Christmas, and all through the C.Y.O. could be heard the rock sounds of Bittersweet and the buzz of the merry Heelan couples. Decorated with foil snowflakes, paper Christmas stockings imprinted with couple's names, a castle scene, and the main attraction, a gayly adorned sleigh prepared for the Snow Royalty, the C.Y.O. became a winter wonderland overnight, greeting all who stepped into it's fantasy.

Sponsored by the Student Council, this year's Christmas Dance gave the students an opportunity to "get it all together" during their two-week vacation from school. They danced, chatted with each other, and all anticipated the outcome of the voting for Snow Royalty.

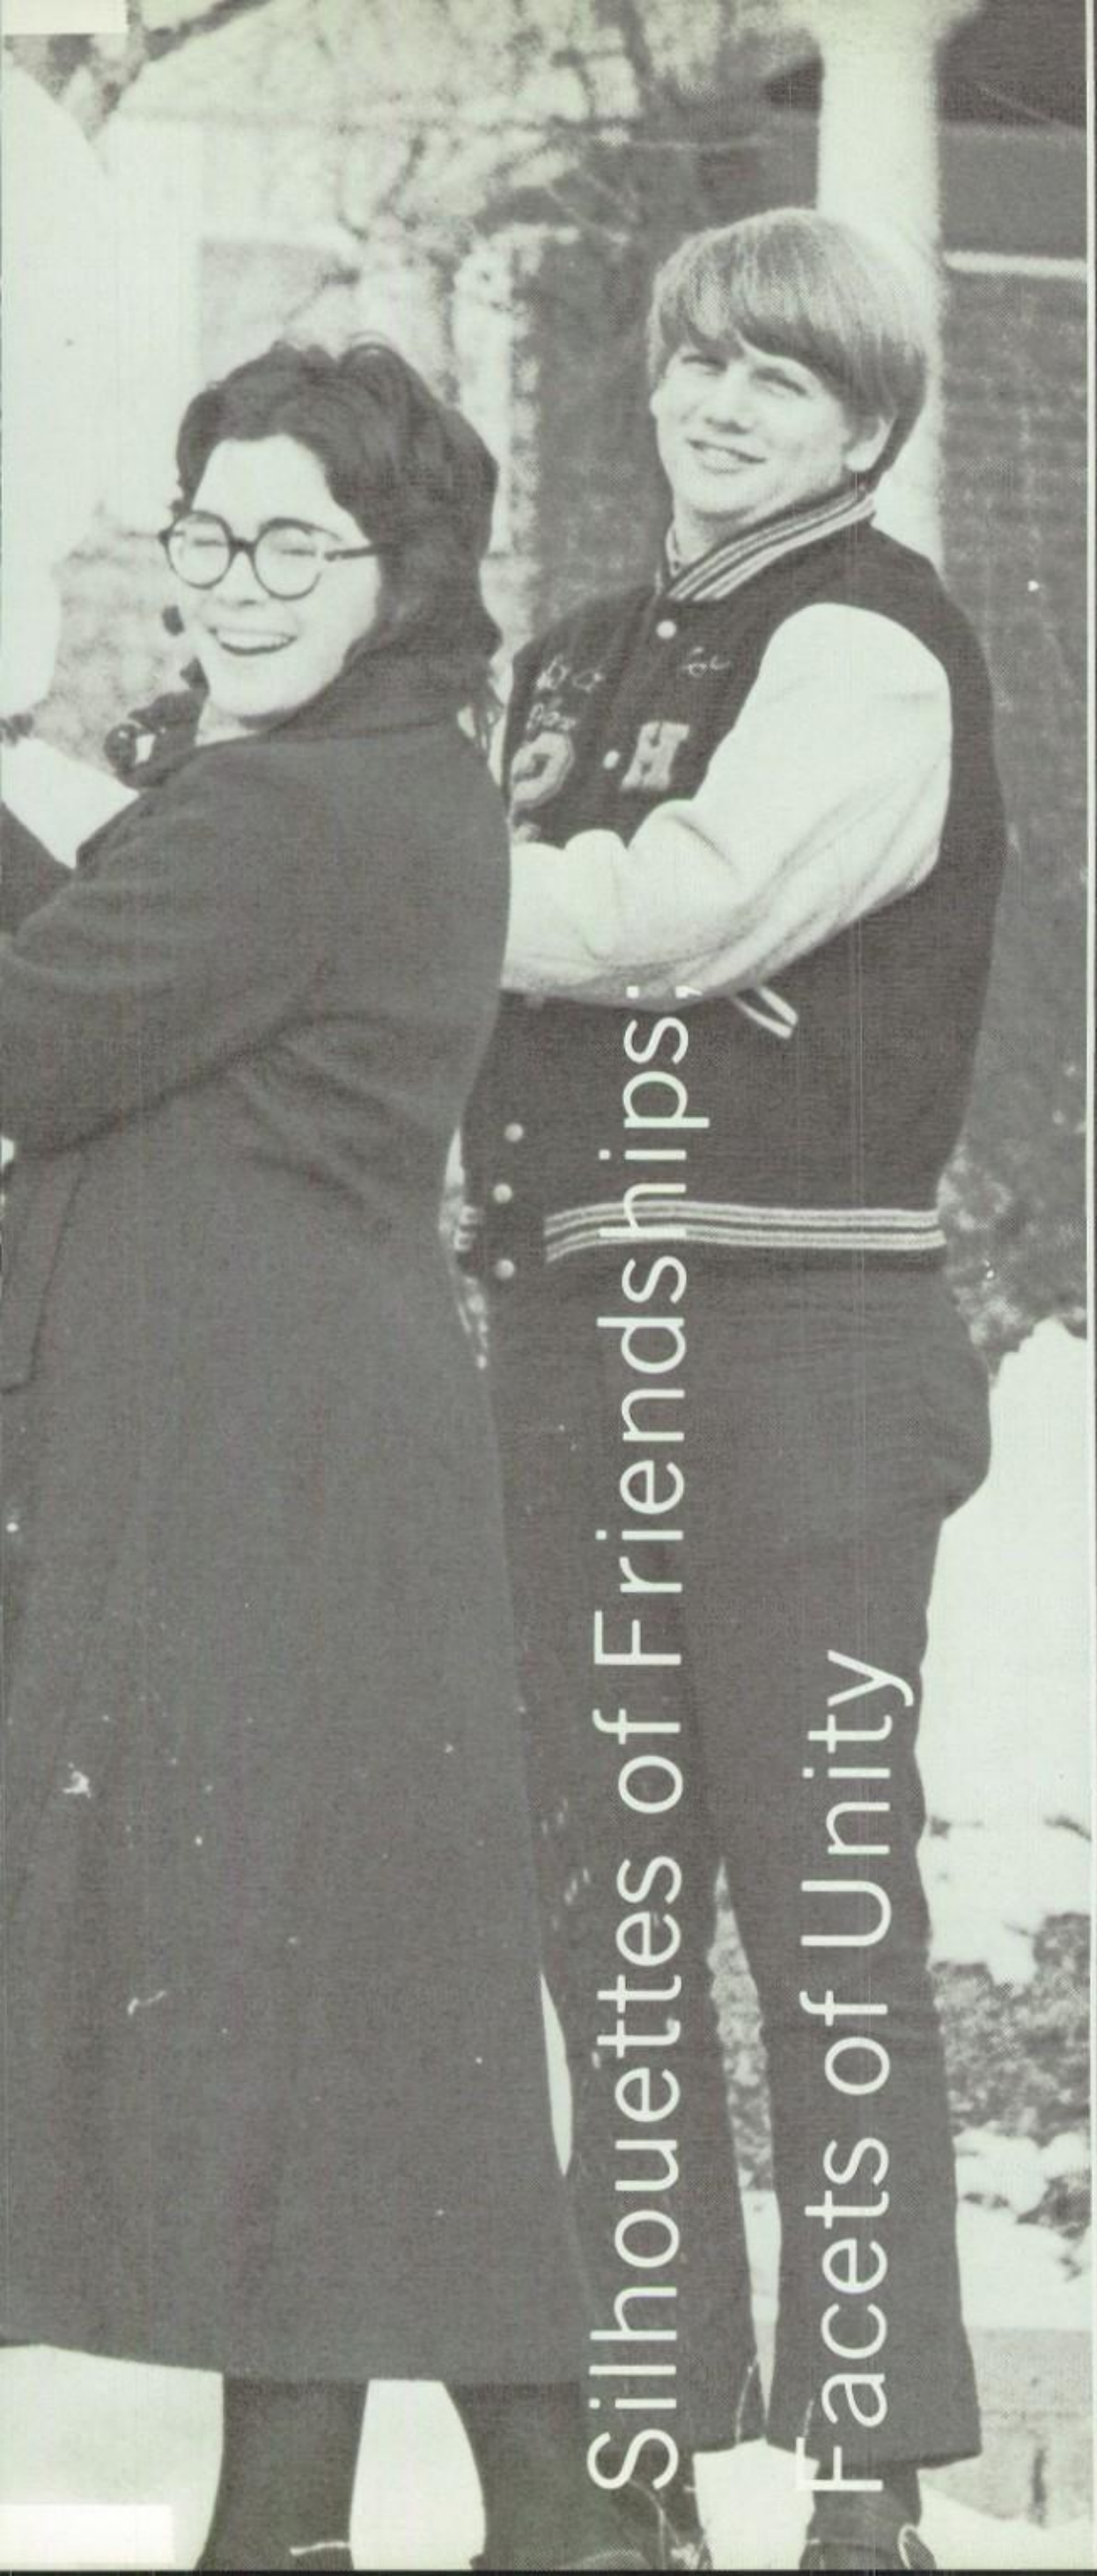
The couples danced to the sounds of Lazy River; and highlighting the night was the crowning of the Sweetheart Queen, Joanne Huigens. Other candidates for queen were Jenny Greer and Cindy Jamgotch; nominated upon and chosen by members of the C.Y.O.



Silhouettes of Friendships
Facets of Unity

It came too fast.
It went too fast.
Mixed emotions accompanied four years of "rocking out and grooving in."
Anticipation for the future,
nostalgia for the past,
with time relentlessly moving,
devouring the kaleidoscope of high school experiences.
A time of joy, of nervousness,
of being No. 1.
A time for long talks, for crunchy
footsteps in the silent snow,
for singing on bustrips, for victory parties.
A time for students,
for individual gratification through common brotherhood.
A time for rebelling, a time
for conforming.
A time for being outdoors,
for relishing the wonders of nature, for rosy cheeks and smiling faces.
There were silly pranks,
flashes of
hysterical happiness,
moments of silent reflection.
For the Seniors, everything was sad because it was the last and fantastic because it was the best.
Juniors and Sophomores, having become firmly initiated into the Heelan family, emerged breathless yet determined . . .
following in the traditional footsteps of UNITY.
For the Freshmen, new experiences were exhilirating,
never-to-be-forgotten.
Life was hectic,
never enough time for what had to be done.
Meetings, practices, homework
and projects.
Experiences melted into treasured memories, the day passes and another,
equally important,
began.
Life was . . . LIFE, and whatever it was, it was wonderful!
Here are the people who made it happen.

Frosh Arrive, With Infectious Enthusiasm

Bewildered,
ambitious, fresh,
inexperienced, shaky,
shy, and timid.
Take an assortment of perplexed
students,
add a little confusion,
and nervousness,
season with Heelan's
contagious enthusiasm,
and you come up with the Freshmen class.
Open studies, schedule
cards, pep
assemblies, socials,
tardy slips,
bells, bells, bells.
When do we go to lunch?
English class in 413?
Original
confrontation with Heelan's
varied scope of academic and social activities tends to stun
the unsuspecting Frosh.
But nothing stops
the infectious spirit of unity and it's just a matter of time before they become involved.
From then on
they are Crusaders,
following in the traditional footsteps of pride.

"United they stand . . ." The class of 75 shows rough and tumble unity.

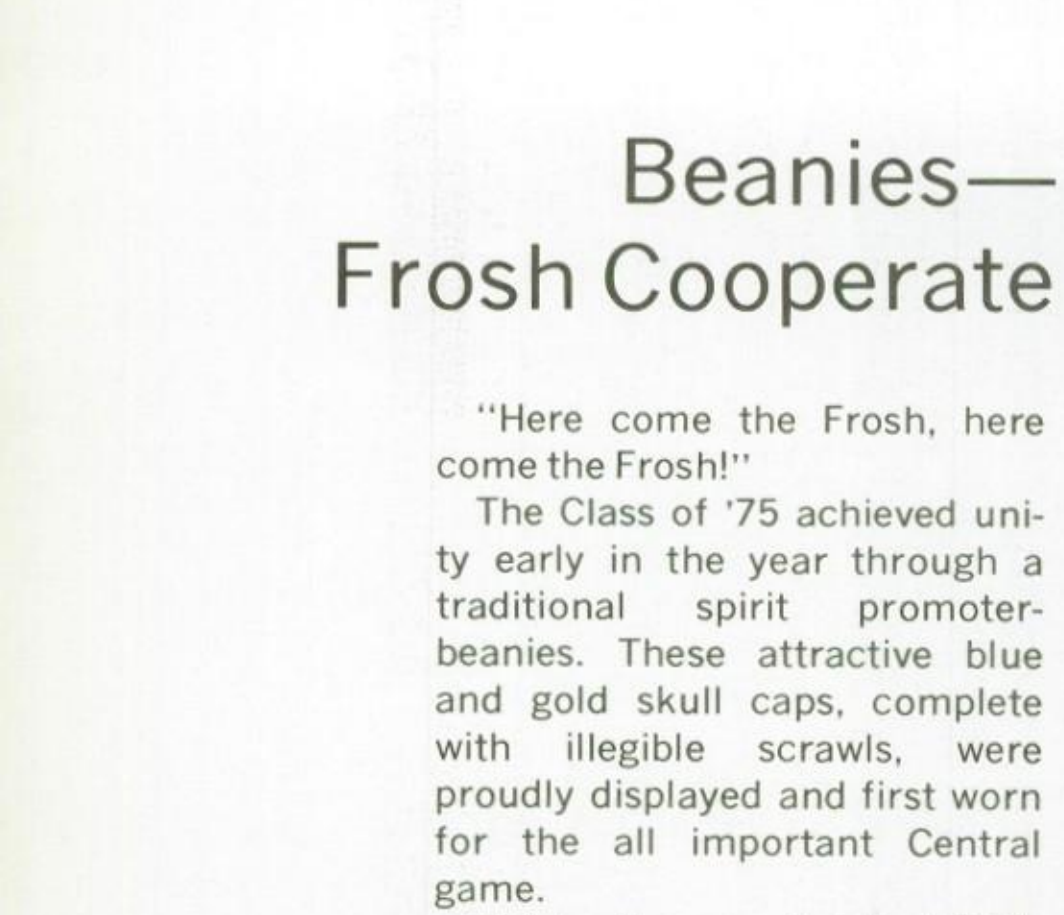
Beanies—
Frosh Cooperate

"Here come the Frosh, here come the Frosh!"

The Class of '75 achieved unity early in the year through a traditional spirit promoter-beanies. These attractive blue and gold skull caps, complete with illegible scrawls, were proudly displayed and first worn for the all important Central game.

Total sales revealed that 70% of the Freshmen enthusiastically welcomed these symbols of pride and not even the nasty antagonists (sophomores) could dampen their eagerness.

Beanies are the very best spirit builders!



Frosh believe that a beany just isn't a beany unless it contains a few scribbly signatures.

Bubbly Bouncy . . . Frosh Energy Never Stops

Despite the fact that the Freshmen have taken on a new era of maturity and responsibility, they can't resist the occasional opportunities for playful antics and puns. Included in this category are squirt gun fights, bubble gum battles, and paper wad wars.

Ranking first in popularity is the squirt gun. These weapons are cleverly concealed in blazer pockets and shirt sleeves. Blasts of liquid appear from nowhere, leaving their victims in drippy indignation. Retalliations are common; battles unavoidable, but through all this squirt gun warriors are always on the lookout for the gun-grabbing culprits, namely teachers.

Since the abolishment of the fifty-cent gum fine, bubble gummers are especially dangerous. No longer fearing monetary punishment, these crusaders have taken on new courage in whom and what they attack with their sticky ammunition. Because the aftermath of bubble gum wars can be so ecologically devastating, janitors and teachers are especially hard on bubble gum villians.

A stroll through Freshmen halls is a once in a lifetime experience. You notice the class segregation. . .all males in one corner where much scuffling and jousting takes place . . .and in another corner, the fairer sex is assembled complete with shrill cries, snipes of gossip, and free demonstrations in art of coiffure styling.

As you look closer, it is obvious that our Freshmen are still growing girls and boys. Where else would you find a complete assortment of delectable treats ranging from bite size pieces of candy to more substancial delacacies including Fritos, Cheetos, and potato chips?

We know the Frosh will outgrow this stage of playfulness. Remember Seniors, how you used to engage in such frolics? It just goes to show that there is a little bit of child in each of us.

Sophs Have More . . .
Class of '74 Exemplifies Unity

Learned,
confident,
experienced and wise,
entergetic,
veterans of the high school scene,
pace-setters
of the underclass world.
With a year of high school
tucked under their belts,
and a leisurely
summer vacation
behind them,
Sophomores
return to tackle the problems, excitement of books,
and activities.
Driver's Education,
Pep Club,
Biology and Geometry,
protractors
and proofs,
dissection and directions,
lab books,
notebooks, paperbacks,
projects.
Soph year is as hard
as they say!
Nothing
has really changed,
friendships
have strengthened.
Sophistication
reigns,
anticipation and nostalgia
mix to form emotions
of pride,
spirit,
and unity,
reflected on the faces
of the imaginative
Sophs.

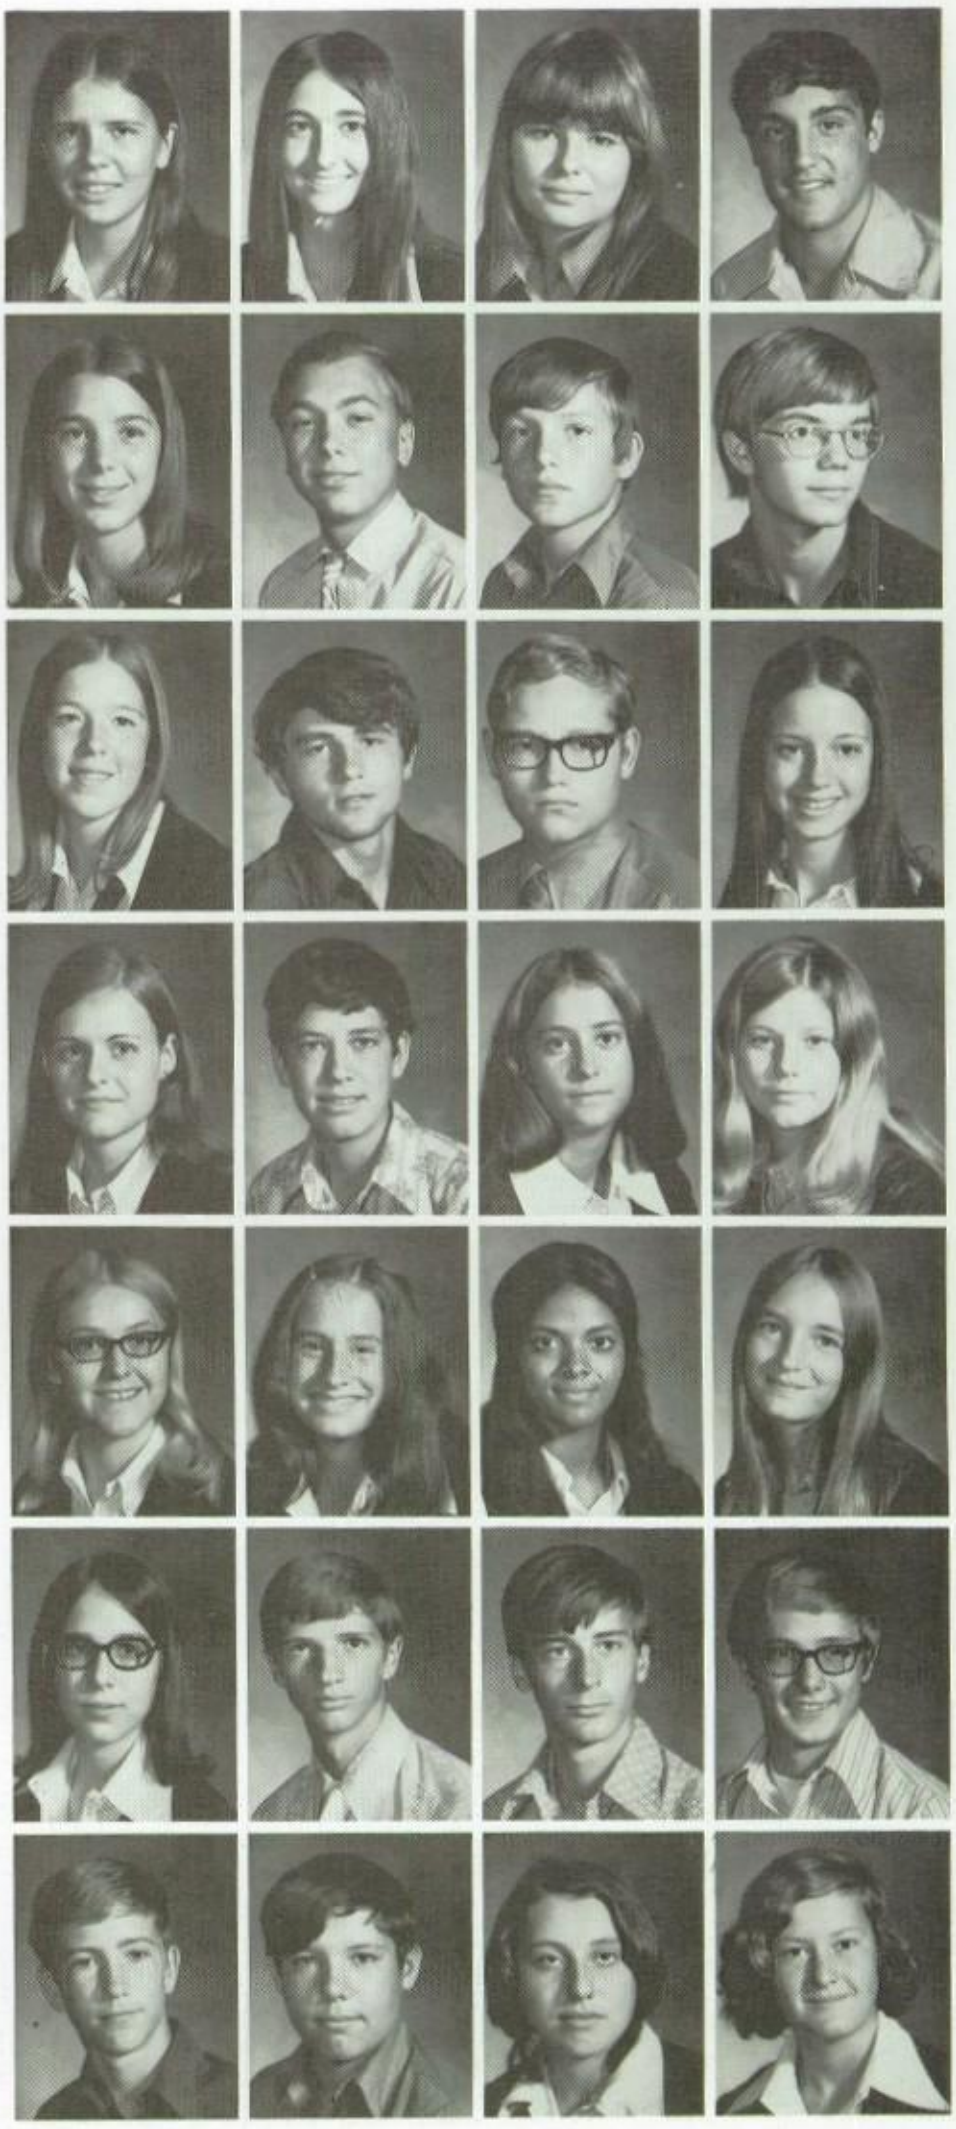
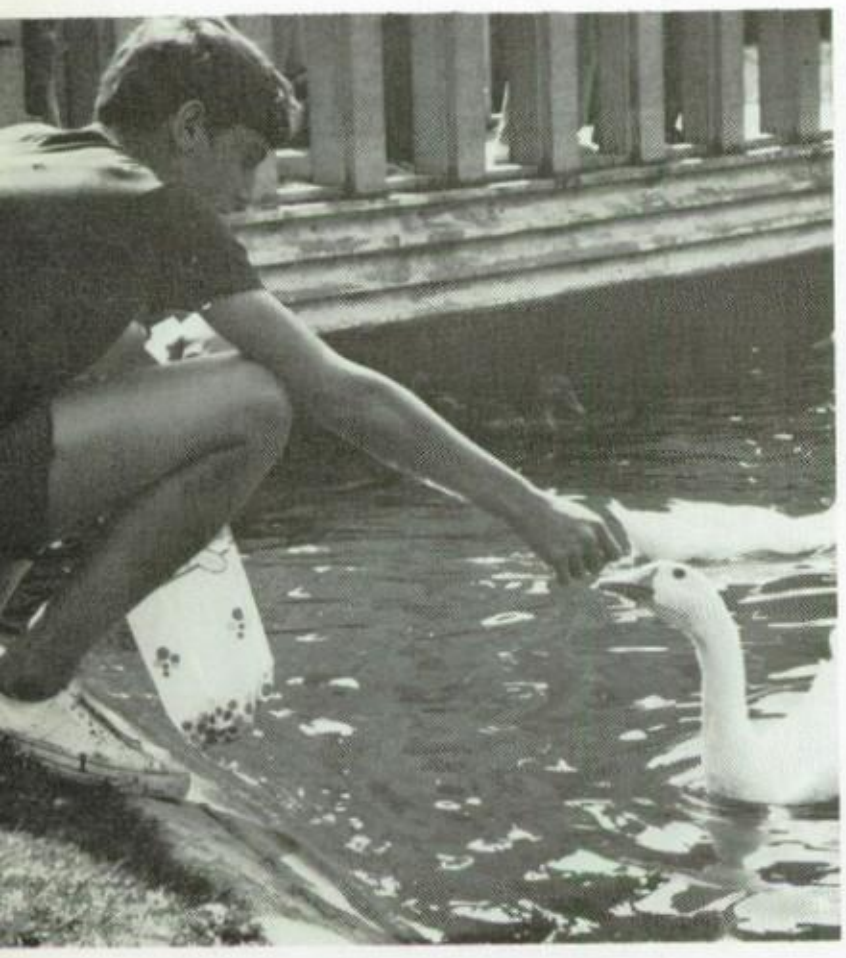
Acquaintances— Woven Into Friends.

What do students do when they are not in school? Lots of time is devoted to the necessities of eating, sleeping, homework and, of course, games, dances and other school orientated functions.

But what about free time? Well, most kids get together with the gang to broaden their horizons through stimulating activities. For instance, football in the snow, rapping at McDonalds and feeding the swans. Besides that there are numerous parties-slumber parties, pizza parties, after-the-game parties, and other group gatherings. But the fact remains that Heelan students seek each other out and "walk hand in hand" to discover life's offerings.





Mike Gorsett shares with a needy feathery friend.

They've Got It All—Spirit and Pride to the Sophs

"Spirit and pride, we've got it all on our side!"

Under the direction of Mary McCloud (President), Jill McCoy (Vice-president) and Peggy Ehli (Secretary-treasurer), the 1971-72 Sophomore Pep Club made great strides to exhibit the maximun amount of spirit, pep and pride.

Colorful pompoms, decorative bulletin boards, significant signs and various other techniques have proved to be a leading factor to continued Sophomore success on the football field, basketball court, wrestling mat and track cinders.

In the fashion of the Junior-Senior Pep Club, a point system was established. Attendance at home and away games entitled each member to receive recognition for their ceaseless efforts. Pep assemblies were also enacted as the entire class contributed their initiative and enterprising ideas to produce a truly unique presentation.

Various projects were undertaken to increase the financial funds of this organization. Bake sales proved to be the main attraction as students from all divisions flocked to the well-stocked tables on which were displayed yummy cookies, delectable cupcakes, not to mention crunchy treats.

The climax of the year's activities was the Pep Club picnic held at South Ravine Park to honor all 10th grade supporters for their faithful and loyal devotion. Besides promoting spirit, the Sophomore girls also proved to be excellent chefs with ravenous appetites.

Three cheers for the Sophomore Pep Club!!!

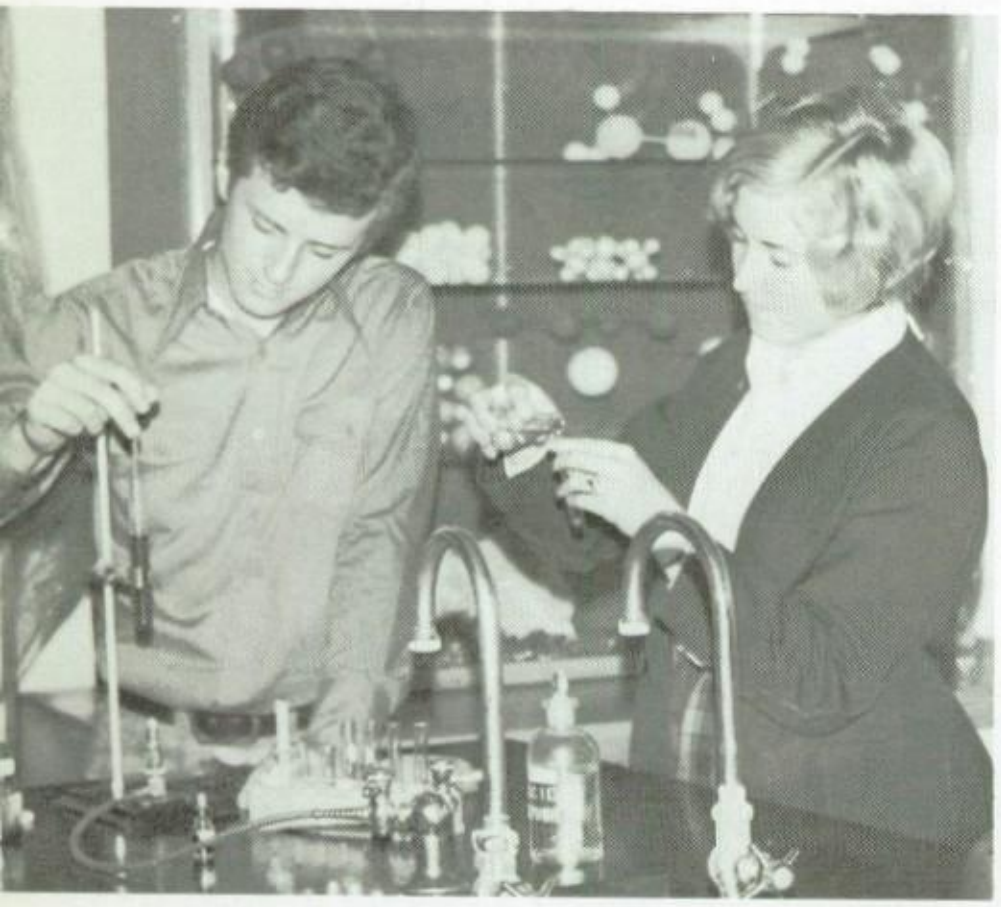
Involvement—Juniors Participate

A major part of the excitement of Junior year is the chance to participate. No longer characterized as underclassmen, Juniors take full advantage of the situation, stepping into important positions of school activities. Varsity sports and cheerleading, Pep Club and Drill Team, Mixed Chorus and Library Club; the newly activated participants enthusiastically support their school in all it's aspects. Involvement is the key word as Juniors expand in all areas with unlimited ambition and vibrant new ideas.

Through it all is the anticipation of Senior year, the climax of all high school animations. With three years of experience to their credit, the Class of '73 will accept the responsibility of leading and governing their school. Under their capbale influence, the Heelan tradition of pride and unity will continue to grow and thrive.



Chemical experiments provide a new challenge for future scientists Mike Feist and Mary Miller.

Knickers and Smiles . . ., Fads Leave Their Mark

"Reader's Digest Dictionary" defines a fad as, "Any style, amusement, fashion, or the like, which temporarily engages the attention of many people." Since teenagers are the prime participants in fads, the 71-72 school year at Heelan was not without its unusual and distinctive trends. "Smiling faces" appeared out of nowhere to find their place on notebooks, T-shirts, bulletin boards, jewelry, pep signs, and even certain lacy unmentionables.

Feet came to school colorfully clad in patriotic stars and stripes, with "flag fever" spreading everywhere from socks to motorcycle helmets.

Spectacle wearers traded in their conventional models of eyewear and donned the more modern wire-rimmed glasses.

Fads need not be restricted only to the fashion lover. New ideas in every category have caught the imagination and interest of Heelanites. For example, the novel sport of Frisbee received an enthusiastic launching at the summer band concerts. And the "Peddle Phenomenon" invaded Crusader Country as energetic students took to the bicycle for an economical means of transportation and fun. Toilet papering and other such harmless antics are forms of fads that have caught on and stayed with us to become more or less traditions.

Participation in these escapades of fun and frolic tend to give a class personality and pride. They provide for a more active student body and school unity.

Just as our parents looked back on bobby socks and ponytails, we will reflect on knickers and bibbed overalls. The things we wear and do today will find a place in the annuals of our Heelan Memories. These fads will serve as markers in our book of memorable experiences, acting to preserve the days of "patched blue jeans and ten speeds."

Senior Enthusiasm Enhances No. 1 Year

1972. . .
What a year and
what a class!
For the super Seniors the "beginning of the end"
was eventful, monumental,
utterly fantastic.
309 individuals pooled their efforts. . . to accomplish every goal, to participate in every activity, to strengthen old friendships, make
new acquaintances,
to make Senior year
the best ever.
The Dowling game.
UNITY, bustrips, meetings,
meetings, meetings,
decisions, decisions, decisions.
INVOLVEMENT, athletic events, parties,
extra-curricular activities.
PRIDE, the victory flag,
sportsmanship, the FCA.
SPIRIT, Homecoming,
banners,
balloons, assemblies
and cheers.
The Dowling game.
Caught up in a whirl
of activities,
the 12th graders became aware of growth in themselves and in the world
around them.
Life has so much to offer
and the Seniors managed to take full advantage.
"Power to the Seniors.
Power to the Seniors, right on!"

It's raining and it's Monday, but not even these two gruesome facts can dampen the high hopes of Seniors Joan Rizk, Chris Haley and Dianne Heger.

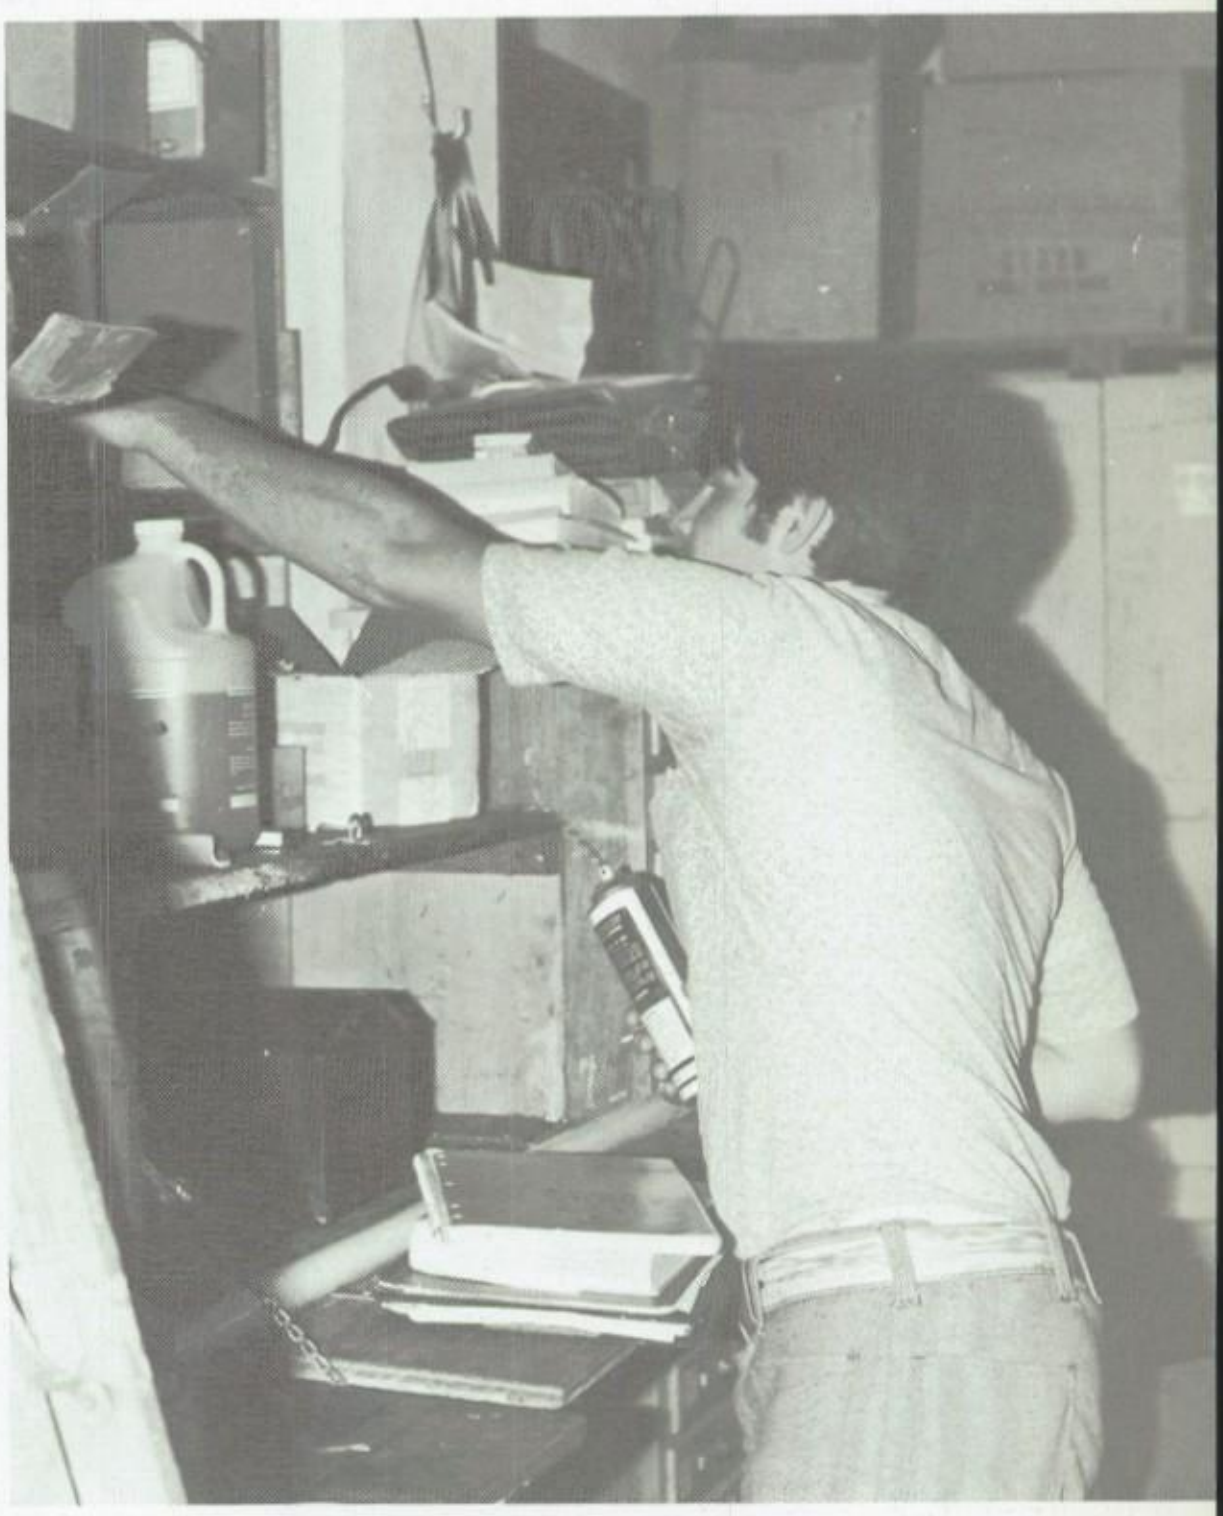
Class of '72 Proves Ambitious.



Bill Strawn was always available and ever willing to lend Herb and Keith a hand...just another example of the self-sacrificing spirit of the Seniors.

Practices, Prayers, Parties . . . Responsibility Reigns

Senior year...the glamour, the privledges, the responsibilities and the work!

The Class of 1972 knew that their time of reign was upon them and what a time it was. Have you ever stood before the entire body and declared, "We will now open this assembly with a prayer." Various individuals were noted for their repititious line, "Sorry, no jeans allowed," through the duration of each and every social. Early morning band and drill team practices found numerous enthusiasts consistently yelling, "Left, left, left, right, left." Don't forget the Publications Department where a continual chorus of "Start the presses," was heard. Room 405 was lively with the resounding echoes of, "Resolved: That the jury system should be significantly changed in the United States." Meetings of all types usually found a few disgusted individuals crying, "Sit down and be quiet." Chatter in the halls and at lunch tables ranged from, "He ran right end for the touchdown" to "Is there a party after the game?"

Responsible for the outcome of the year's events, the super Seniors strove for perfection. It is only through their efforts that such a fantastic year has been enjoyed, through their desires that the impossible has been attempted, through their cravings for success that success became a reality.

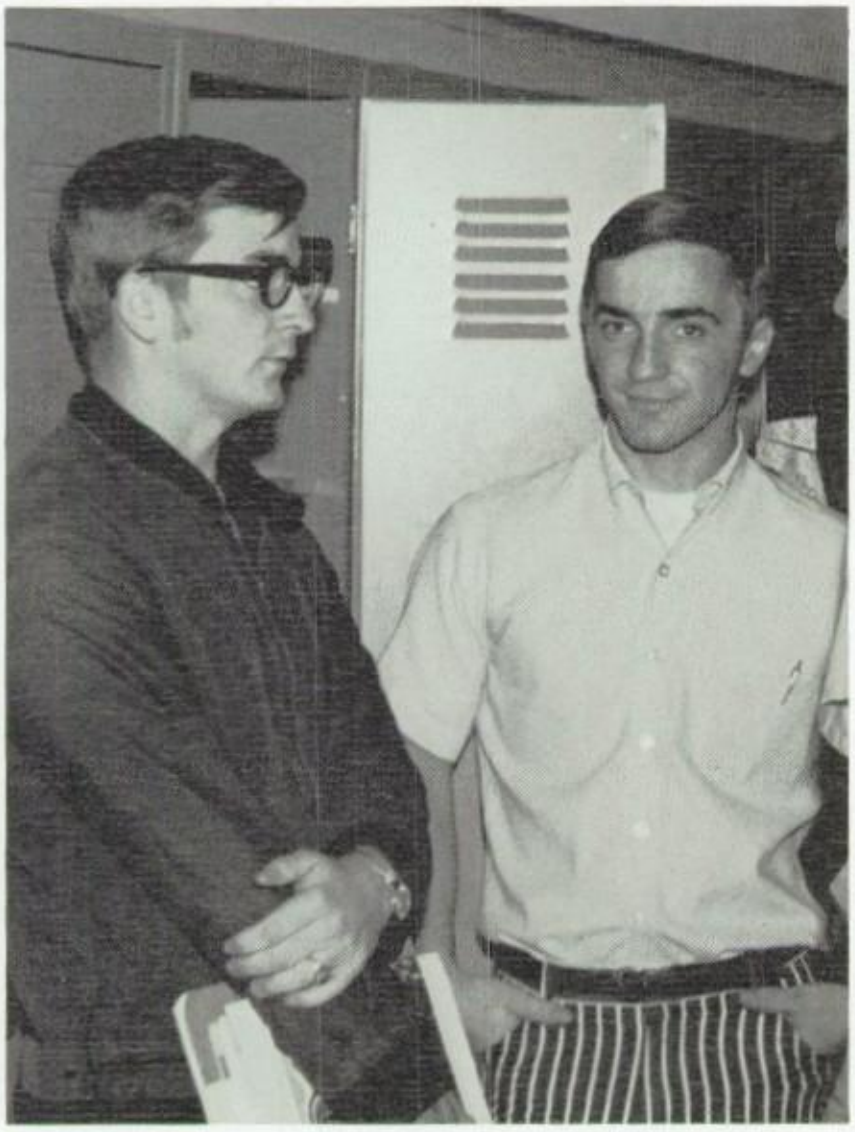
Sleepy Students Benefit From 'Open 1st'

It's 8:45 a.m. on a normal school day. But 250 Heelan students are still asleep. What can this be? A mass malfunction of alarm clocks? No, it's the Student Council orientated project of open first period study. Students who were scheduled for a period one study hall were not required to be at school until 9:12 a.m., the start of homeroom period. Initiated last year on an experimental basis for Seniors, the "first free" plan got into full swing this year with Freshmen through Seniors reaping its benefits.

Second semester marked further progress in the study hall system with the establishment of the Senior Study Lounge. Seniors were granted the privledge of having open study any period of the day. Funds to renovate Room 220 were obtained through Student Council projects while the students were also free to use the facilities offered at the CYO.

Still another "first" was accomplished as the 12th graders were allowed to leave the school building after their last class. How many lucky students were allowed to leave at 12:30 p.m.? At 1:30 p.m.?

1972! What a year! What a class! These accomplishments by the combined efforts of all Seniors are testament to Senior unification. Working together for common goals, that's what it's all about!



The Vogt brothers, Ron and Randy, discuss the advantages of free study periods.

Seniors Strive for Academic Perfection

Uncle Albert's Greg Demon, Mike Reynolds, and Steve Middleton sell "Bust Dowling" balloons to the enthusiastic crowd.

"What's the buzz? Tell me what's happening." Hey, wake up. Look around you. What do you see? Text books, notebooks, students in deep concentration, tests, projects and assignments. Senior year was one of activity and involvement both in the classroom and out.

Love, marriage and the study of man was the concern of the Sociology course, otherwise known as Religion IV. This course was one of preparation and induction for the future as the Seniors began making the decisions that will establish them in the world.

Application of text book principles to a functioning corporation. Learning by doing. That's what it's all about. Like its predecessors in high school big business, Uncle Albert Enterprises Inc. was established to help high school students understand the fundamentals of a corporation. As in previous years, Economics teacher Mr. McTaggart is advisor and instigator of this project.

Vectors, exponential and logarithmic functions, Circular functions, Elementary probability and functions. Confusing? Not if you were a budding mathematician in Mr. Hirschman's Analysis classes. Application of Algebra, Geometry and Trigonometry principles was necessary as the 12th graders were led to discover the world of mathematics through intuition, induction and analogy.

Another "first" was established as Heelan this year as Physiology found its place in the increasing number of Science courses. The aims of this course were to study the functions and activities of various parts of the human body. Brain dissection, films, and experiments highlighted the year's activities while memorization and interpretation of the fundamental principles proved "a must."

The courses were difficult but the students were willing. The challenge was offered and the Seniors met it. That's why the Class of '72 was ranked in the 89th percentile in the nation!

Dreams of Success . . . Future Plans Materialize

Amidst the bustling excitement of Senior year activities, thoughts of the future persistently prevailed. Knowing that the blanket of high school security was soon to vanish, Seniors began serious contemplation of how to achieve their personal goals in life. Like it or nor, graduation comes, and ready or not, time dawns for the first wobbly steps of independence.

"Decisions, decisions! What's for me? College, a job, the service, a trade school?" From the pandemonium of adolescence, future paths materialized. Statistics showed that approximately 60% of these "paths" included further education through college careers.

The choice of a college, however, was no cut and dried task. College bound students were presented with nearly 1500 possible choices of institutions of higher learning, ranging from small private colleges to emmense states universities, each possessing a rainbow of academic, social, and athletic offerings.

Campus visits, college representatives, and catalogues provided future collegiates with enlightening info, including topics such as ciriculum, knowledge pertaining to financial aid, and the lowdown on campus happenings.

Puzzled, bewildered students, swamped by the avalance of mail from "try us, you'll like us" institutions, attempted to seek some assurance that suicide wasn't the only answer. This "assurance" came in the persons of Father Waters and company, who, armed with their guidance department know-how, established a few straight facts in the whirlwind of choosing a college.

The first step was to determine the student's interest and ablities by checking with cerain tests and the high school record. Next on the agenda was narrowing the choices down by deciding on the size of college, costs of the college, and the desired location. After eliminating all but two or three, the students usually applies for admission to these schools and waits to see what happens. The final decision rest entirely on the shoulders of the individual himself.

Maureen Popham examines possible college and career chioces from the library of college information in room 322.

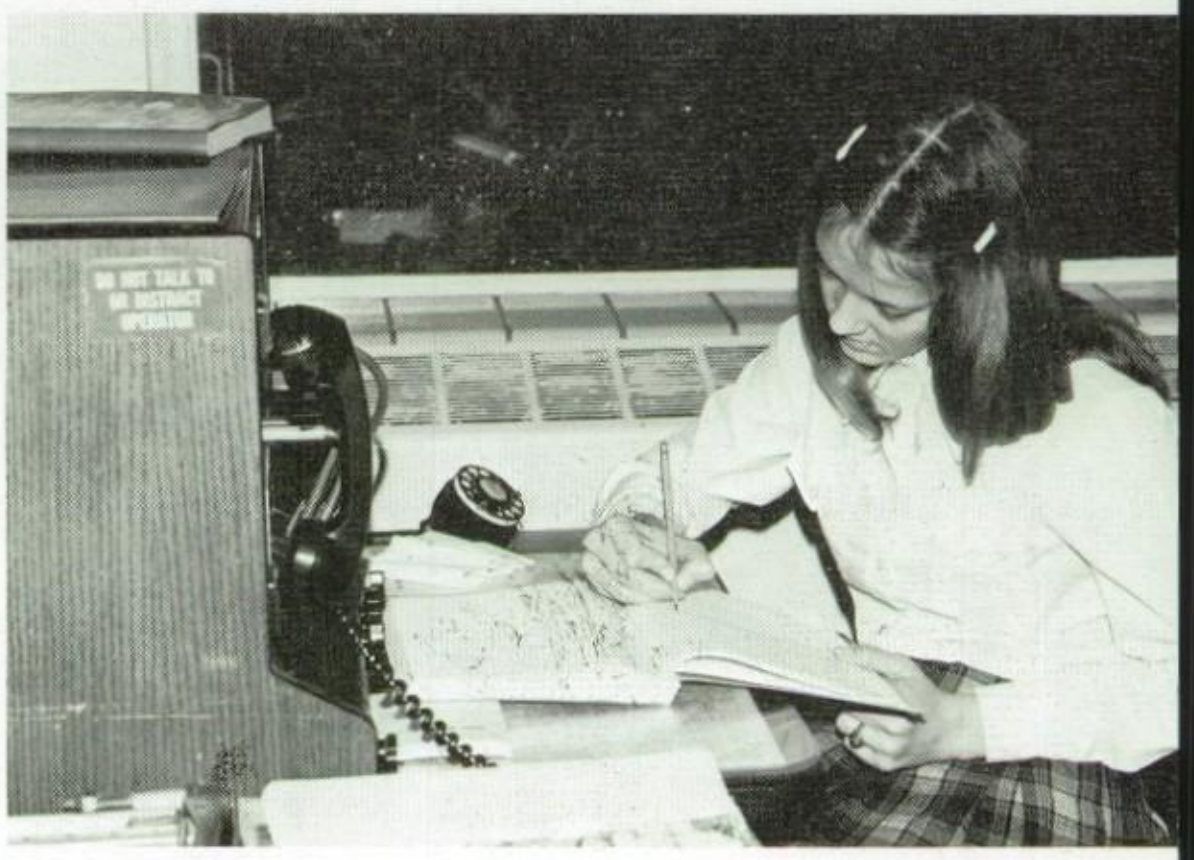
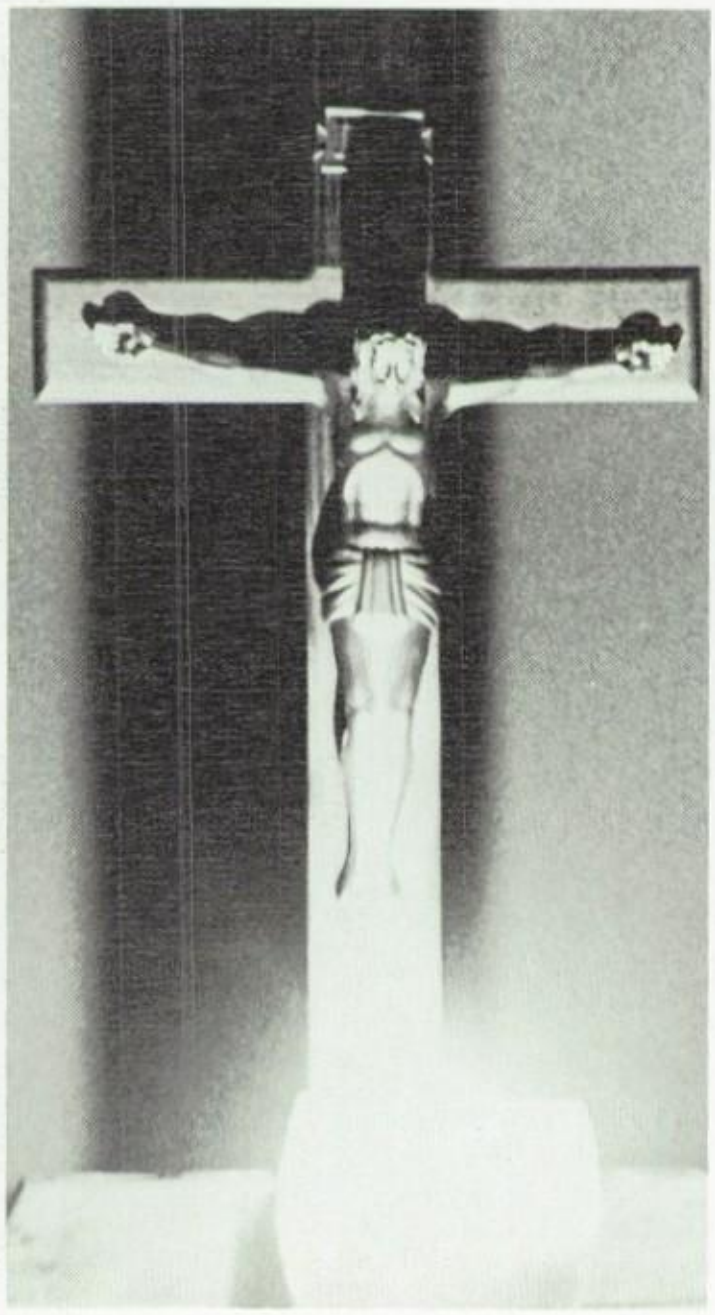
Recollections of Hot Chocolate,

Growth,
Maturity
Where has the time gone?
Four years have slipped by.
With them, inumerable experiences.
Muffled giggles,
Silent smiles,
Joyful tears, warm conversations,
Leave their impressions on our minds.
We lived,
We grew,
We became part of a unified Heelan.
We became part of unforgettable
friendships.
We won together,
We lost together,
We worked and cried and prayed
together,
Giving and taking,
Learning and sharing,
Good times with the bad
Helping one another in our struggles,
Rejoicing with each other in our triumps.
Our lives became one,
Striving for common goals,
Spirit,
Pride,
Christianity,
Love,
Yet indivualism persisted
Through personal accomplishments.
It's time to go, to grow, to leave.
We depart in body
But remain in mind,
Bound by indelible memories
to the school that was ours,
Is ours.

Long Telephone Talks, and Toboggoning



Reflections on a Year . . . Kissed by Snowflakes and Victories,



Warmed by Love, Friendship, Laughter, Secrets and Unity

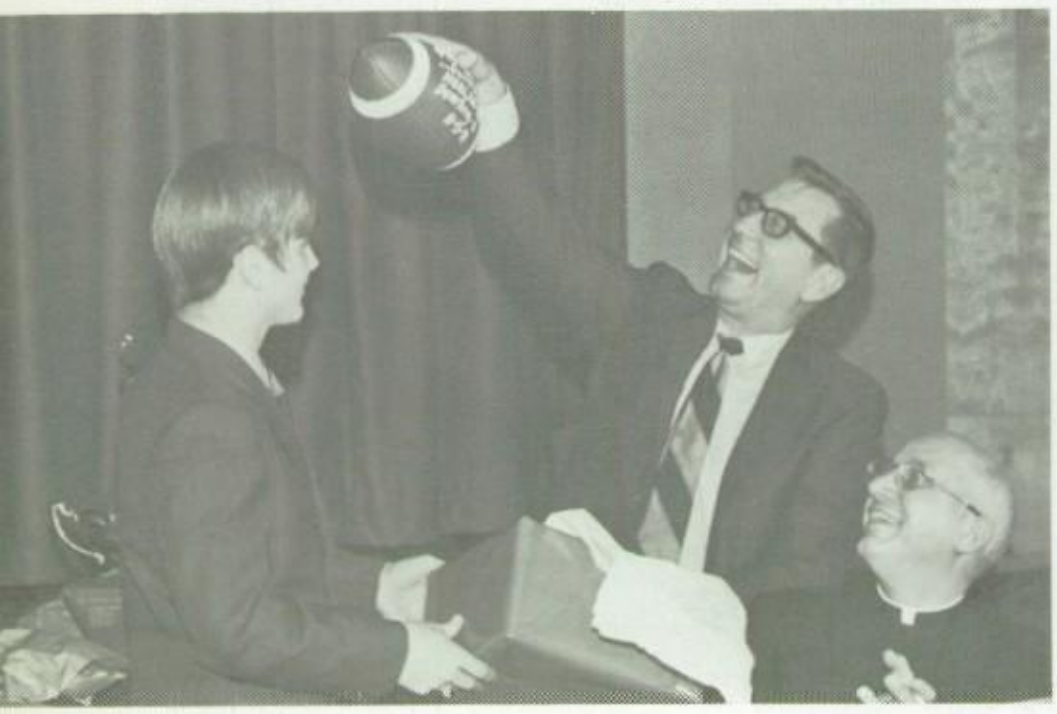
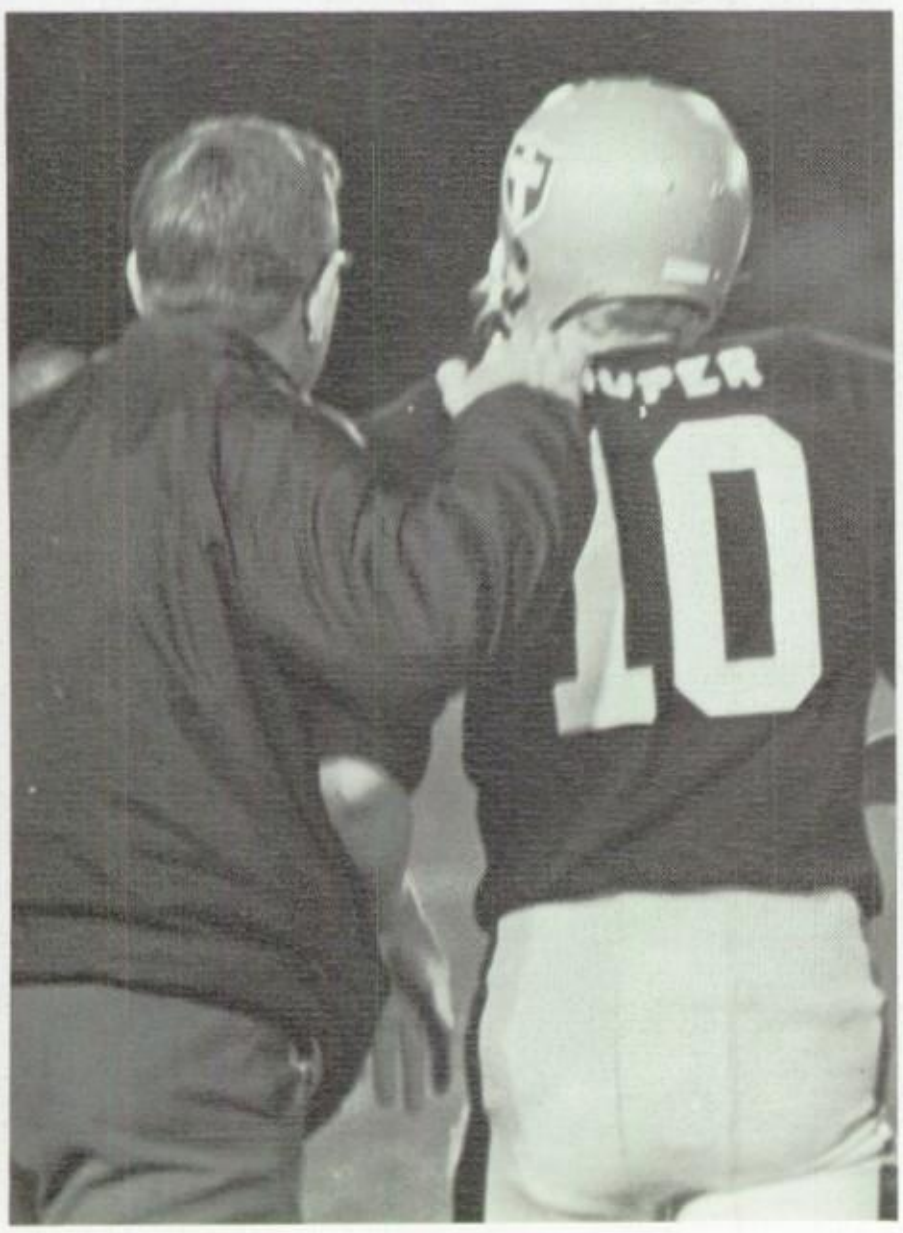
Number One Crusaders Honored at Banquet

Long deserved recognition was rendered to the outstanding football athletes at the sports banquet held November 13. 24 seniors received varsity letters with six juniors also attaining this coveted award.

The highlight of the evening occured when Gene Sherman presented the plaque honoring the state's No. 1 football team as voted by the United Press International.





Pride, Talent Display at East Showdown

Coming off of a 41-8 blasting of Council Bluff St. Alberts, the Crusaders next faced cross-town rival East in a crucial early season contest.

In a game marked by hard-nosed play the Cooperman emerged victoriously with a 22-14 decision.

As was to be the rule throughout the season, the defense held in crucial situations as they thwarted three serious threats by the Black Raiders.

Dan Sanem and Eugene Mollet played their usual role of leading the offensive attack, as between them they rushed for 200 yards.

LEFT, Sanem on an off tackle. RIGHT, Bryson, bottled up on a punt return.

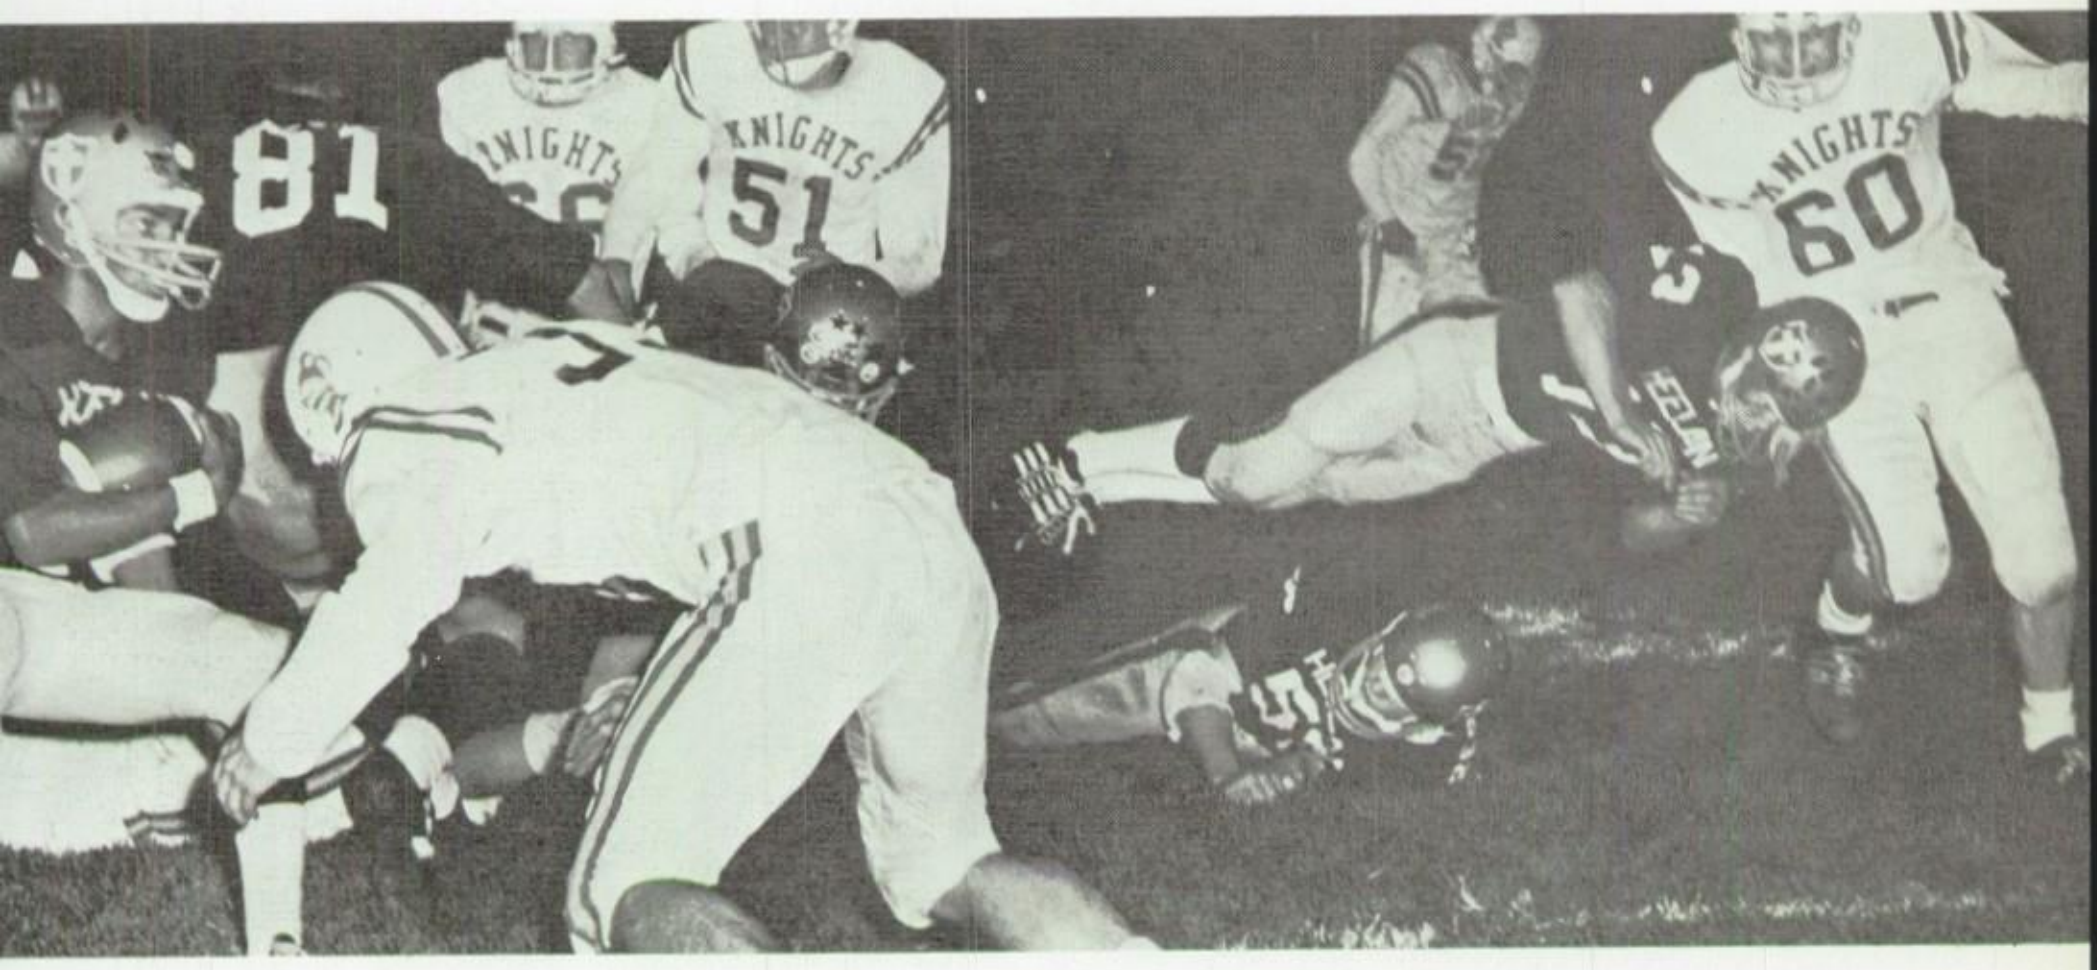
Quarterback Mike Cooper keeps the ball on the triple option and heads up field. Dan Sanem sets himself to spring Cooper with a crushing block on No. 14. Mike ran for 50 plus yds. on this play. However, it was nullified by a clipping penalty downfield.

Crusaders Pick up No. 3, In Homecoming Tilt; Kuemper Knights Are Victims



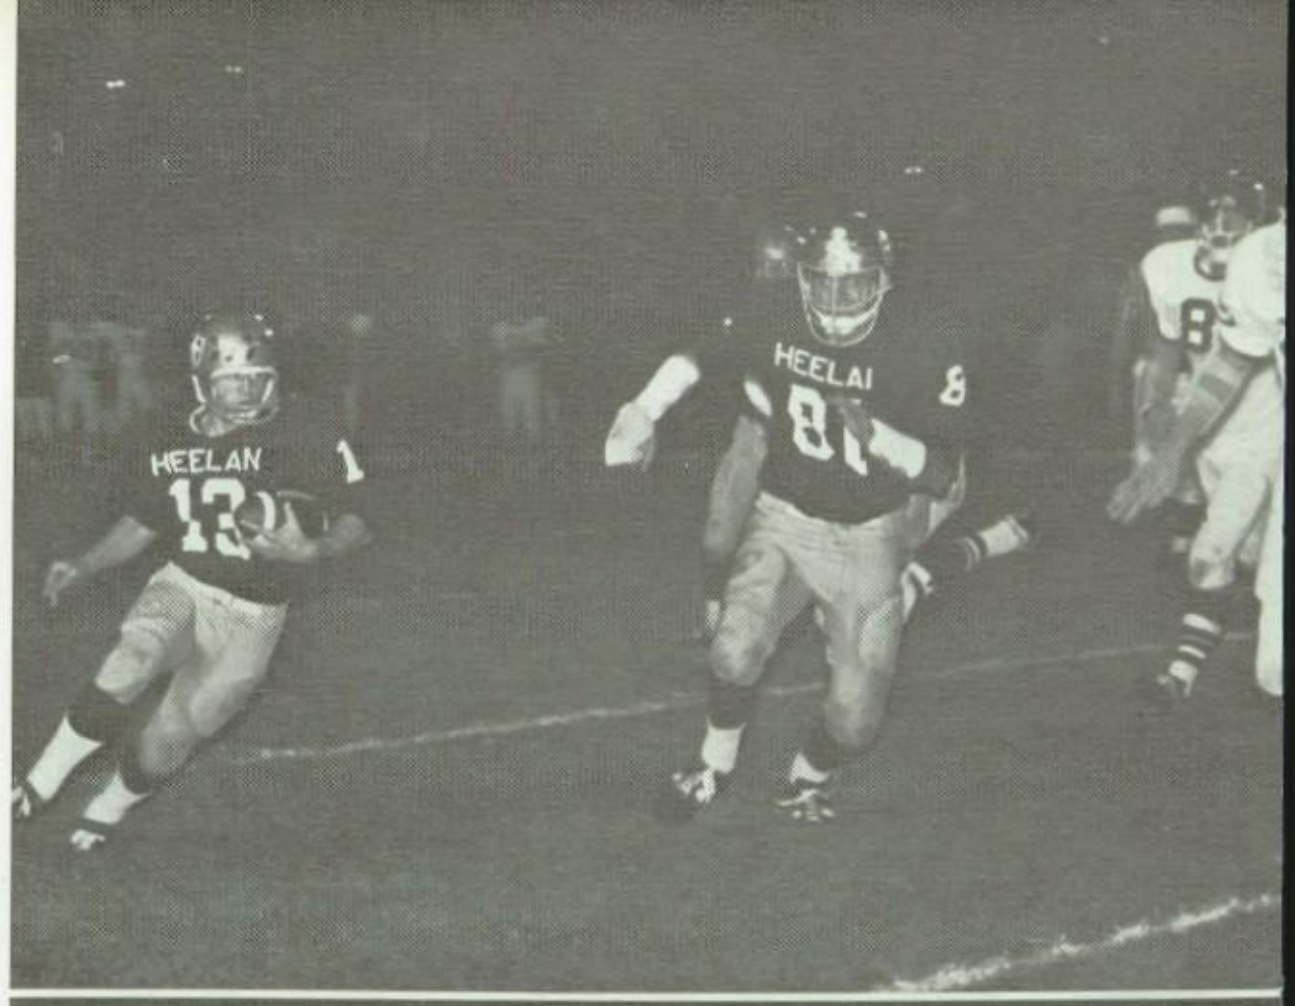
Homecoming saw the Blue and Gold Pride entertaining the Knights of Carrol Kuemper in a game where all the scoring took place in the first 24 minutes of play.

Gene Mollet drew first blood as he skirted left end for ten yards and the first tally. Mollet topped it off himself with a two point conversion., this time around right end.

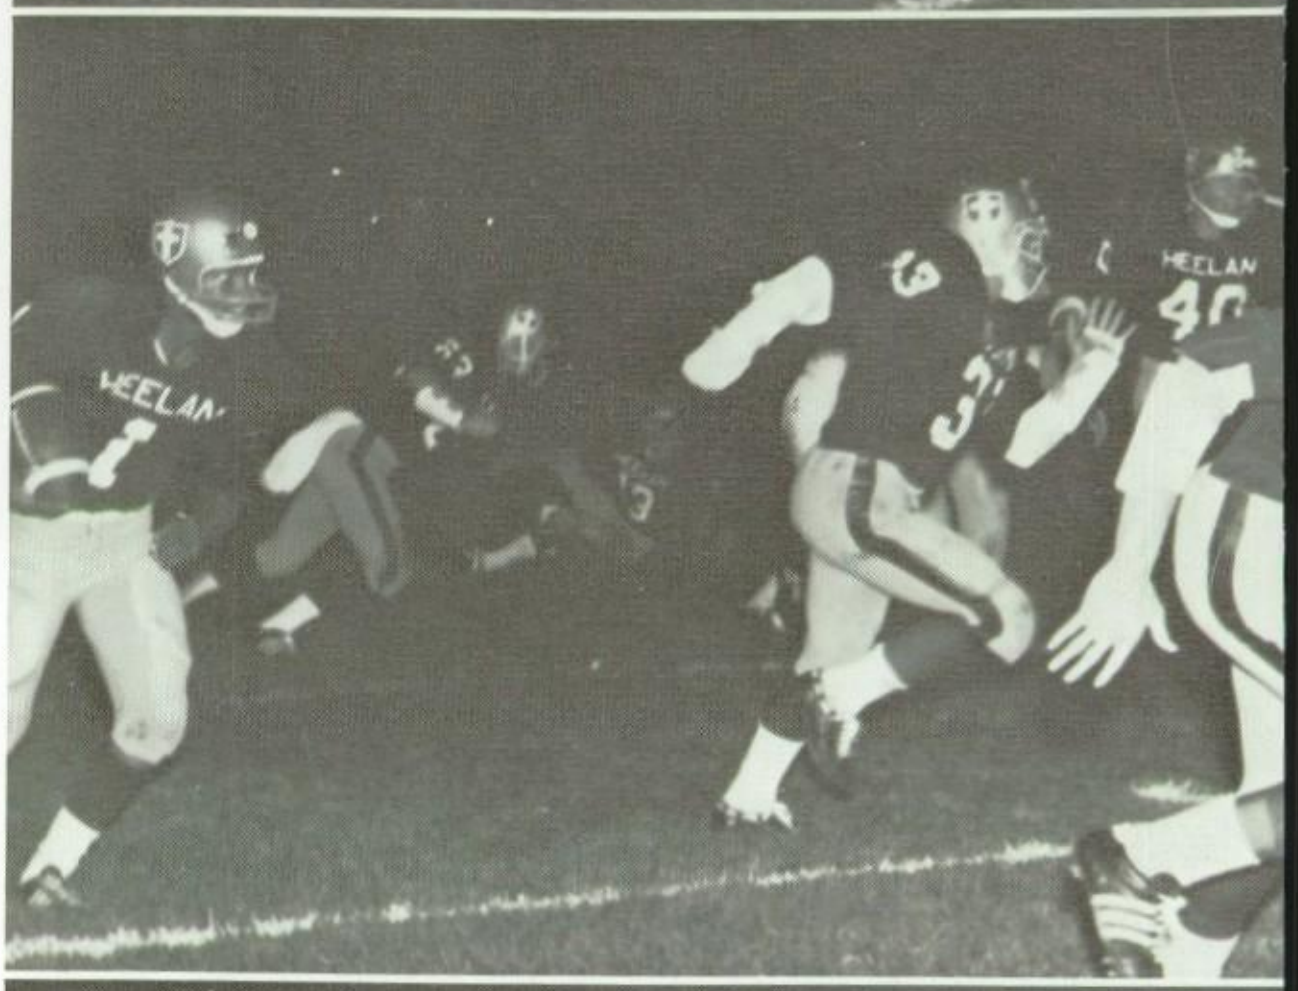
A fumble recovery by John Kennedy set up the next T.D. with Pat Beck bulling his way from two yards out. Mollet again added the conversion.

The next drive to the end zone by the Crusaders cilminated with 2:45 left in the half as Mollet sprang to pay dirt from eight yards out. Kevin Kirwan kicked the extra point which made the score 23-0.

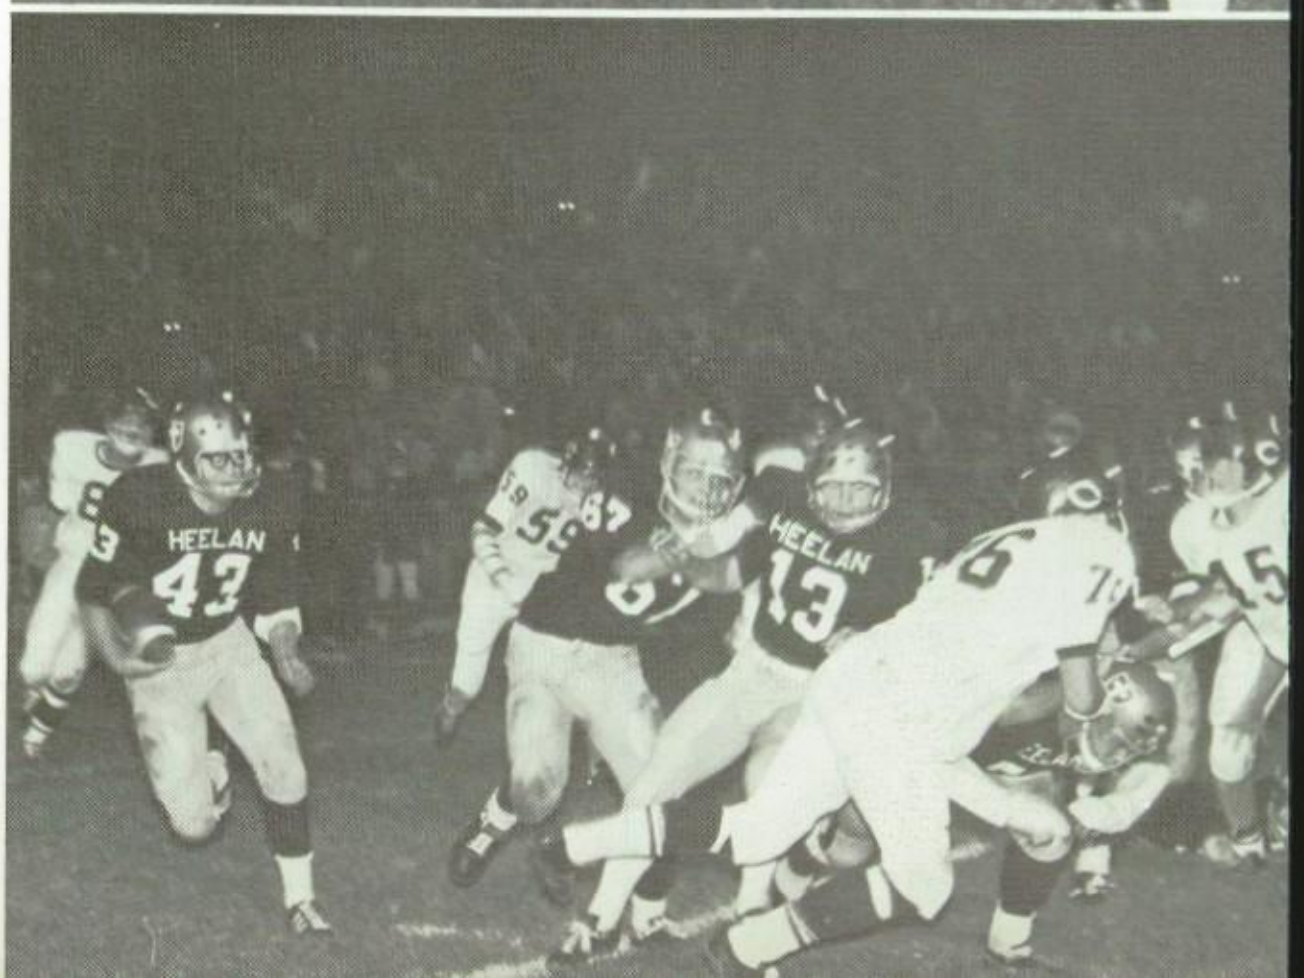
Kuemper's lone counter came with under two minutes remaining in the half as Dan Nurse threaded the needle between two Crusader defenders for six.



Picking up his blocker No. 81 Krage Feste, Eugene Mollet turns end on his way to another touchdown. 9.9 speed in the hundred Mollet leaves little to the imagination once he gets to the sidelines.



A beautiful wall comprised of No. 33 John Kennedy and No. 3 Curt Vondrak, (partially cropped) gives Harry Bryson all the room he needs as he picks up 51 yards and a touchdown.



Dan Sanem finding the tackle hole plugged cuts to the outside for a sizable gain.

Heelan Retains City Grid Title With 44-22 Victory

Coming back after a 16-14 halftime deficit, the Heelan High Crusaders needed only 79 seconds to utilize the trap play with continued success. Speedsters Gene Mollet and Dan Sanem again and again found daylight in the human jungle of maroon and white jerseys to change the score to 38-14 in favor of the Coopermen.

The final tally of the night came as Kevin Kirwan picked off a Jim Foulk aerial and returned it 72 yards.

While rushing for a monumental 421 yards, the Crusader offense furthered their own City Championship cause as the "little guys" again came up on top.

An Era Ended Another Begun

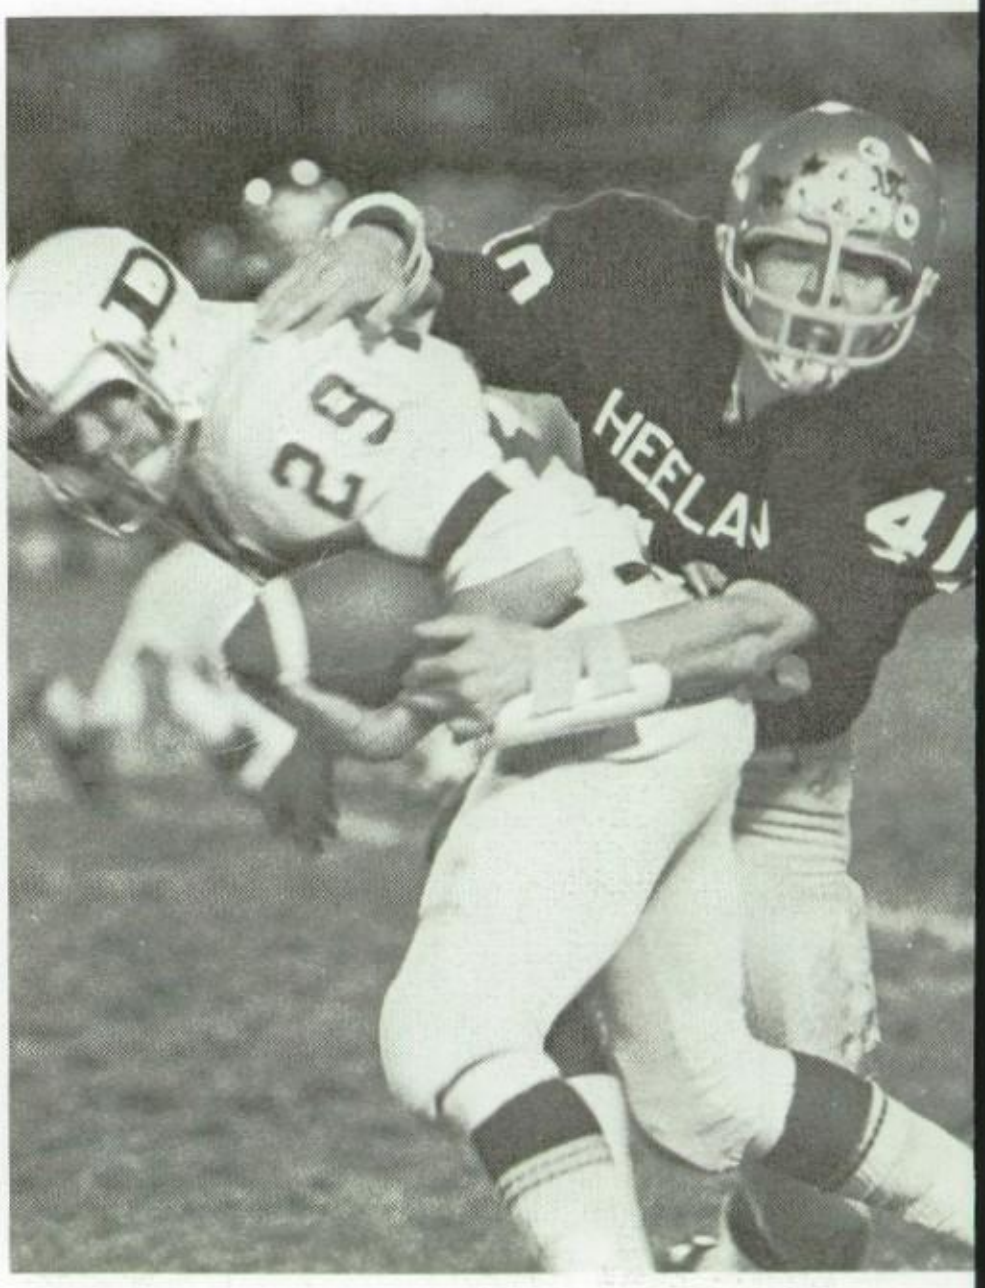
A game whose tension you could almost cut with a knife, the Crusaders of Heelan hosted the Maroons of Dowling for the Mythical State Championship.

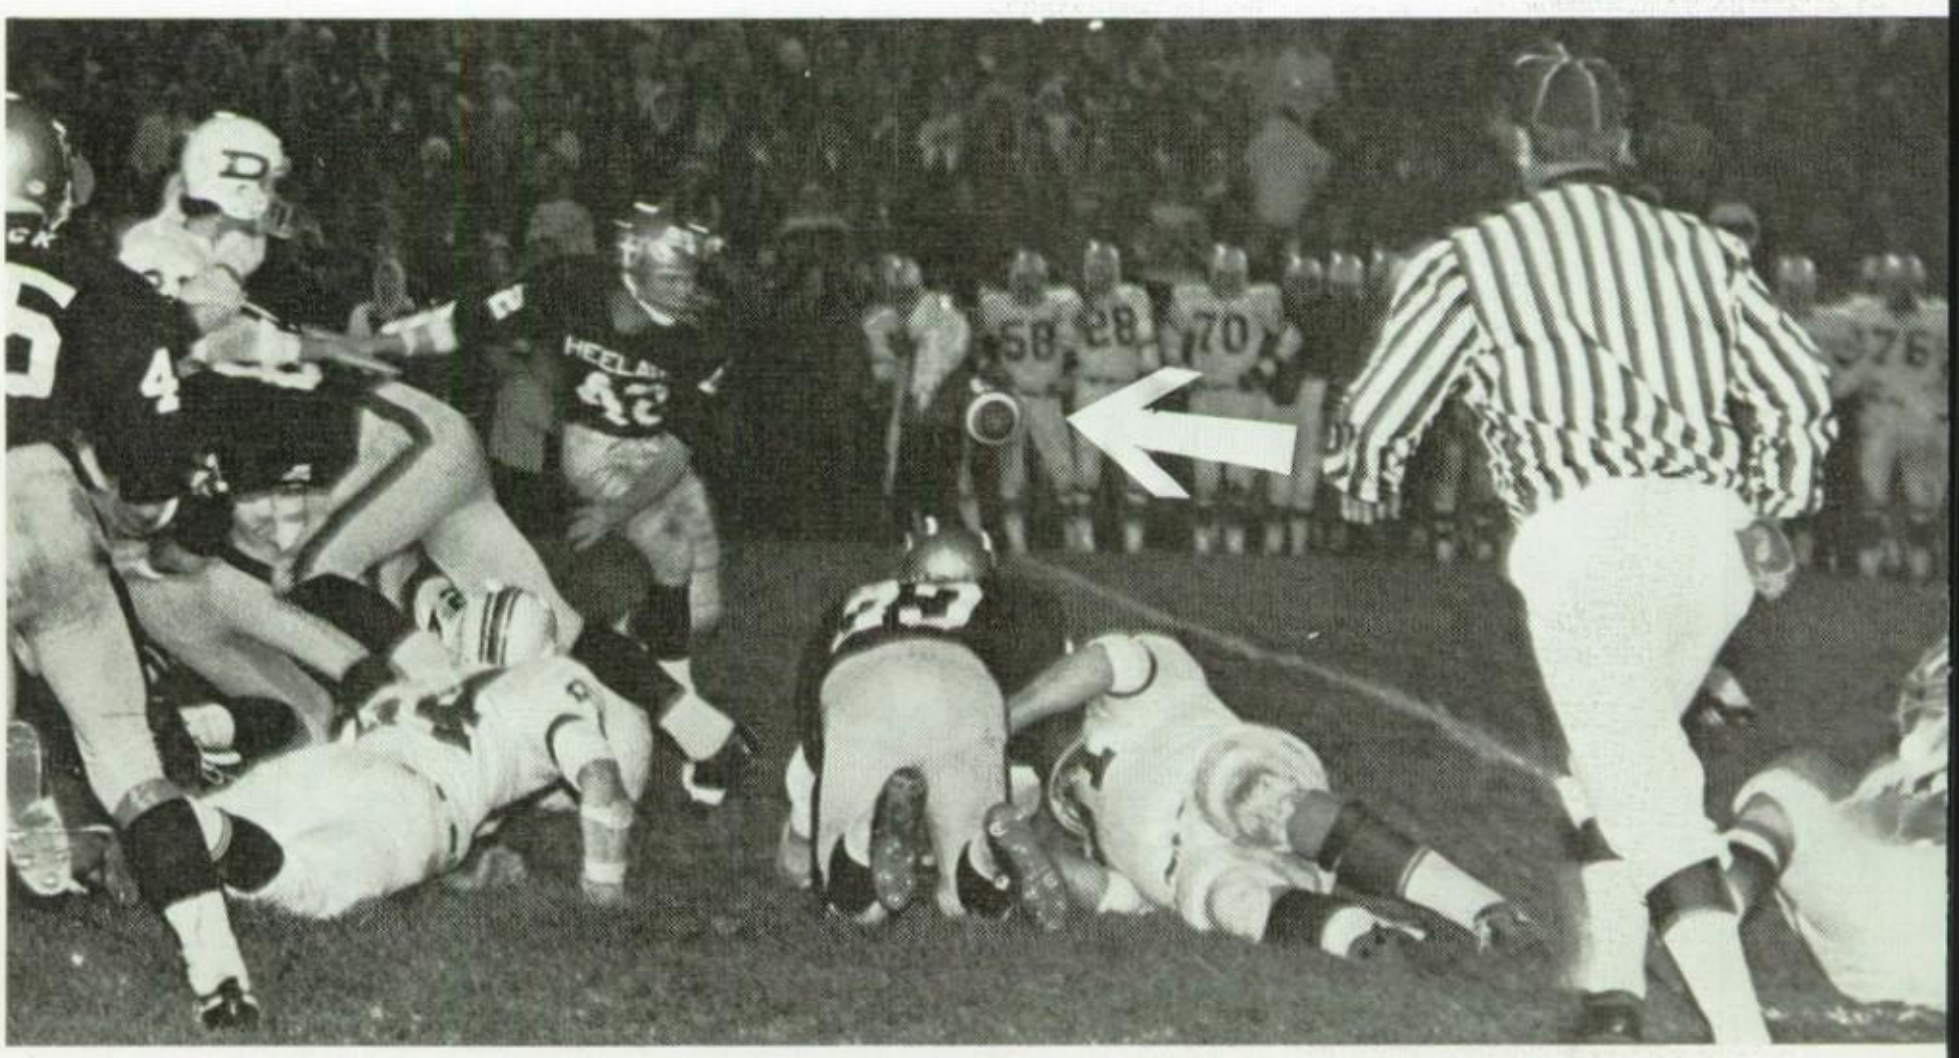
Dowling with a 47 game winning streak entered the game ranked No. 1 in the state.

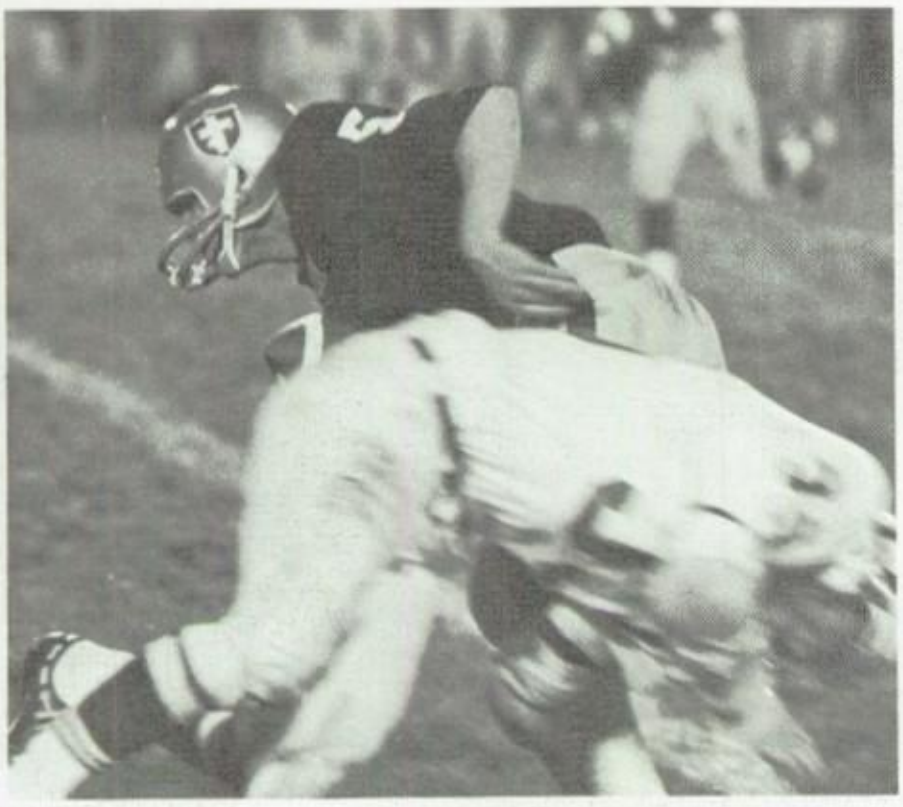
Within 48 minutes their state ranking and 47 game winning streak was crushed by a savage defensive unit that held the powerful Des Moines team to only 74 yards rushing compared to Heelan's 213.

Breakaway runs by Eugene Mollet and powerful running by Dan Sanem gave the Crusaders the vital field position they enjoyed all night.

Coupled with Mike Cooper's little heralded arm the Blue and Gold Pride of Heelan did what many eastern Iowans considered the impossible.







Determination and sheer will power coupled with true athletic talent enabled the Crusaders to defeat the Maroons of Dowling by a score of 18-6.

Fumble recoveries made the difference as Bruce Lemay and Krage Feste eagerly pounced on the loose ball and their spontaneous reactions eventually resulted in two Crusader touchdowns.

Bob Baxter picked off a Mark Williams pass and moments later Dan Sanem insured a Sioux City victory with a 24 yard run.

Tears of happiness and moments of supreme ecstasy as the Coopermen climaxed a fantastic season.

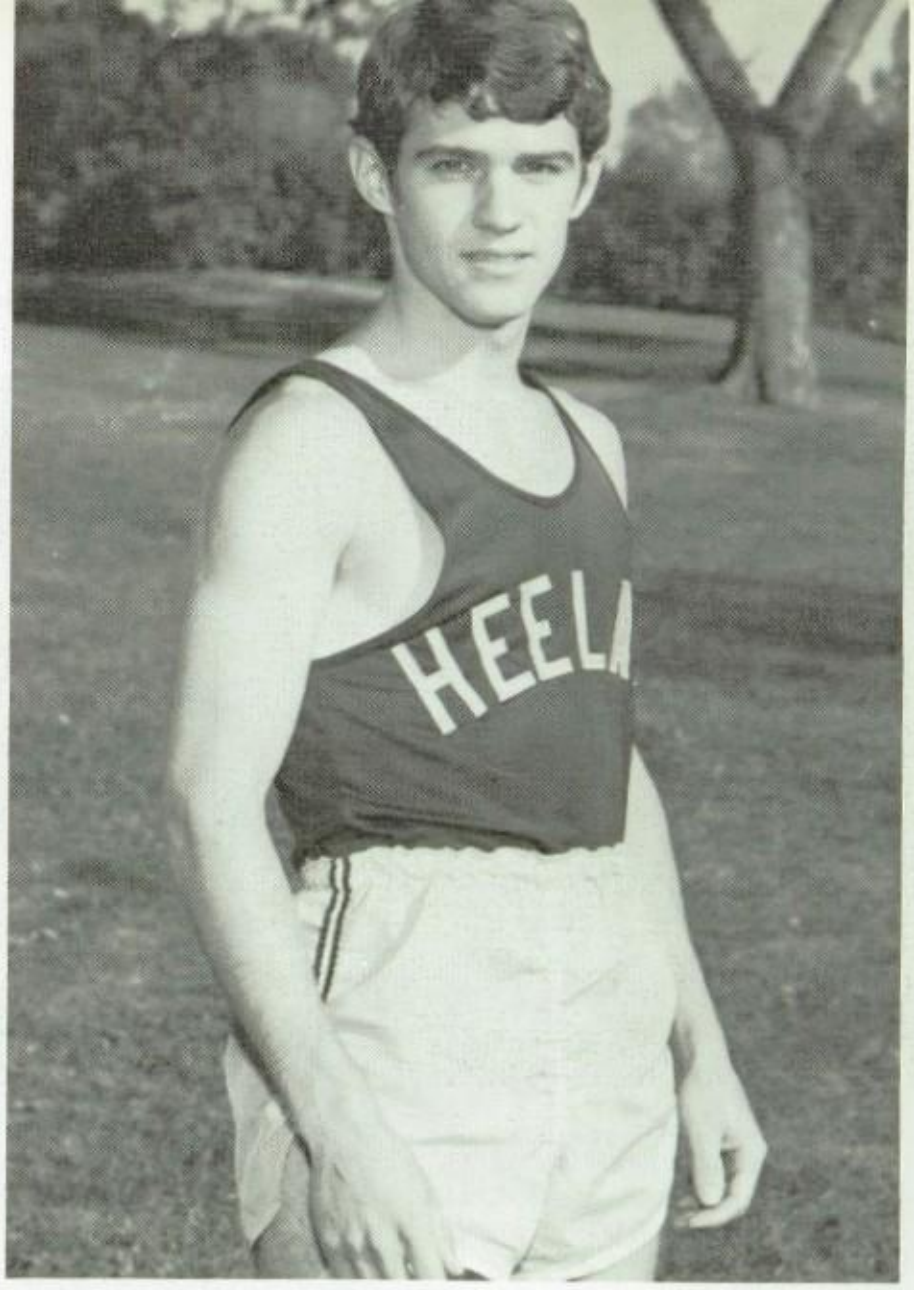
Tom Schoberg Sparks Cross Country Success



Tom Schoberg, state mile champ and 2nd in the state two mile, also finished number 1 at Sheldon, Tom Rivers Invitational, East Invitational, Central mile team race and the East mile team race. It would be difficult to enumerate all he has accomplished in his three years of varsity competition and even a more difficult task to describe his tremendous contribution to the school and his team, coupled with his character, attitude and devotion. It is only fitting that the special recognition be afforded him, the epitome of example, a true athlete.

Girls Cross Country Team Takes 10th in State

In its first year, the girls Cross Country team enjoyed phenomenal success.

A total of eight girls lettered, they were: seniors Terry Donohue, Mary Greenwell, Kathy Larson and Jane Sudbeck.

Next year's nucleus will consist of letter winners Kathy Anderson, Maureen Hanson, Jo Rago and Amy Warden.

Also expected to add depth to an outstanding squad of talented runners are Carla Fitzpatrick, Linda Henry, Roxanne Larson, Debbie O'Neil and Mary Rooney.

The Raiders went on to take the contest despite a third quarter surge which drew the Heelanites within six points. RIGHT: An intimidating Doug LaFleur puts the defensive pressure on a Central player in a home game played at the Sioux City Auditorium.

Crusaders Progress Despite Rough Going

The Heelan Crusaders started the 1971-72 season off on the right foot with a 63-47 blasting of the O'Gorman Knights. Relishing and retaining an early lead, Heelan utilized a full court defense which resulted in 35 Sioux Falls turnovers. Curt Vondrak won the scoring honors with 22 points.

Superior defense, rebounding and shooting enabled the Crusaders to roll up a 65-52 triumph over South Sioux City. The Collinsmen's second victory was the result of a balanced scoring attack led by Doug LaFleur's 17 and Don Charlson's 13 points.

Cross-rival East, backed by sharpshooters Kirk Hogan and Britt Cameron, presented the Heelanites with their first taste of defeat by a 69-49 deficit. The Morningsiders proved too strong for the Crusaders from the charity stripe as well as under the boards. Heelan's scoring attack was led by Krage Feste who meshed in 21 points.

A hot shooting Sioux Falls Washington club was the next adversary faced by the Crusaders. Never trailing in the contest, the Warriors dominated the first quarter with two buckets for every one the Sioux City team nettled. Kevin Kirwan's all-out effort in the second half resulted in five goals for the losing cause.

Motivated by a balanced scoring attack, the Sioux Falls Lincoln Patriots handed Heelan a 56-47 defeat. Senior Krage Feste surpassed all cagers with 21 points but a Crusader lull in the 1st quarter saw the Collinsmen unable to collect a goal until only two minutes were left in the frame.

Outclassed by the bigger and stronger opponents, the Crusaders suffered a 64-48 loss at the hands of the Central Little Maroons. Stone cold from the floor, the Heelanites connected on only 30.6% of their shots. A similar predicament existed under the boards where the Hilltoppers out-rebounded the Crusaders 66-39.

Determination and eagerness accompanied the Riverside Cavaliers as they proved victorious in their 64-57 conquest of the Collinsmen. Connecting on only three of 22 freethrows proved decisive and not even a fourth quarter spurt by the Crusaders could pull out the win.

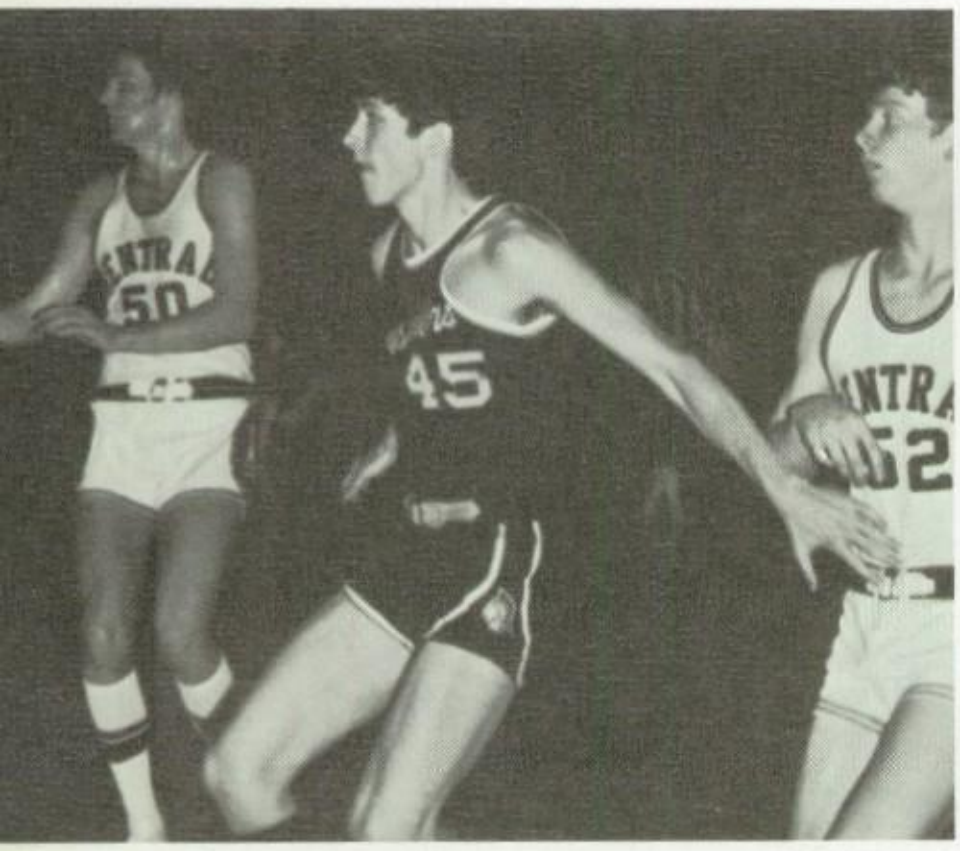
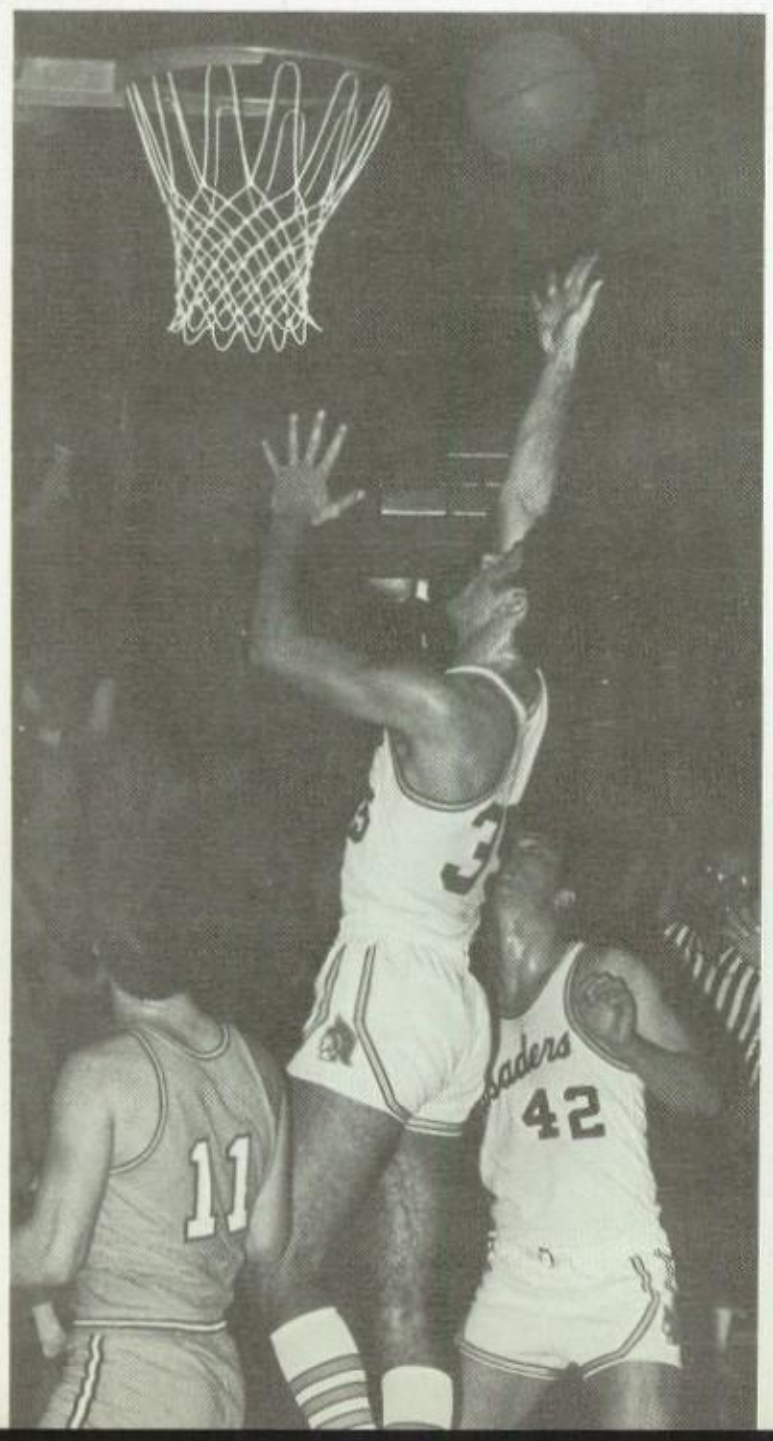
Cagers Born as Lambs; Develop as Lions



Top: Greg Ruskusy, a 6'4" transfer cager from Illinois, proved an added attraction under the boards as well as a stimulus of general "know-how." BOTTOM LEFT: Krage Feste and Don Charlson broke lose to encourage a one-on-two situation with Feste going all the way for an easy layup. BOTTOM RIGHT: The scoreboard shows 1:38 left in the game with 63-all as the cheerleaders and student body envoice a spirited "Let's Go" during the see-saw Cherokee contest.



After bowing to the East Black Raiders by the tune of 70-60, the Blue and Gold Pride fought back to snap a six game losing streak by defeating Algona Garrigan 49-41. In the opening round of the CYO Diocesan Tournament, the Sioux City team combined improved shooting and hustle to blast the Golden Bears ott their home court. Curt Vondrak, Krage Feste and Steve Winkel all chipped in 10 points to pace the Crusaders.

Heelan returned to the home maples to face a talented Cherokee squad. The game was "nip-and-tuck" all the way as the last 27 seconds of the final frame proved disastrous for the Collinsmen as they lost a 66-63 heartbreaker.

Leading at all stops, a much improved Coach Collins club went on to win its fifth consecutive Sioux City Class AA basketball championship. The Carroll Kuemper Knights were the victims of a 66-55 decision which saw the hustling Crusaders spring to new life. Mike Cooper's effective rally coupled with the successful full-court press enabled the round ball team to crush Kuemper's late challenge. Seniors Mike Cooper and Krage Feste were named to the all-tournament team.

The game started as a real barn-burner, but the final three minutes proved decisive as the Blue and Gold handed the Central Little Maroons their second defeat in 13 outings. Improved Crusader gift shooting, a balanced scoring attack and the dogging man-to-man defense enabled the Heelanties to stun the Hilltoppers off their home court by the score of 60-51.

Lightning struck twice as the Riverside Cavaliers handed the Crusaders a 2nd decision, but the Northside cagers proved as flexiable as fiberglass as they won a highly contested "rough-and-tumble" battle over Council Bluffs St. Alberts 58-53. Seemingly, football techniques were applied to the art of basketball as the game deteriorated into a fouling match. Curt Vondrak meshed 17 points to pace the Collinsmen with Mike Cooper and Krage Feste contributing 13 each.

Girls B-ball Initiated

Expansion of the girls athletic program was furthered by the establishment of interscholastic basketball competition. Coached by Mr. John Adams, the Crusaderettes introduced Heelan sport enthusiasts to the brand type of b-ball characterized by girls regulations. Previous to this, all girls basketball activities at Heelan were played and officiated in accordance with the boy's rules.

Highlighted by a single veteran, Colleen McGuire, a transfer student from Westfield of Correctionville, the starting lineup for the majority of the games consisted of guards, Patti Tritz, Karen Callaghan, and Debbie White, with Carla Fitzpatrick and Patty Murphy joining Miss McGuire in the front court. Other girls who saw considerable court action were Nancy Baudra, Roxanne Favors, and Mary Schrad.

The novice cagers got into the full swing of girls state competition by matching abilities with such formidable opponents as West Monona and Hull Western Christian. The close of their first season left the Crusaderettes with a misleading and record, and a promising future in the state athletic picture.

The Crusaderettes debuted at the first of several meetings with Akron, losing in a strong showing, 57-45. Heelan was led by the offensive play of Senior Colleen McGuire who surpassed all scorers with 35 total points.

For their second outing the Heelan girls hit the road, and, despite a strong second half comeback, lost to the Missouri Valley reserves, 46-44. Leading 21-20 at the half, the Crusaderettes found trouble containg the host's offensive drive and fell behind in the third period. A fourth quarter comeback, initiated by Colleen McGuire's scoring, fell short by 2 as the final seconds ran out.

Novice Cagers Show Determination

Losing to Sergeant Bluff-Luton in the first round of their own Holiday Tournament, the Heelan girls got their first taste of victory by defeating Akron, 56-47 in the consolation game. Colleen McGuire's buckets, backed by Carla Fitzpatrick's strong offensive play, made all the difference as the Crusaderettes came back to avenge an earlier loss to Akron.

On their next excursion, the Crusaderettes received their 'baptism of fire' into the world of stiff basketball competition as they matched forces with the undefeated Spartanettes of West Monona. The visitors showed little mercy on the inexperienced Heelanites and rolled to a first quarter advantage, 36-13. Although Miss McGuire was once again supreme in the scoring department, Freshman Carla Fitzpatrick played a key role in the fourth quarter drive which left Heelan down by only 14. The final tally read 85-71 with West Monona on top.

A taller, more experienced Hull Western team proved to be an equally tough assignment for the Heelan girls as they dropped their fifth game in regular season play, 87-55. Following that, the Crusaderettes lost two more games, one to Woodbury Central of Moville (96-65) and the other to Ocheyedean (70-57).

The girls finished their first season without a second taste of victory, falling on 12 games while winning only one. The season ended however, with a much improved Crusaderette squad.

Senior foreward Patty Murphy closed out her high school career with the highest field goal percentage, shooting 29 out of 60 for 48%. Stand out Colleen McGuire led all scorers with 450 total points and a 62% tally from the charity line. Offensively there were 194 total rebounds.

As far as defense went, Patty Tritz saw 78 total rebounds with an average of six per game. Karen Callaghan was next in line with 34 and a 2.8 game average.

Faced with a rebuilding situation, the 1971-72 Heelan wrestlers fell to the mat supported by only three returning lettermen. Bob Considine (105), Bob Baxter (132) and Mike Dunn (155) existed as the nucleus of the Archermen squad with seven Juniors securing coveted positions on the varsity team. It was the year of the wrestler as foretold by the tough competition which included such powerhouses as S.F. Washington, S.F. O'Gorman, East and West Sioux of Haywarden with the young grapplers furthered hampered by injuries and sickness.

The Crusaders wrestling season opened on a successful note as the squad took a 35-11 conquest of Vermillon. Bob Considine (105), Bob Baxter (132) and Mark Osborn (Hwt) supplied pins for the winning cause but the over-all performance of Bob Beacoming the 185 pound class earned this Junior the top wrestler of the meet award.

Pins in the final two matches proved decisive as the Archermen handed Sioux Falls Lincoln a 33-18 defeat. The Crusaders held a slim 21-18 lead going into the 185 pound match as Bob Beacom and Mark Osborn combined to give the visitors the unsurmontable lead.

A powerful Sioux Falls Washington team scored a 32-11 victory over the Sioux City grapplers. The Heelanites started strong, winning three of the first six matches and tying one, but the experienced Warriors, rated No. 1 in South Dokota, picked up valuable points in the heavier weight classes.

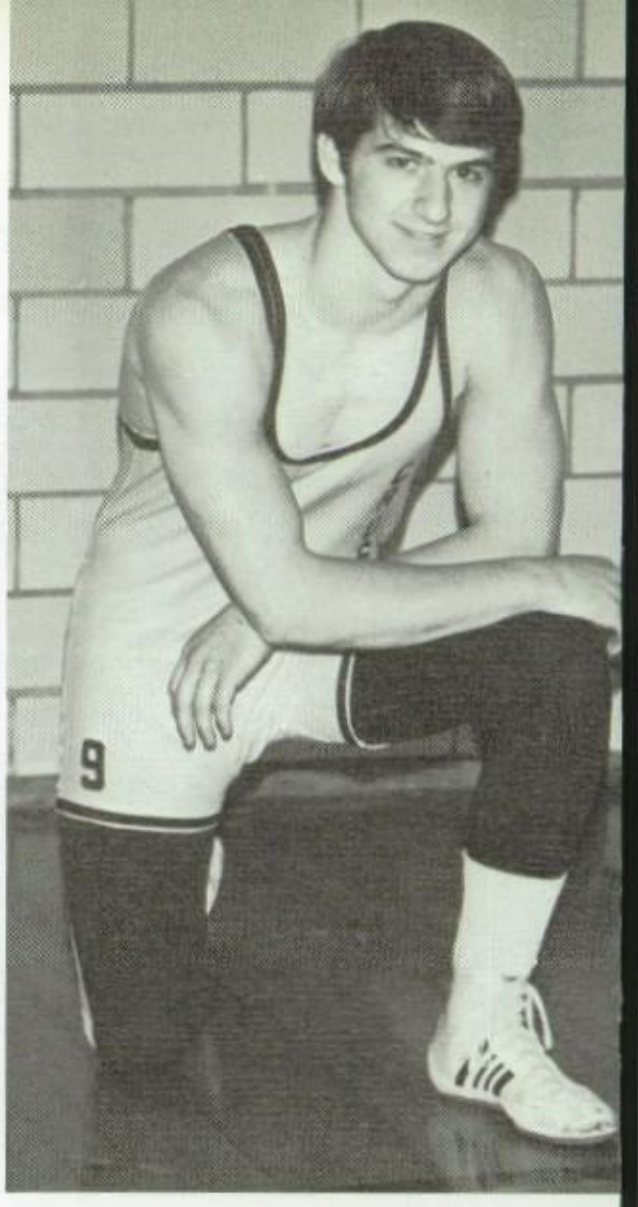
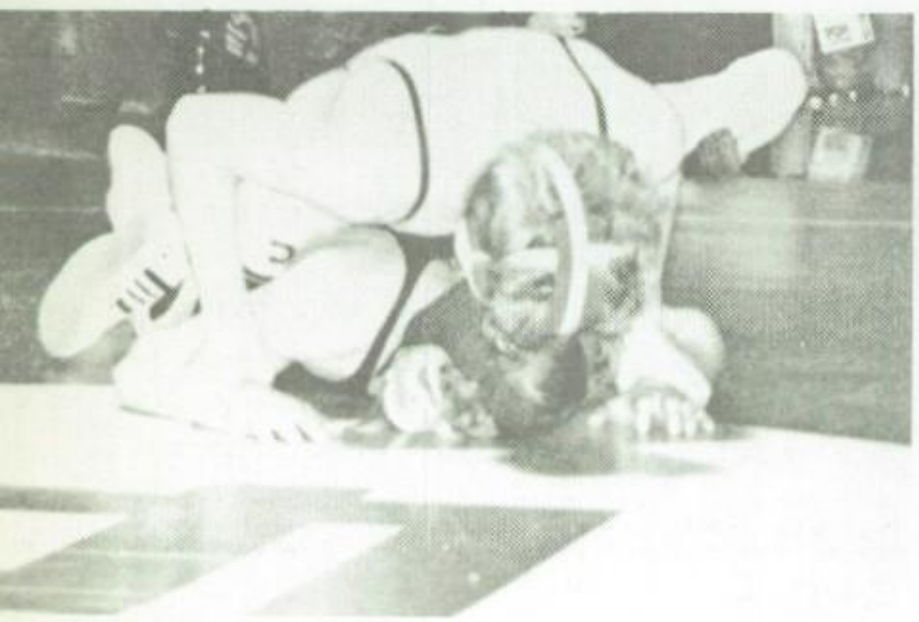
Archer's Grapplers Start Strong

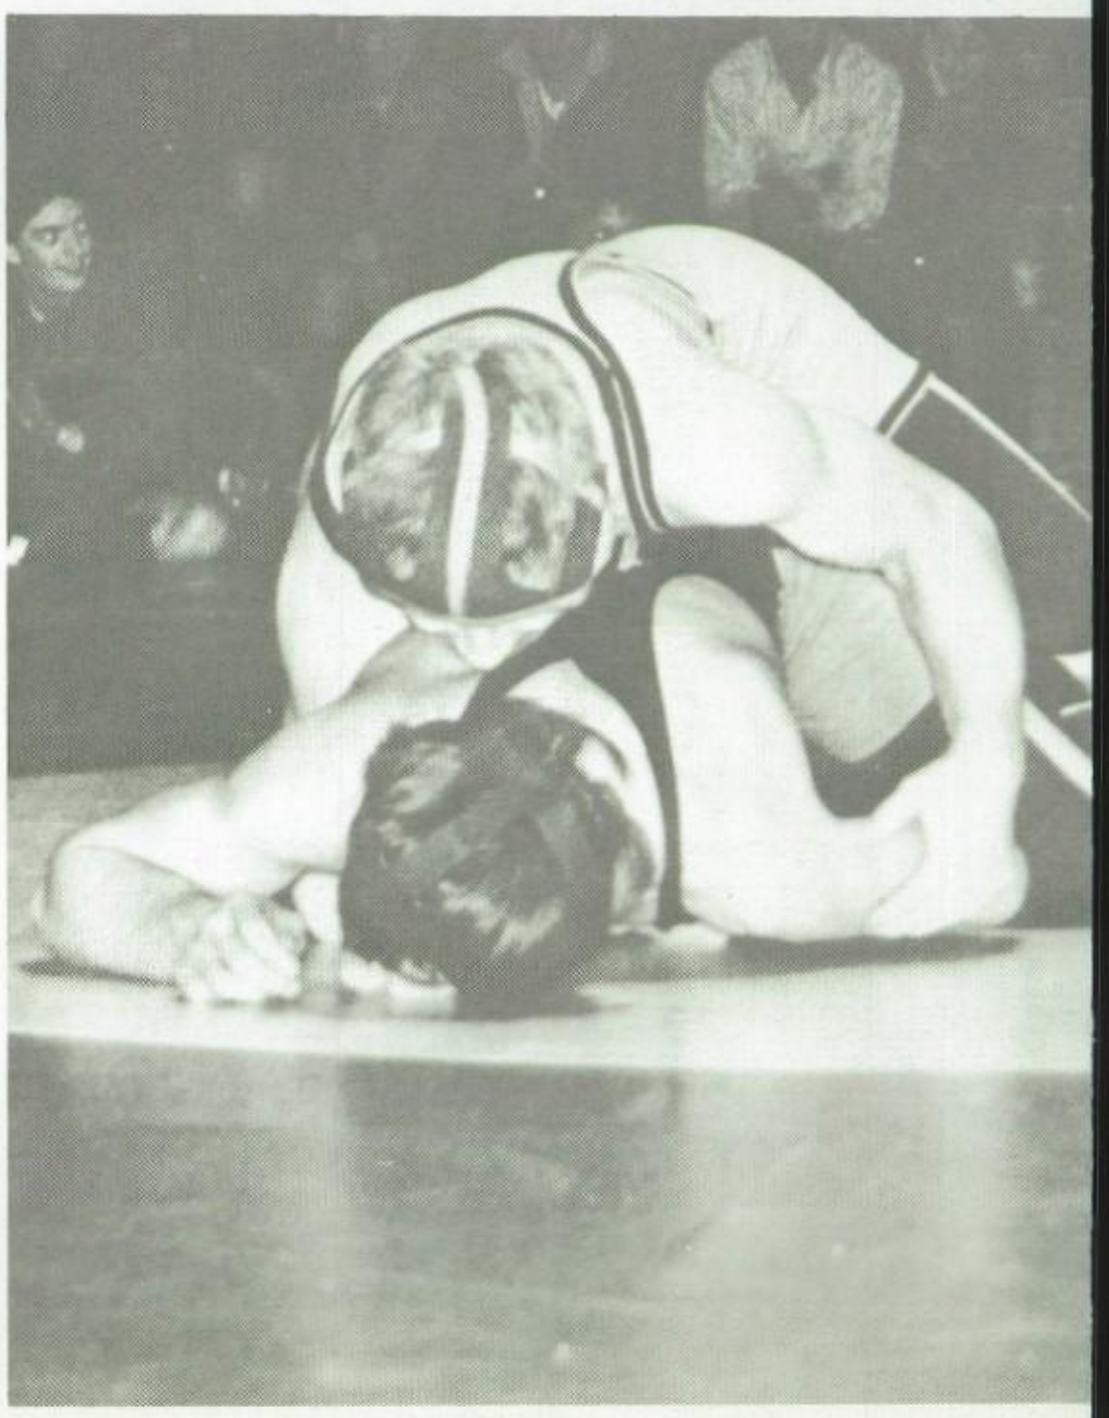
Strength in the middle weights coupled with pins by Dan Keefe (112) and Bob Baxter (132) proved insufficent as dual competition with Spencer ended in a 24-24 deadlock. A switch, a near fall and sheer determination enabled heavyweight wrestler Mark Osborn to decision his opponent as the match ended with the scoreboard showing identical figures.

Once again the Archermen's hopes were diminished as an overpowering Sioux City East team ran away with the wrestling honors to the tune of 30-12. Sophomore Dan Keefe proved monumental in his attempts to ignite an individual rally as he captures the 112 pound match a overcoming previously undefeated Dave Wagner 2-0.

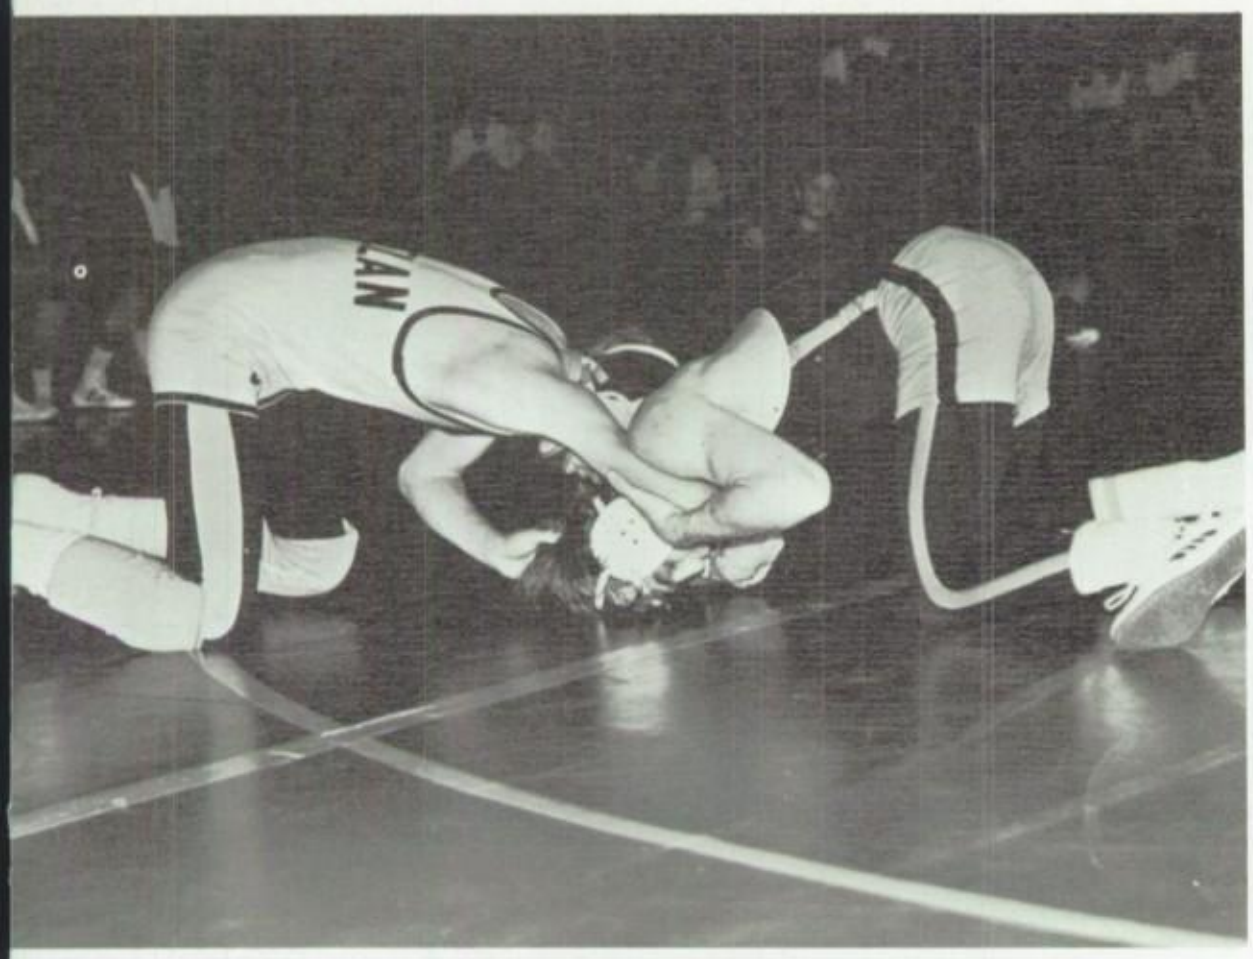
Seven triumphs, all by decisions, resulted in a Sioux City wrestling victory which saw the Crusader matmen convincingly overpower strong Missouri Valley opponents. Pins by the Big Red did even the score but the hustling Heelanites met the challenge while handing Missouri Valley its second defeat in nine outings.







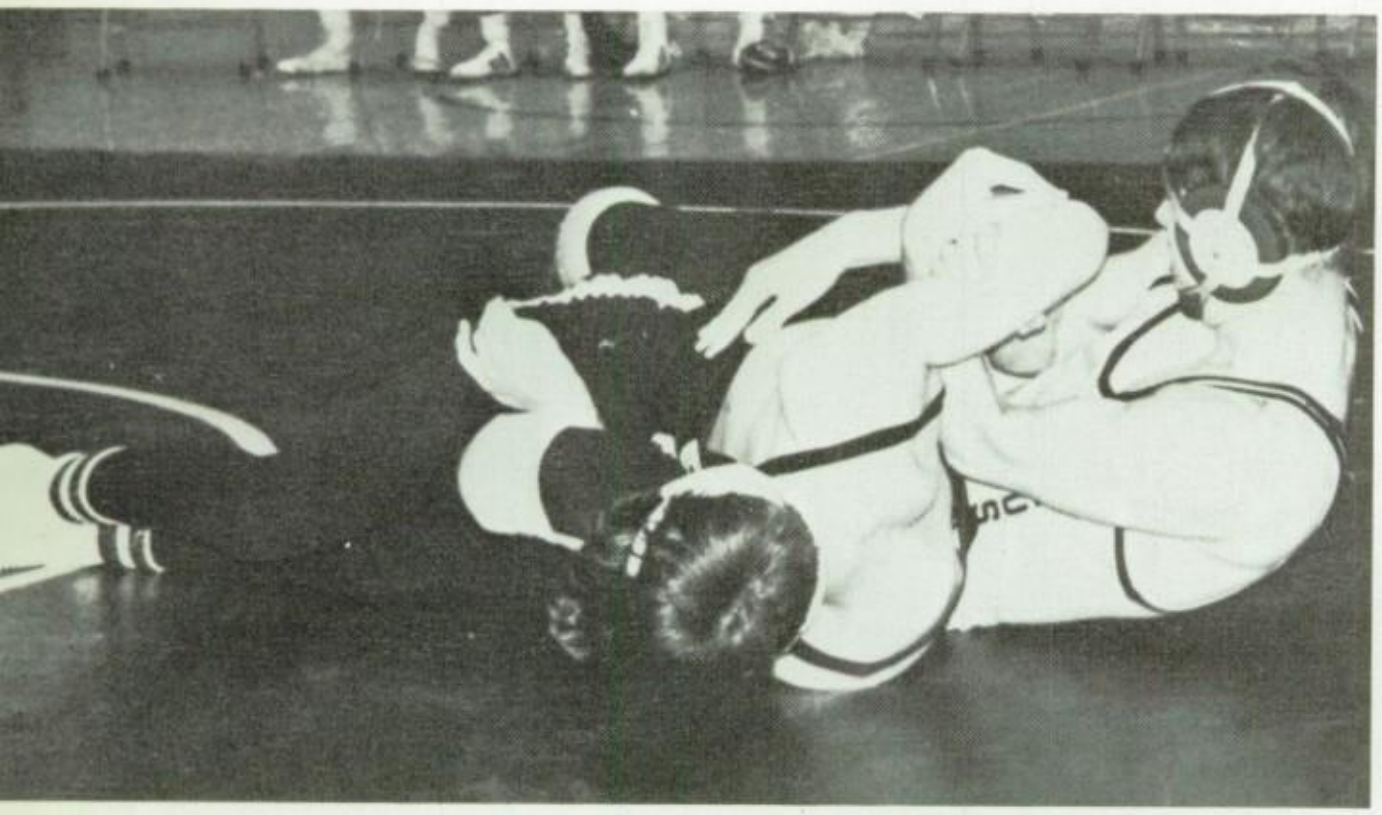
TOP: Senior Mike Dunn proved successful wrestling at 155 until he sustained disabilitating injuries. ABOVE: Dan Keefe applies a 'figure 4' to East High's Dave Wagner. RIGHT: Dave Conway posses a position of advantage over Cliff Wilcox of East. Conway was defeated in the final 7 seconds by a Wilcox reverse.



58 seconds was the time allotted for Senior Bob Baxter to register the lone fall of the night as the Crusader musclemen entertained Lemars in dual competition. A stubborn battle followed during which Heelan nabbed three decisions but the Bulldogs stormed back with wins in the final two matches to nip the Archermen 22-17.

Once again the heavier weight classes proved decisive as the West Sioux Falcons withstood the mounting pressure to trounce the Heelan matmen 25-19. Dave Conway's performance in the 138 pound class made him a 3-0 victim of Bill Boyer but this West Sioux lad came to Sioux City boasting a 17-1 record. Sophomore Dan Keefe displayed the strength and determination necessary to pin his opponent with other decisions being accomplished by Bob Considine (105), Bob Baxter (132) and Tom Malone (167).

TOP: Pat Foy and Russ Schnee battle for a take down points. MIDDLE: Wilmer Johnson attempts to counter a St. Albert take down. LEFT: Bob Baxter makes use of a 'chicken wing' on Rick Davivson of East.



After bowing as a 35-16 victim of Sioux Falls O'Gorman, the Crusaders fought back to take a 23-30 conquest of arch-rival Central. A rally in the light weight classes enabled the Heelanites to gain valuable points in five of the first seven matches, including a Wilmer Johnson pin at 126. In answer, the Little Maroons began to pour on strength to tie the score at 18-all while Bob Beacom (185) responded with a 7-0 decision over his Hilltopper opponent.

Participation in various tournaments proved beneficial as well as educational with Sioux City Heelan producing champions and high place finishers outside of regular dual competition. A 5th place finish at the Des Moines Valley Tournament saw Bob Baxter (132) and Bob Beacom (185) made it to the championship rounds of their respective weight classes both to suffer defeats. Bob Baxter then went on to the Council Bluffs Thomas Jefferson wrestling invitational to collect a championship with teammates Joe Gubbels (105) and Mike Dunn (155) earning 2nd place medals. Overall, the Crusader musclemen walked off with the 3rd place team triumph. The LeMars Invitational Wrestling Meet saw four 3rd place finishers in Wilmer Johnson, Bob Baxter, Mike Dunn and Bob Beacom.

Mighty Matmen Encounter Stiff Competition

Starting in mid-November and continuing through out January, the Heelan grapplers spent three hours daily in perfecting holds and escapes with special attention being given to each man's weaknesses as well as strengths. The long hours of practice and training that wrestling requires paid off as proper timing, knowledge and hustle was acquired.

A state-wide challenge was offered and the Archermen fell to the mat to capture three individual crowns in Bob Considine (105), Wilmer Johnson (126) and Bob Baxter (132). During this same sectional mat play, two 2nd place finishes were attributed to the efforts of Mike Dunn (155) and Tom Malone (167).

Considine's 7-4 drive proved to be the biggest upset of the night as this Junior overpowered East's Mike Benson who suffered his first loss in 21 outings.

Next on the agenda was the district wrestling tournament which saw Bob Considine and Wilmer Johnson gaining 1st round semi-finals. The 105-pound prepster went on to attain a state berth after undergoing a grueling overtime battle. A Harlan lad, Jim Brunch, was Bob's opponent as the Sioux Cityan stayed on top to benefit from a 5-2 decision.

Des Moines was the site of the 1971-1972 state wrestling tournament which saw the "cream of the crop" musclemen assemble. The odds were against the Heelan star who faced early duty pitted against Bave Cunningham of East Waterloo. Considine suffered a 3-0 loss to Cunningham who went on to become the state champion in the 105-pound division.

Our Crusader grapplers, under the direction of Head Coach Nick Archer, ended the season on a winning note. The 6-5-1 dual competition record was deceiving considering the highly rated opponents. Several outstanding wrestlers emerged including Bob Baxter in the 132-pound class. The Crusader Hall of Fame is the ultimate goal of every grappler and Baxter fulfilled this goal by totaling an amazing 20-1-1 over-all record. The wrestling season is over, only memories remain, but the name of Bob Baxter will live on forever.

Although seldom heard of by the student body, the ten pastors are involved greatly in anything and everything that has to do with Heelan.

What is known as the Pastors Board is made up of these priests, plus Fr. Elbert, and secretary Fr. Linnan. This is the main governing board of the Heelan Corporation. There is in fact no controlling power over the Pastors Board.

All of Heelan's policy must first be approved by the Board, which meets at least four times during the school year.

Such things as the hiring of teachers, the bus routes, the percentage that each parish is assessed, the boundries one must live in before entering Heelan, are all matters which are discussed and decided upon by the Board.

The raising of $300,000 for Heelan this year alone, proves the pastors' and the Pastor Board's capability, and their necessity to our school's future.

'Old' Faces, 'New' Faces Highlight 71-72 Administration

"Old" faces and "new" faces, some returning faces and some faces taking on new dimensions —all this adds up to this year's administration.

Stepping into the Main office, we are greeted by two familiar faces. In the office of Superintendent-Principal we again find Father Elbert. Father has served as administrator of Heelan since 1964 and has been on the faculty of Heelan since 1958. Moving to the office of assistant Principal we find a returning face in Father Linnan. Father has rejoined this year's administration after completing his doctorate at Boston University. Father returns to the position he held five years ago before leaving Heelan High.

Walking into 318, we are met by a different situation. The only recognizable face is that of Mr. McTaggart. But he has taken on a new dimension this year as Dean of Boys as well as teacher. Assisting Mr. McTaggart is Father Brown. Mrs. Bertrand came to Heelan the second quarter and has served in the capacity of Girls Dean.

Although some of our staff are "new" faces, and some are "old" faces, by the end of the year, all of the staff became "old" friends.

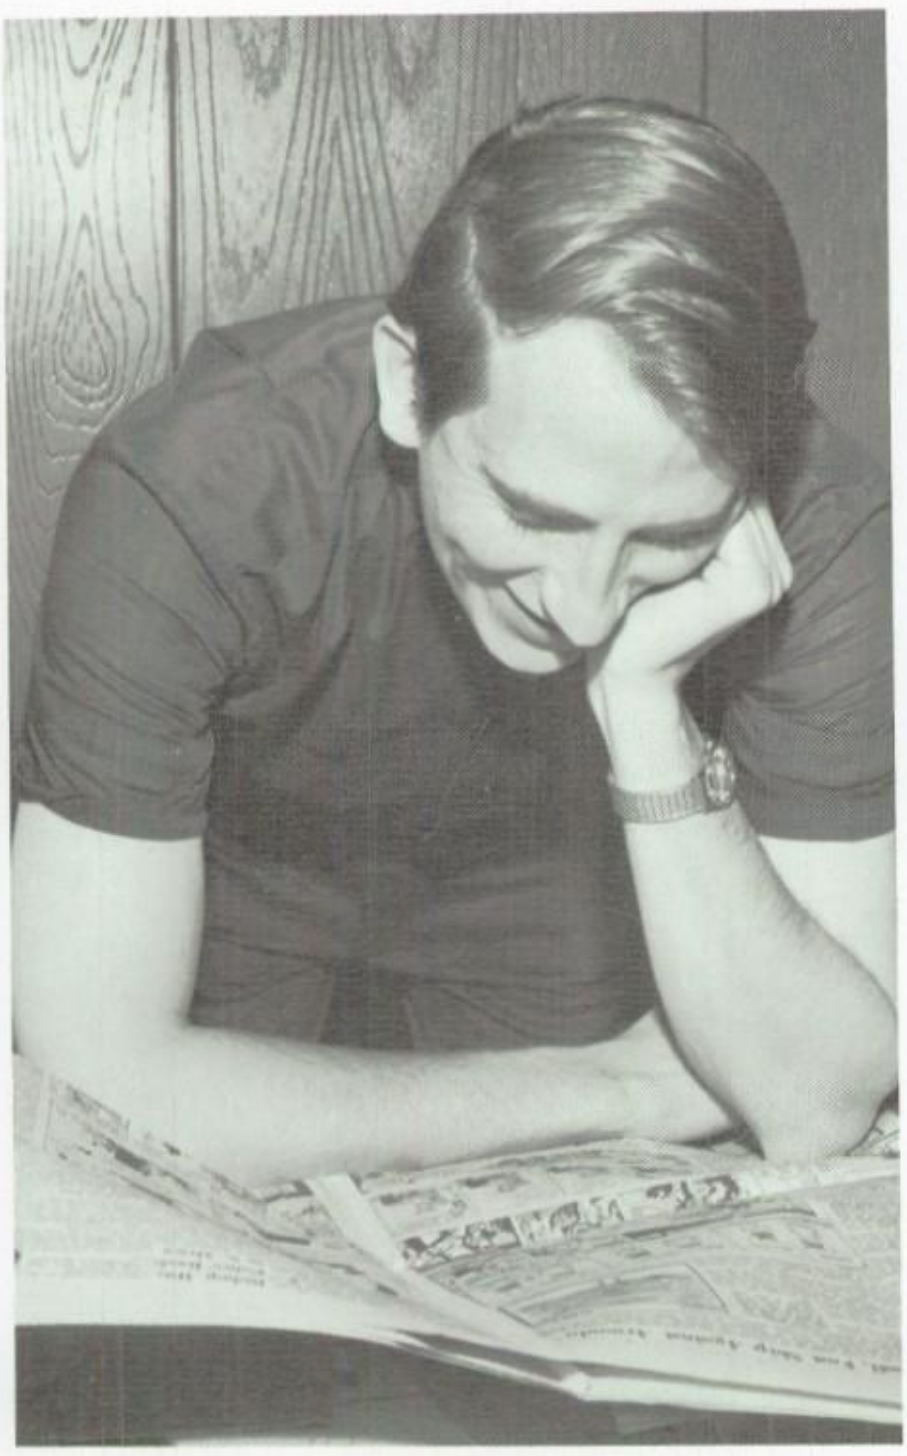
Guidance Department Stress Vocations Through College Day, Career Day



Most student fail to realize the variety of help available in the Guidance Department if they only take that initial step.

Our counseling offices are usually associated with college and vocational counseling. To help the juniors and seniors, the guidance department sponsored College Day and Career Day. College representatives are also brought in to visit with students about college. Printed materials on college or jobs are available in the guidance department.

Academic counseling is another big matter, at the counseling offices, subjects can be talked over and chosen for the following year. For those students who have a great difficulty in a certain area, remedial help can also be obtained through the guidance department.

Individual and group testing is also supervised by the guidance department. This included ITED, PSAT, and IQ tests. Besides these tests the counselors also help prepare juniors and seniors for the ACT and SAT tests.

Fr. Feierfeil seems to sum things up when he says, "To me, the Guidance Department is the most personal thing about Heelan."

Fine Arts Courses Enrich Lives of Heelan Students

One of the more talent demanding courses we have is art. The world of water colors, wood and soap carvings, and lettering are explored by the beginner student. As he advances he is introduced to oilpainting, decopages, modern art and sculpture.

One of the contributions of the Art Department is the scenery used in the musical. This includes backdrops and the main landscape.

Music is also a talent demanding subject. In this Department courses are offered such as: General Music which basicly tries to give the student some sort of music appreciation.

In Music Theory, the student is allowed to write his own music while he aquaints himself with the qualities that make up music.

The Glee Club meets simply for the purpose of singing. They, together with the Mixed Chorus, take part in the St. Ceciela Day Concert, the Christmas Cantata, and the Spring Concert. The Mixed Chorus also performs at the Homecoming Assembly, takes part in the musical, and sings at the pops Concert.

Corinth Day, Student Masses, Prove Valuable to Students Spiritually

The department most specifically concerned with our Christian Education is the Religion department.

"Our main objective," says Father Feierfiel, "is to allow the students to graduate with an understanding of what religious belief is and how to apply it in their own lives."

School Masses, penance services, days of recollection and Corinth days for the Seniors are added services of the Religion department to supplement the actual classroom program.

A faculty religious program which would involve such things as a faculty Mass is being planned for the future. Electives for Religion are also being considered, as the department tries to advance in these fast paced and changing times.

Business Courses Prepare Students to Challenge the World

Dictaphones, calculators, mimiograph machines, and typewriters are only a small part of the variety of equipment used by the commercial classes.

These courses try to familiarize the student with the basic knowledge and know-how that they'll need when applying for almost any type of a business or secraterial job.

Although these commercial classes are designed for the business minded pupil, many students take Typing I because "It's easier to type a term paper than to write one."

The technique of "learn by doing" is applied greatly in these classes so that the students might graduate with first hand experience in the various areas of commercial study.

One of the greatest and most convenient aids to study we have is our own school library. Students may come here during any of their study halls to read, check out books, do research, work on projects, and always receive a helping hand from Sr. Edith or any one of the 55 library aides.

Also a part of the library are the 12 projectionists who give their time in helping set up films for all the various teachers and classes.

The hundreds of books, the magazines, dictionaries, encyclopedias, and newspapers, all add to make the students life at Heelan a bit more pleasurable and alot easier.

Elective System Provides Change, Variety to All Divisions

Change has overcome the English department. The elective system which began last year with the Seniors has now been expanded to the Junior and Sophomore divisions.

Offering a total of 35 various courses each quarter, with subjects ranging from poetry to American novel to Shakespeare tragedies; this system has become very popular among students and teachers alike.

The purpose of the new program is to allow the students to choose and concentrate on four specific fields of literature, and study more in depth as opposed to a simple survey.

This year, more emphasis was put on writing as shown in the courses compostition and creative writing and also on drama: in American, British and Greek drama.

Practicality has also entered the English department. Subjects such as term paper and preparation for tests are offered.

In an overall view of the new English department, Sister Audrey, chairman, stated, "There is a much greater diversity of choice now, and these intensive courses by their very nature probe deeper into each area of the language arts."

Sr. Cabrini explains the proper conjugation of a spanish verb.

Verbs and adverbs, proper nouns and pronouns ... No it's not English, it is a foreign language course.

This year French and Spanish were offered. A student could take one-four years of study in either language. The first year is usually a study of the grammar of the language and sentence formation.

A further study in the language is far more interesting. Magazines written in the respective languages, guest speakers, club activities and the language lab help to make the science of foreign expression exciting and exhilarating.

With the amount of travel undertaken, another language is almost a necessity in today's knowledge-seeking, fast-paced world.

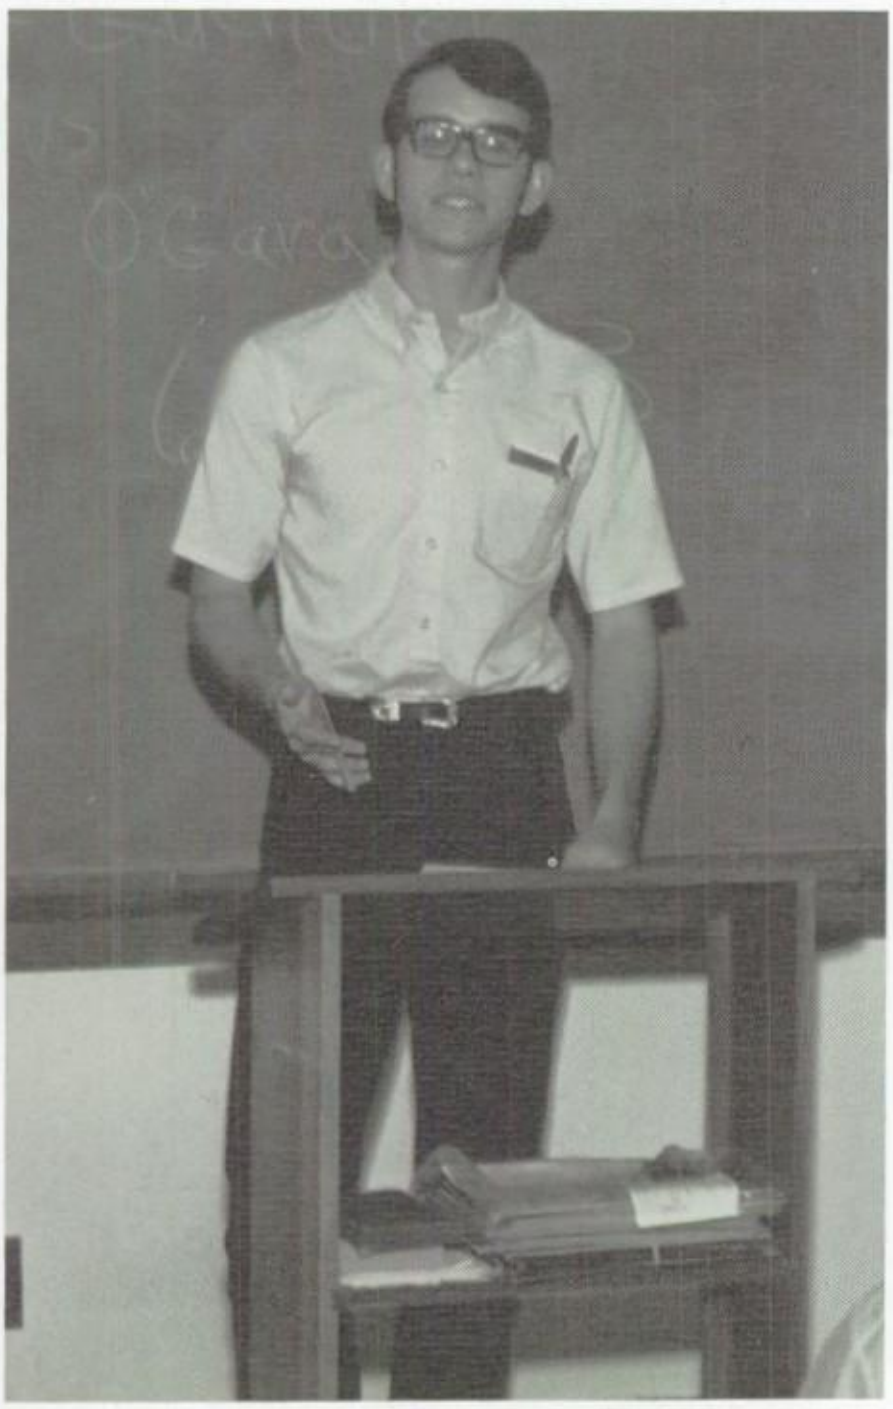
Field Trips, Speech Contests Enliven Year for Students



Fun mixes with learning through pantomining, poetry reading, improvisation and voice exercise.

These speech classes have three main purposes: to help you learn to express yourself; to help you gain poise and confidence, and to give you an appreciation of the arts.

Participation in speech contests and one-act plays are encouraged and prepared for in the classes.

The importance of the written word is not overlooked and through a year's course in Journalism I students study Mass Communication with specific stress made on the newspaper media.

Newswriting, feature writing, sports writing, advertising, headlines, page layout and photography are all part of the subject matter covered in this course.

Field trips during the school year to the JOURNAL, t-v stations, radio stations, printing companies and engravers also help in giving the student a better look into Journalism.

Mathematics is not a problem, it is a problem solver.

Mathematics, in various forms can be used in the Sciences for formulas and experiments; it can be used in the business world involving careers such as accounting and banking; in industry for research, and of course in everyday life.

Courses range from Pre Algebra, Business Math and Algebra Prep to Geometry, Introductory Analysis and Advanced Algebra.

An added feature in the math department this year is team teaching. Once a week, Mr. Hirschman, Mrs. Heelan, and Mrs. Blatchford combine their Freshman Pre-Algebra class for a team effort.

NJROTC Strives to Acquaint Boys With Naval Techniques, Procedures

This three year program is designed to prepare boys for a naval academy, or ROTC in college. However, the main objective is not recruiting.

Boys are introduced to Navigation, Naval History, Meteorology, Astronomy, first aid, and Oceanography.

Besides informing the students about the Navy, instructors try to instill in the boys, leadership, and make them more aware of their responsibilities as citizens.

For those wishing to eventually enlist in the Navy, taking this course will put them two ranks higher than anyone who has not had the course in NJROTC.

Physical Education Department Sees New Teacher, Added Activities

This year, Heelan's phase of "active education" engaged in many unusual and diversified forms of sports. Speedball, Irish Football and modern dancing, teamed with the regulars of bowling, basketball, and volleyball to make an interesting year for boys and girls alike. An enlightning experience also came in the fields of mixed classes and a special emphasis on health education.

The '71-'72 school year also marked the beginning of a teaching career for the girls' instructor, Miss Judy Conway, who joined up with Mr. Collins and Mr. Burchard to complete the physical education staff. Miss Conway, a 1971 graduate of the U. of South Dakota, did her practice teaching at Heelan in the Spring of 1971. She expresses enthusiasm for being on the staff of the high school from which she graduated.

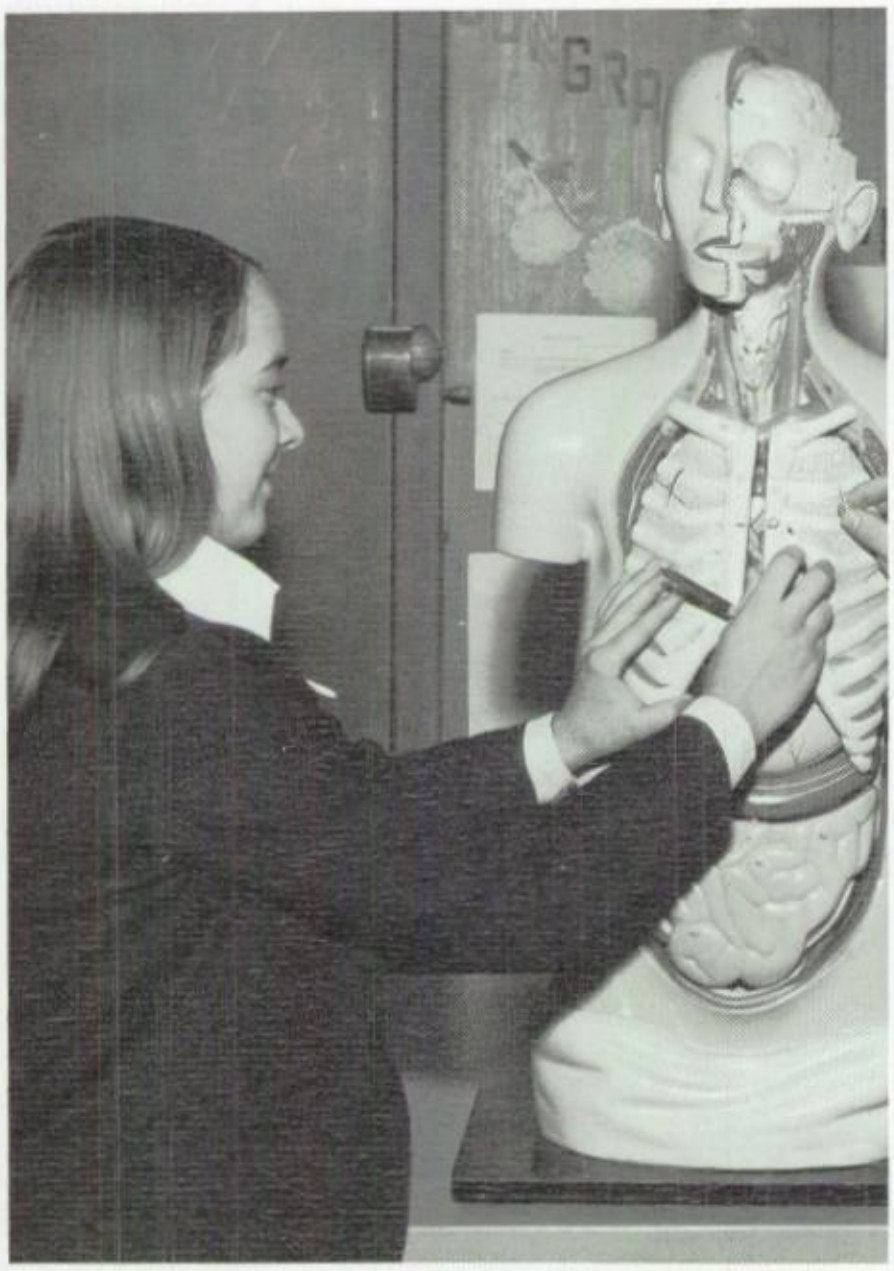
New Psychology Course Added to Highlight Science Curriculum



Lynn McCulloch studies a model of the human body as part of her physiology course.

Change is evident everywhere and our science department is no exception.

This year psychology was introduced into the cirriculum. In this course the parts of the human body, such as muscles, ligaments, are studied. This course is open only to seniors and is aimed more at the student interest in careers in health. Career guidance is also incorporated into the course in the form of guest speakers.

In her own summation of the class, Patti Burke states "This is one of the most fascinating courses I've ever taken!"

Of course the regulars of earth science, biology, chemistry, advanced biology, physics, psychology, and physical science are also offered.

Social Studies Department Concentrates on Presenting Ancient and Modern Man

This general heading covers U.S. History, World History, Econ-Government, Modern Problems, and Contemporary History.

The main objective of Modern Problems is to give the students an awareness of the needs in our society and a motivation to act upon them.

The basic goal of World History is to give students a knowledge and appreciation of the factors contributing to our culture.

U.S. History, a required course, attempts to make us aware, and hopefully make us appreciate, our American heritage.

Economics-Government, two one semester courses, have two basic aims. The first being to contrast political systems generally, with special emphasis on the American government, and second to concentrate on the interpretation and application of economic principles.

The relatively new course of Contemporary History focuses on the history that will come from today with special concentration on the problems of the black man.

Handiwork, Crafts Highlight Year in Textiles

Blouses, skirts, jumpers, capes and dresses are among the many creations made by the people involved in the textile classes.

"Our main goal," states Miss O'Shonessy, "is to familiarize the girls enough with sewing that they'll be able to sit down and sew whatever they please."

As the girls progress into Textiles II, they are mostly left open to their interests. Handiwork, such as knitting and crocheting, is encouraged at this time.

Not only do the girls sew for themselves, but they help out in alterations for the costumes in our plays and making drapes and various other play props. At times, the textile classes could be looked upon as Heelan's good will firm. Valentine's day, they make sachets for nursing homes and decorations at Christmas. Also at Christmas, toys are created for the various pediatrics departments.

The necessity and practicality of the course makes it a very popular one among the students.

There is a lifetime before us. It is up to us to shape our futures and help make the world a better place for those who will live after us. This is our obligation.

The adults in Sioux City are definitely trying to make our lives better by providing us with new sources of entertainment, such as the Riviera Twin Theatres; new accomodations, such as the Hilton Complex; new conveniences, such as the Municipal Parking Lot. Construction of three new public high schools is under way. The St. Vincent medical Complex has been completed while the St. Luke's Medical Center nears completion; plans have been made for a new Safeway store. In addition to concrete and mortar, the support of Sioux City businessmen in sponsoring the Junior Achievement Program has been remarkable.

Because of our community's united effort, we have achieved much success; we can only hope that this success will continue. We, the Shield staff, would like to sincerely thank the local business firms and friends through whose patronage the 1971-1972 Shield has been made possible.

A Reminder to Graduates

Great challenges lie ahead . . . for some, further preparation is necessary before tackling them . . . others find themselves immediately on the long road that leads to future responsibility . . . in business . . . in government . . . in civic activities. Whatever your goal—remember that it is the free enterprise system that permits your free choice of endeavor.

1971-1972 "Thanks For The Memories"

As we close the book commemorating our past year, and for many of us, our last year at Heelan, many things pass before us: unforgettable memories, maybe of just the small things, but always of the big times. The unity, spirit and pride personified by Heelan students is something unique. This has been our opportunity to care for other people, sing our own song, walk our own road, take our own falls. Heelan is what we have made it. The atmosphere has encouraged us to aspire to new goals, dream new dreams, win as many distinctions as we are capable of, develop leadership and talent. To many the Grub Day, Senior Study Center, and especially the victory over Dowling have made this a year like no other. The people encountered, the experiences shared, have made the 1971-1972 school year one completely unsurpassed.

The Shield staff wishes to thank all those who have contributed their time and effort to the publication of the 1971-1972 Shield: Miss Mary Castle — publications advisor; Vic Eaton, local American Yearbook representative; Kent Crandell of Genelli's; Jim Noble, School Pictures Incorporated; the many people at the Sioux City Journal; Joe Gantz for his assistance to our staff photographers; all of our advertisers, patrons, pastors, administrators, faculty, special staffs, parents and the students who made Heelan High School what it is.

Thanks for everything, above all, thanks for the memories!!
